BRIDGE SPAN COLLAPSE HURLS 90 WORKMEN INTO RIVER

QUEBEC HAS A NEW DISASTER

Section of Massive Bridge Falls As It is Being Hoisted to Place.

Similar Accident on Same Spot Nine Years Ago Cost 70 Lives.

Quebec, Sept. 11.—A span of the world's greatest bridge collapsed and fell into the St. Lawrence river today, with a loss of life variously estimated. The company erecting the structure, and members of the Quebec bridge commission expressed the opinion that only three persons were lost. Earlier estimates placed the number of dead at twenty-five.

Several hours after the accident happened at 10:30 o'clock, a special train into Quebec brought twenty men who had been injured.

Nine years ago a similar accident at the same spot took a toll of seventy lives.

Today ninety men were carried into the river when the 5,000 ton span being raised from pontoons in an engineering feat designed to complete the $17,000,000 cantilever suspension for transcontinental railway traffic, plunged a distance of fifteen feet into the water and sank 200 feet, perhaps never to be recovered.

Contradictory Stories Told.

Contradictory stories were told regarding the collapse. The pontoons had been removed and the span was being lifted by massive hydraulic jacks when, according to some of the spectators, the northern end of the span fell with the breaking of girders.

Frantic efforts were made to place a chain rope around the tottering structure, but with reports like shells exploding the remaining supports snapped and the span disappeared with a tremendous splash.

Some of the observers said that the structure also buckled at the center as it fell. Groups of men at work slipped off into the water and others were knocked into space by flying debris. Scores of craft containing spectators went to the rescue and their endeavors prevented a larger loss of life.

Weighs More Than 5,000 Tons.

The bridge was being constructed at a cost of $17,000,000 in order to shorten the railway journey from Hal-

URGES HOUSEWIVES TO WEIGH BREAD THEY BUY

Chicago City Department of Weights and Measures Asks Assistance.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Housewives of Chicago were today urged to weigh the bread they buy and to assist the city department of weights and measures in watching local bakers, for violations of the anti-trust laws and the ordinances against short weights. The request came from Wm. F. Clutt, in charge of this part of the departments works, who announced that he would have a corps of inspectors scattered over Chicago today to test the weights of loaves. The announcement by a leading banking concern Saturday that for several days it had been cutting down the weight of its 5 cent loaf of bread, was responsible for Mr. Culett's message to Chicago housewives, and his determination to learn for himself whether consumers were receiving what they paid for. The United States district attorney, the state's attorney and the Chicago city council already have started investigations into the bakery situation.

GIFF PINCHOT TELLS WHY HE'S FOR HUGHES

New York, Sept. 11.—Gifford Pinchot, prominently identified with the progressive party, today made public a statement in which he made known his intention of supporting Charles E. Hughes, the republican nominee for president.

Mr. Pinchot prefaces his statement by saying that he is neither a democrat nor a republican, but a progressive and that in view of the fact that there is no candidate by the progressives for president he must choose either the democratic or republican nominee.

"As a progressive I believe in nationalism," says the statement. "So does Hughes. I am certain that under Hughes the progressive policies will fare better than under Wilson and that the safety, honor and welfare of the country will be

BORDER PATROL PLAN IS FIRST TAKEN UP

Joint Commission at New London Has Resumed Its Labors.

New London, Conn., Sept. 11.—The American-Mexican joint commission resumed today its effort to finda solution for the problems along the international boundary. This was the third joint discussion. Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican delegation, presided.

Since their meetings three days ago, the American members have devoted much time to a study of government reports of various phases of the border problem. They entered the meeting today prepared to go into a detailed examination of the various plans for border patrol that have been suggested. Before the meeting began Secretary Lane expressed confidence that a constructed plan of action would soon take definite shape.

So far there has been othing more than general mention of the Mexican request that General Pershing's forces be withdrawn from Mexico. The basis of the plans for policing the line that have been talked over, however, is the return of the --merican troops to their own territory, ensuring that movement as the first step toward establishing a permanent system of protection against border bandits.

FINDS RAILROAD CREW NEGLIGENT

Coroner McArdle Returns Verdict in Death of Andrew Moyer.

Coroner J. E. McArdle in his verdict in the death of Andrew Moyer, air brake inspector for the Pennsylvania company, who came to his death over a month ago, states that he finds that the switching crew was negligent.

His verdict reads: "Andrew Moyer came to his death as a result of injuries received by being crushed between two freight cars of a G. R. & I. railroad train in the Pennsylvania company's yards at Fort Wayne, Ind. I further find that said accident was caused by a Pennsylvania switching crew negligently allowing fourteen empty cars to run down an incline and bump the rear end of said G. R. & I. railroad train; that said switching crew failed to ascertain whether or not there were any employes at work around said G. R. & I. railroad train and took no steps toward protecting the rear end of said train."

Other Cases.

The coroner has also finished the inquest of the death of Louis J. Feist. He finds that Louis J. Feist came to his death as the result of injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by an interurban car on the Fort Wayne and Northwestern Traction company's lines near Stop 12, on September 3.

All the witnesses in the case of Ralph Stoll, who died of injuries received in an automobile smash on the Bluffton road have been examined with the exception of Joseph Granney, the man who was driving the auto. The coroner will be able to return a verdict in a few days.

SEEKING ORIGIN OF THREE STRANGE FIRES

Two Straw Stacks and Roumanian Club House Ignited at Once.

Conflagration reigned supreme when firemen from No. 3 station dashed on to the scene, a quarter of a mile west of the rolling mills, at 3 o'clock Monday morning. Two new hay stacks and the Rumanian club house were blazing merilly. The three fires were many yards apart.

Firemen extinguished the fire at the club house, but were able to do little good for the hay stacks, which were practically consumed. The west corner of the long frame club house had been fired by use of papers and hay. It is thought that the hay stacks were also purposely set ablaze. Loss is estimated at $35.

The hay stacks, on two vacant lots, belonged to two Rumanian families. They could tell firemen and police of nobody whom they suspected of maliciously setting their new mown stacks afire. None of the residents of the neighborhood has offered a clue as to who might try to destroy the property of the community by the torch. Police and firemen will continue to work on the theory that the stacks were set

INCREASE OF 20 TEACHERS

Public School Instructors in Fort Wayne Total 300 This Year.

Organization Complete for Opening of Schools on Tuesday.

Prof. Justin N. Study, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools, has completed the organization of his corps of teachers and instructors for the school year, which opens Tuesday morning. There is an increase of twenty teachers over that of last year. The total number for this year will be three hundred.

Very few changes have been made from last year. No changes have been made in the principalship of any of the schools. During the summer several of the lady teachers were married and their places were filled by others. Several new instructors have been secured for the high school faculty.

The organization of the Fort Wayne city schools for this year follows: Ernest W. Cook, president; William H. Shambaugh, secretary, and A. L. Randall, treasurer; Prof. Justin N. Study, superintendent; Elizabeth Doan, clerk; Dr. Charles R. Dancer, chief medical inspector; Dr. I. W. Ditton, medical inspector; Dr. Carrie Banning, medical inspector; Conrad Leidolf, janitor-in-chief; Rudolph Reinewald, attendance offices, and Stephen D. Scott, assistant attendance officer.

The list of teachers for the schools of Fort Wayne follows:

Supervisors and Special Teachers.

Gail Calmerton, primary instruction; Alice E. Hall, drawing; Henry Meyer, physical culture; Carrie A. Snively, assistant physical culture; William Miles, music; J. J. Ritter, manual training; O. L. WILSON HASTENS TO BEDSIDE OF SISTER

Relative of President, Ill at New London, is Growing Weaker.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 11.—Cancelling all engagements, President Wilson left here early today to go to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. A. E. Howe, who is critically ill at her home in New London, Conn. The president motored to New York and will finish the trip by train.

The president arose before 7 o'clock after having spent a restless night. He appeared greatly concerned over his sister's illness.

PATIENT GROWS WEAKER.

New London, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Annie Howe, President Wilson's sister, who is critically ill of peritonitis and complications here, passed a comfortable night, but is growing weaker, according to a statement issued today by Dr. [illegible]

U. S. WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT BOMBARDMENT

shington, Sept. 11.—Inquiry will ade of the French government re- ding circumstances of the bombard- nt September 4 by a French fleet off lexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, during which the building occupied by William H. Brewster, of New York, American consular agent, was riddled. Officials said today that the state department would ask whether the shelling of the building was a result of carelessness.

Brewster is merely employed to forward consular information, work formerly done by a Turkish citizen and the equipment furnished him by the United States cost only a few hundred dollars. No claim for damages will be filed by the department.

SCOUTS FAIL TO FIND HIM

American Search of Santa Clara Canyon for Villa is Fruitless.

Unable to Confirm Report That Bandit is Moving Toward Border.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 11.—Scouts of the American army in Mexico have penetrated the Santa Clara canyon in search of Francisco Villa's marauding band and have not found it there. This was the substance of a message received today by Gen. Funston from Gen. Pershing, who said he believed Villa was in the vicinity of San Andres, 35 miles west of Chihuahua City.

Gen. Pershing did not say so, but it is believed here that the American scouts must have been supported by at least a small force, as the canyon is more than 50 miles south of the southernmost lines.

CANNOT CONFIRM REPORTS.

Washington, Sept. 11.—All efforts of Gen. Pershing to confirm persistent rumors that Villa is moving toward the border in northern Mexico so far have been fruitless. The general made this report today to the war department:

"Reports regarding Villa's movement north have been continuously received through El Paso authorities. So far these reports cannot be confirmed here although every possible source of information is being used.

Patrols at San Lorenzo from El Valle reached Santa Clara canyon and about thirty miles on Chihuahua road but could hear nothing of Villa or any movement of Villistas. People had heard rumors of Villistas at Satevo but nothing north of there.

ONE IN AUTO PARTY OF SEVEN ESCAPES INJURY

Six Chicago Men Suffer as Car Takes Plung Near Goodland, Ind.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 11.—An automobile traveling at a rapid rate of speed left the road two miles west of Goodland yesterday evening, turned over and crashed into a telegraph pole, breaking it off at the ground, and finally landing against a guy wire, and a fence.

C. E. Erbs, a St. Paul manufacturer of racing cars, was bruised about the body and head. Hugh Logan, Chicago manager for the American La France fire engine company, suffered a broken ankle and cuts about the head. E. J. Smail, a Chicago salesman, had both legs broken and was cut about the body. H. D. Dunbar, another Chicago salesman, was the most seriously hurt. His scalp was torn off, his jaw broken, several ribs were broken and he suffered a bad cut on the left side of his neck and shoulder. S. L. Duffield, Chicago, driver of the car, has a broken collar bone. W. E. Lee, of Chicago, has a broken right arm. H. L. Selix, of Chicago, relative of the motion picture magnate, escaped unhurt.

The car was owned by Erbs. The injured men were taken to Sheldon, Ill., where a Big Four passenger train was stopped and they were taken to Chicago

MAINE CASTS VOTES TODAY

Progressive Vote in Dispute in State Normally Republican.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Voters of Maine to the number of 140,000 or more, went to the polls today to elect a governor, two United States senators, four representatives in congress, a state legislature and a state auditor.

National issues have been brought to the fore and the party leaders brought hundreds of speakers into the state, including former Justice Hughes, former Vice President Fairbanks and members of President Wilson's cabinet, to persuade the voters to line up with or against the national executive and the majority in congress.

State Normally Republican.

Maine, however, is normally republican and the democratic leaders insisted that something more than a scant republican victory would be required to constitute a repudiation of the administration, while a democratic plurality, however small, would be accepted by them as an endorsement.

Fair weather prevailed and this was expected to cause a big vote, equally desired by both sides. The state officers are now democratic and that party has one United States senator and one of the four congressmen.

Moose Vote in Dispute.

In 1914 the progressives cast 18,226 votes for governor; how their vote would split today was a matter of dispute. Both sides claim they will receive sufficient progressive support to carry the election. The polls opened at 6 o'clock and must close not later than 5 p. m.

Many returns will be slow as some twenty towns and plantations are without telegraphic and telephonic communication with the outside. However the result should be indicated before midnight.

STATE PRIMARIES TOMORROW.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS BEGIN YEAR'S WORK

Total Enrolment of All Schools Expected to Be Nearly 13,000.

Arrayed in their best frocks, with long, bright ribbons in their hair and books in their hands the little girls of the parochial schools walked briskly toward their respective schools Monday morning. A few hundred feet back of them, donned in new suits, their brothers trudged lazily along in the same direction. They looked with envious eyes on the boys of the public schools who still had another day of freedom.

Reports fro mthe parochial schools in the city are to the effect that the enrollment is exceptionally large. From careful investigation it has been estimated that the total enrollment in the parochial and public schools of the city this year will be nearly 13,000. Officials state that the estimate is conservative.

VAIN SEARCH FOR MISSING FARMER

Kurt Mueller, Left Home Two Weeks Ago With No Word of Parting.

Kurt Mueller, 27, drove his team into the barn on his father's farm, eight miles west of Fort Wayne, a week ago last Thursday and started out across the fields. He wore his old straw hat and a blue shirt. He has not been heard of since.

Police have hunted in vain for a trace of the man about Fort Wayne. Other cities have been notified. Parents of the young man fear that he has met with physical violence. He had no

SECURE LONG TIME LEASE ON ARCADE

Large New York Concern to Occupy East Half of Building.

John Pfeiffer has leased the east half of the Arcade building on West Berry street to W. T. Brant and company, a New York business concern. He stated that a long time lease has been secured and that the building will be remodeled and will be ready for occupancy by October 15.

The eastern company operates a chain of twenty-six stores which deal solely in twenty-five cent articles. The concern is one of the largest concerns in the country and after considering several cities in the central states decided that Fort Wayne was the most prosperous town under consideration.

The main offices of the new business concern are located in New York city. Mr. Pfeiffer states that this company gives such great values for the money that in New York city when they put on a specialty sale, it is necessary to have a squad of policemen at the store to handle the crowds.

The lease has gone on record at the court house. The deal is considered one of the largest that has been consumated in this city for several years. It involves nearly $200,000.

The Arcade will be remodeled and the new company will occupy the entire ground floor and the rear portion of the upper floor. A large new front will also be built. The front part of the upstairs will be changed into modern office suites.

MYRON CAMPBELL DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Myron Campbell, 69 years old, father of Mrs. C. Claud Travis, died at his home in South Bend Sunday night following a brief illness with pneumonia.

The deceased was a prominent banker, and an influential citizen of South Bend. He was ill less than a week, Mrs. Travis being called to his bedside Friday afternoon.

He is survived by the widow and four children as follows: Edward Campbell, commander of the battleship Charleston, stationed at the Panama canal; Robert Campell, of New York; Mrs. Vera Darr, wife of Rev. Darr, of New York, and Mrs. Travis, wife of Rev. C. Claud Travis, pastor of the Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

The deceased was to have read a paper within the next few days at the anuual meeting of the National Bankers' association at Kansas City.

BOOKWALTER IN AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

The family of Charles A. Bookwalter, former resident of Fort Wayne, and well known here, came very near being seriously injured or killed the other day when the machine in which they were riding was run into by another automobile. The accident occurred at Thirty-eighth street and Capitol avenue, in Indianapolis. In the Bookwalter machine were Mrs. Bookwalter, son John, who was at the wheel, and two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Budd and Miss Mary Bookwalter. They were going west on Thirty-eighth street when a machine driven by Reuben Aldrich, of Waverly, Ind., running at a terrific rate of speed, struck their car. The Bookwalter machine was hurled at the side of the street, landing against a post, which prevented it from turning over. Otherwise, it is believed, the occupants would have been seriously hurt if not killed.

Mr. Bookwalter had but recently purchased the machine, which is a Packard. The damage to it is estimated at $400.

MR. HANLY NOW TURNS ATTENTION TO TAFT

Mr. Hanly, in his addresses, took issue particularly with former President Taft over a statement he is quoted as making to the effect that a national prohibition amendment could not be enforced. Mr. Hanley said that if he

CROSS RIVER UNDER FIRE

LATTER PUTTING UP FIERCE RESISTANCE

Today's War News Given in Summary

Attacks on Bulgaria from both the north and the south are apparently in preparation by the entente armies in the Balkans. A movement from the south developed today in official news from Paris that the British had taken the offensive on the northeastern Macedonian front. They have crossed the Struma about 40 miles northeast of Saloniki in an advance toward the Bulgarian border, after strong artillery preparation and are attacking the villages of Nevolyen and Karabjades.

At the beginning of the Macedonian operations last month the Bulgarians pushed down rapidly from the border and occupied positions in Greek territory on the right flank of the allied defensive lines around Saloniki, pushing their advance to the Aegean coast with apparently little opposition. The present British thrust which may mean the beginning of an important offensive with the object of placing Bulgaria between two fires, is directed along the main road to Seres, north of Tapinos lake, the natural avenue of advance for an army pushing for the Bulgarian border. Meanwhile the effort to encompass Bulgaria is proceeding on the north with the reported arrival of Russian troops in strong force to take the offensive against the Bulgarians who have invaded the Rumanian province of Dobrudja.

In northern France the Germans are responding to the heavy blows which drove back their lines along several miles along the Somme front last week. Yesterday and last night they struck hard at both the French and the British, but, according to the entente reports, were unable to regain any of the lost ground.

In their attacks on the French south of the Somme the Germans used flaming liquid. They suffered heavily in these fruitless attempts, Paris declares. The British were attacked at Cinchy, the village captured by them last Saturday, but beat off the two advances made by the Germans as they did also attempts against British near Moquet farm and Pozieres.

Paris, Sept. 11.—(1:25 p m.)—British troops on the front in Greek Macedonia took the offensive last night.

They crossed the Struma river the war office announced today and attacked the Bulgarians, who are resisting desperately.

The British troops crossed the Struma under fire. Having gained a footing on the eastern bank at a point about forty miles northeast of Saloniki they attacked the villages of Nevotyen and Karabjaes.

Additional details of the disturbance at the French legation at Athens on Sunday are forwardedby the Havas correspondent at Athens. He telegraphs that while the entente ministers were meeting at the legation a number of reservists forced an entrance, shouting "Long live the king. Down with the entente." Four shots were fired. No one was injured. The reservists fled.

FIVE GERMAN ATTACKS FAIL.

Such is Comment of Representative Cline on Session of Congress.

Congressman Cyrus Cline has returned from Washington, D. C., following adjournment of congress, and will remain in this district throughout the campaign. Mr. Cline expects to make a thorough canvass of the district.

Congressman Cline is confident of a democratic victory. The magnificent record made by congress in which he took no small part assures victory, he believes.

"The session of congress just closed has been the most eventful in a great many years," Mr. Cline declared. "It has been the aim of congress to meet the legislative demands of all classes of citizens and thereby harmoniously promote the interests of the people.

"Congress did not forget in its legislation the business man, manufacturer, farmer, laboring man or the men engaged in the commercial pursuits. The democratic congress was true to its platform pledges and has given legislative relief to the country that the developments of economic conditions seemed to demand.

"The reorganization of the army and navy on a scale heretofore never attempted by any party was in response to the sentiments of the country as interpreted by congress. To meet the added expense congress passed a new revenue bill placing the burden of taxes upon those best able to bear it. The revision of the income tax under the present bill is one of the most equitable in my opinion ever devised.

"Without attempting to go into details with reference to legislation beneficial to the different classes of our citizens it may be said that the action of congress not only meets the approval of the democratic party, but all of the important bills that passed the house were of such excellent merit that they received the support of a large percentage of the republican party, with the exception of the revenue bill in the senate for which only one republican senator, Senator LaFollette, voted.

"Last Thursday congress passed a bill increasing the pension of soldiers' widows 70 years of age and over from $12 to $20 and lifted the limitations imposed on a soldier's widow who was a second wife from June 27, 1890, to June 27, 1905. Under this law a widow who may have been divorced through no fault of her own is eligible to pension and widows of the Spanish-American war and the Indian wars are entitled to $12 a month.

"There is one thing very remarkable about this presidential campaign. For fifty years at every recurrence of a presidential election every four years business has halted because of the timidity and fear that something might occur in the election to effect business. No such situation presents itself in this campaign. Legislation passed by congress and the administration of the democratic party has been so satisfactory to business of this country and has been so reinforced by the confidence it has instilled in business men that the progress of new enterprises and larger business continue to multiply as the campaign increases."

FAIRBANKS HASTENS OVER INTO KENTUCKY

Indianapolis, Sept. 11—Charles W. Fairbanks returned to Indianapolis last evening from a trip to Maine and departed at midnight on a special car for Springfield, Mo., where he will speak at the opening of the Missouri republican campaign this evening. From Springfield he will go to Oklahoma City, where he will address the republican state convention tomorrow night.

Mr. Fairbanks departed in the private car "Colonial," which he will use throughout the campaign. Aside from the two speeches at Springfield and Oklahoma City, he did not know his itinerary when he arrived from the east. It is probable he will make some speeches in Kansas or Iowa, or possibly both before going farther west.

It was not known last night whether Mr. Fairbanks would return to Indianapolis before starting on his big campaign tour. He was accompanied on the trip by Joseph R. Kealing and his son, Richard Fairbanks.

IDA M. TARBELL HAS COME OUT FOR WILSON

Noted Woman Thinker Calls Him First Progressive Leader of Decade.

New York, Sept. 11.—Ida M. Tarbell, who is known to newspaper and magazine readers as one of the foremost leaders of thought among American women, announced yesterday her active support of President Wilson.

"He is," she declared, "the first real progressive leader that this decade has produced."

"Without slighting Mr. Hughes," for whom she expressed great respect, she said:

"He certainly has not as yet given any sign of understanding or sympathizing with the thing we call progressiveism, and, as far as I can see, President Wilson is the only leader we have who has.

"The great trouble with Mr. Roosevelt," continued Miss Tarbell, "is his out-of-dateness. He does not understand what the progressives are fussing about, and there never has been one of them who could tell him so he could get the idea.

"Many of them recognized this, but they wanted the asset of his extraordinary personality. They've got what was inevitable for their compromise."

Miss Tarbell, in describing President Wilson, said he differed from Colonel Roosevelt in his whole conception of the function of the politician. She believes President Wilson has the true conception of the first duty of leadership of the people—"to find out just how long an upward step they are ready for and then to fire them with courage to take that step."

To her associates in the progressive movement, of which she was a conspicuous part, Miss Tarbell's advice may come, to put it mildly, as a surprise, for she tells them frankly that President Wilson—"our greatest progressive"—should have been the party's candidate last June.

"He would have understood the progressives," she said, "which Mr. Roosevelt did not."

LATHROPE WILL COME SOON FOR EXHIBIT

City Planner is Returning from Vacation Spent in Maine.

John E. Lathrope, director of the New York city bureau, under whose direction the Woman's League of Fort Wayne will put on a city planning exhibit in October, will arrive in the city soon. Mrs. A. E. Fauve is president of the league.

Mr. Lathrope was in the city for about two weeks, starting July 4, making preliminary arrangements for the exhibit, after which he left for a vacation in Maine.

The city planning movement will be given state-wide character, this city being one of the cities in which the exhibit will be put on with several others. Mr. Lathrope put up the proposition of a city planning exhibit [illegible] Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and the real estate exchange of that city and it is possible that an exhibit may be put on there.

home of his parents, 208 Washington boulevard west. Death followed an illness of several years and came at the age of 26 years. He was one of the most prominent young men of Fort Wayne and was widely known. He was a great favorite with everyone who knew him.

He had spent the greater part of the past five years in the west in an effort to regain his health and returned to this city last December.

The deceased was born in Kansas City, Mo., but came to Fort Wayne with his parents when he was a young boy. He received his early education in the public schools of this city and later attended the University of Pennsylvania. He was preparing himself for the practice of medicine, but on account of ill health was unable to finish his studies.

He was united in marriage to Miss Nancy Ayers, of Philadelphia, on December 11, 1912. Besides the widow and the parents he is survived by a child. He was a member of Summit City lodge F. & A. M.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD AT HUNTERTOWN

Democrats of Two Townships Hear Speeches by Ft. Wayne Attorneys.

Democrats of Eel River and Perry townships met at the Woodmen's hall, in Huntertown, Saturday night, organizing the Wilson-Marshall club. Calvin Brown opened the meeting with an explanation of the organization of the campaign and he congratulated the gathering on attendance and enthusiasm. Talks were made by Frank Emrick, state's attorney, and Howard Benninghoff and Louis N. Dunten, attorneys, who delivered addresses.

Officers named were as follows: N. C. Erwin, president; R. J. Hillegass, vice president; Hugh E. Smith, secretary, and Pearl Sible, treasurer.

Committees Were Named.

Committees named on executive and organization work were: Dr. Frank Greenwell, Louis Dunten and Frank Pulver. On press and program, George Elby, Hugh Smith, Ralph Saylor and V. E. McComb were named. On the membership committee, for Eel River township, Jesse Waffus, W. A. Johnson, George V. Kell, N. G. McDuffee, Arthur Sage, C. B. McBride, John Madden and Bert Sible were appointed. In Perry township the membership committee named was John C. Griffin, Harl Saylor, Dan Steiner, George Martin, Charles Becke, Edward Bobay, John Flanagan, Herman Mammer. On the finance committee for Perry township, Pearl Sible, M. J. McComb and Ren Warnock were appointed.

Outlines the Issues.

Frank Emrick, state's attorney, in an address, gave an excellent outline of campaign issues, showing that there was never such an era of prosperity. "The empty dinner pail is a thing of the past, factories are working overtime and prosperity is everywhere," he declared. "All this is in face of republican prophecy of 1912, that Wilson and Marshall meant disaster and panic. It has not only brought prosperity, but by means of the reserve banking act, it has even put it out of the power of the republican party to throw the country into a panic."

Dunten is Speaker.

L. N. Dunten, attorney, showed that Wilson had acted without fear or favor and that his administration would go down with the greatest epoch of American history. He asserted the Americanism of Wilson was the Americanism of the stars and stripes.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Important Event at St. Paul's Catholic Church is Well Attended.

One of the most important events in church circles Sunday was the laying of the cornerstone of the new school building of St. Paul's Catholic church at Fairfield avenue and Washington streets. The services, which were beautiful and impressive, were attended by over five-hundred people.

Rt. Rev. Mgr. J. H. Oechtering, rector of St. Mary's church and vicar general of the diocese, officiated at the services, and Rev. Charles H. Thiele, of St. Peter's church, delivered the sermon. Mgr. Oechtering was attended by Rev. Ignatius Rauh, C. PP. S., of the Precious Blood mission house, as deacon; Rev. George Horstman, sub-deacon; Rev. H. F. Joseph Kroll, pastor of St. Paul's church, master of ceremonies.

Previous to the sealing of the cornerstone the copper box, which was placed in the stone, was filled with several articles. The box contained parchment record of current events and parish history, copies of the Fort Wayne papers, the Indiana Catholic, the Wochenblatt, the Weisenfreund, small coins and medals.

Before the stone was sealed Rev. George Horstman read the record, which was also enclosed and which is as follows:

"In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, amen. On this, the tenth day of September, in the year of our Lord, 1916, the United States of America being happily at peace, while most of the countries of Europe are at war, Cardinal Della Chiesa gloriously reigning as Roman pontiff under the name of Benedict XV.; Herman Joseph Alerding being bishop of the diocese of Fort Wayne; Rev. H. F. Joseph Kroll, pastor of St. Paul's church; Woodrow Wilson being president of the United States; Samuel B. Ralston being governor of Indiana; William J. Hosey being mayor of Fort Wayne, this cornerstone was blessed and placed in position by Rt. Rev. Mgr. John H. Oechtering, V. G., rector of St. Mary's church, Fort Wayne, Ind. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Charles H. Thiele, rector of St. Peter's church, Fort Wayne."

REALTY MEN'S TOUR INCLUDES MANY CITIES

Trip Over Indiana to Be Made by President Ninde and Several Others.

Lee J. Ninde, president of the Indiana State Realty association will on October 9 begin a tour of the state. The tour will have as its object the importance of city planning to every city. Real estate men are becoming interested and city planning will be a dominant topic at the state convention of realty dealers to be held at Evansville Nov. 15 to 17.

The tour will start in this city and includes the cities of Elkhart, South Bend, Michigan City, Hammond, Gary, Logansport, Kokomo, Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Terre Haute, Evansville, New Albany, Muncie, Anderson and Marion.

The tour, which was to have started October 3, was set later in order that the realty men could be in Evansville on October 12 when sale of real estate in which the association is interested will be made.

PRIZE AWARDS MADE BY BUILDERS BODY

Gold is Given Those Persons Who Have Kept the Best Yards.

Prize of $10 in gold was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Redderson, 2923 Shawnee drive, Saturday, for having the best kept lawns in Shawnee place in a contest conducted by the Wildwood Builders' company, in which second and third prizes of $5 and $2.50 went to Mr. and Mrs. Robinette, 3011 Shawnee drive, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Getty, 3011 Shawnee drive. Mayor Mosey took part in the ceremonies and members of the park board did the judging. There was strong competition in the contest and judging was difficult. The condition of the lawns showed decided improvement over last year.

The first prize was awarded on the basis of a fine display of old fashioned flowers, a fine vegetable garden, window boxes and the general landscape effect.

Those given honorable mention were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Hoagland avenue.

Mayor Mosey commended the Wildwood Builders' company for its civic enterprise. The mayor said the company not only established one home community, but enlarged and extended it.

Col. D. N. Foster, of the park board, said Shawnee place was at one time a muck hole. He spoke of the wonderful improvement made in the place since its purchase. It was formerly part of the estate of Judge Taylor.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE

On the Huntertown Live Stock Show Stables, It Is Announced.

Good progress is being made on the show buildings of the Huntertown Live Stock and Agricultural association in which the fall exhibit will be given. There will be a horse show and shorthorn cattle exhibit and it is hoped to have the new buildings in readiness for this exhibit. The building being erected is 100x30 feet. A well is being put down on the premises in order that good water may be provided.

Will Johnson, secretary of the Fort Wayne District Shorthorn Breeders' association, states that plans are taking shape nicely for the cattle exhibit in connection with the stock of the Huntertown Live Stock and Agricultural association.

TEN IN AUTO INJURED.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 11.—Ten persons were injured, two probably fatally, yesterday when an interurban car struck an automobile in this city. All the persons, who were members of the families of C. L. Krall, of Converse, Ind., and David Fansler, of Swayzee, Ind., were riding in one automobile. Lucila Fansler, age 8, and an 8-year-old son of Mr. Krall, are not expected to live. There are eight other members of the families in a hospital here.

BUT FIVE CHILDREN ESCAPE.

Elwood, Ind., Sept. 11.—William Rutherford, 35, living near Windfall, suffered a broken hip and internal injuries, his wife was cut about the head and Mrs. Cleve Rutherford was cut on the shoulder when their automobile ran into another car here last night. Five children in the Rutherford machine escaped unhurt, although the machine was demolished. The identity of the persons in the other car which was not damaged, was not learned.

WAR VETERAN WINS ANOTHER VICTORY

Michael Huss Finally Regains Health Through Tanlac, the Celebrated New Medicine.

Another interesting statement that glistens and glows with a real concern for others was given on April 19, by Michael Huss, civil war veteran and retired farmer of 832 Greeley street, who told of the relief he gained through use of Tanlac, the celebrated new medicine.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and muscular rheumatism bothered me in my arms and shoulders," Mr. Huss said. "The pains in my arms and shoulders were very severe and at times I could hardly raise my arm. The stomach trouble caused bloating and I experienced heartburn frequently. Although my appetite was good the food did not agree with me, causing gaseous formations and general distress.

"I read accounts in the papers of how Tanlac was helping others and decided to give the new medicine a trial. The first bottle brought good benefits and now after taking four bottles the rheumatism has practically been banished. I can eat heartily now and the food agrees with me and I am able to sleep more soundly.

"I have tried many medicines but never derived the benefits from any that I have from Tanlac. I gladly recommend this preparation."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and has proven a fine blood purifier and system cleaner.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets; Calhoun and Columbia; 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.

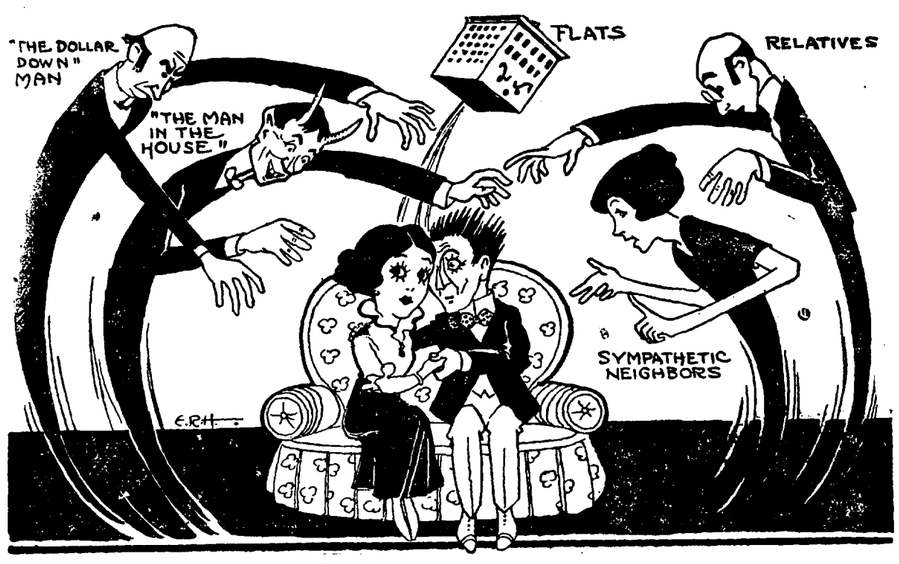
Prohibit Building of Flats to Cure Divorce, Says Judge in "New Reno"



Akron, O., Sept. 11.—"One married couple plus one roomer equals divorce!"

This is the new axiom on divorce offered by Judge E. D. Fritch, of Summit county common pleas court.

Judge Fritch got this new view of divorce causes from testimony in cases that have come to his notice since a sort of divorce epidemic began sweeping over Akron and earning for the city the name of "Reno of Ohio."

In six months of 1916 Summit county divorce mills ground out 341 interlocutory decrees—an increase of 65 per cent over the same period of 1915!

And in almost every case "the man of the house" loomed up in the background!

Akron is a "boom town," prosperous, pleasure-loving, overcrowded. It has a pay roll of $100,000 a day. Everybody has money and everybody spends a goodly share in pursuit of pleasure.

There is something carnivalistic about Akron. Women lean to awning skirts and zebra stockings.

About 120,000 people are crowded into homes intended for 90,000. What is the result of this congestion?

"Divorce!" says Judge Fritch.

"If I had the power here are some of the things I would do to decrease divorces:

"Enact laws to compel married couples to live what I call 'family lives'—free from boarders and relatives.

"Have laws passed fixing the minimum size for 'building lots in the city and providing that only one home be erected on a lot.

"Abolish flats and apartment houses.

"In 1900 the population was only 69,000. In six years it has almost doubled. The newcomers, mostly young single men, come here to work. There are not enough regular rooming houses and hotels, so they go to the private homes. They become 'the man in the house.'

"'The man in the house,' I find, begins by paying little attentions to the wife—attentions the husband sometimes overlooks or cannot pay. He takes her to the movies, to the lakes or dances. His intentions at the outset may be honorable. I have no doubt they are. Eventually there comes suspicion, jealousy, divorce.

"Then there are the apartment houses and flats! Each year they contribute their quota to the divorce courts. Families live too close together in flats. Separation of families is the foundation of good 'morals and good citizenship.'

"There would be fewer divorces if young people did not start matrimony with a credit man at their heels. When a husband finds he is running behind on monthly installments on furniture he begins to cut down on the pleasure end. Then 'the man in the house' steps in. He provides the little entertainments for the wife the husband cannot afford."

An Open Letter To the Women of Fort Wayne and Vicinity

September 11, 1916

ABOUT one year ago we assumed the management of the Ready-to-Wear Departments of the Frank Dry Goods Company.

It was our intention and ambition to give you a metropolitan assortment of clever styles and superior merchandise at fair prices.

Our success in this endeavor is proven by the steadily increased volume of business in these departments.

We have grown rapidly until now our second floor is one of the most complete and largest departments [6,800 square feet] in Northern Indiana devoted exclusively to Misses' and Women's outer apparel.

In the very beginning we set as our aim, a high standard of merchandising, which among other features, includes—satisfactory service or your money back—one price to all—a small profit on many sales, rather than large profits on a few—styles just a little differently distinctive.

We now show the new creations as soon as Fifth Avenue or Michigan Avenue, in large assortments, not too many of any one style.

Our Advertising policy in the future will conform more to conservative lines; for we believe that the influence of advertising upon women depends not so much upon the flash of large space and figures, as upon the dignity of a straight forward ad. backed by the merchandise it represents.

In conclusion we desire to thank you for your kind consideration and patronage and asure you that we will always try to merit the continuance of the same.

Respectfully yours,

Frank's Ready-to-Wear

MANY LAFAYETTE PLACE PURCHASERS PLAN HOMES

Recently, the promoters of Lafayette Place, the modernly planned addition at the south end of Calhoun street, sent out letters to all of their purchasers asking each whether they had bought for an investment or with the idea of building a home upon their lot in the future. Approximately sixty per cent of those who answered stated that they had made their purchase for the purpose of building their own homes. These figures are highly gratifying to the Lafayette Place company as they seem to indicate that practically every other lot in the whole addition will be built upon as soon as the improvements have been completed. DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Peter 4:1-13.

1 Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind; for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin;

2 That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.

3 For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revelings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries;

4 Wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you;

5 Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.

6 For, for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

9 Use hospitality one to another without grudging.

10 As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

11 If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ; to whom be praise and domination for ever and ever. Amen.

12 Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you:

13 But rejoice. inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.

Winning Support for Suffrage

In rather striking contrast to a number of other enthusiastic but misguided leaders of the equal suffrage movement, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, now being hailed as "the sage of suffrage," is leading a strong fight against the purpose which has recently developed in some quarters to turn over the suffrage movement as a mere adjunct to the republican national campaign organization. This effort received a severe check in the national convention of the suffragists a few days ago when the delegates overwhelmingly voted down a resolution offered by a Chicago woman to the general effect that the four million women voters of the country, as well as suffragists in states which have not yet given women the ballot, refuse support to any presidential candidate who refused to declare unequivocally for federal action to bestow the vote upon women.

"We must get the support of both democrats and republicans in order to win," Mrs. Shaw is quoted as having declared, "and neither the republicans at once nor the democrats at once can bring suffrage." Mrs. Shaw very clearly indicates that she doesn't intend to see the long and for the most part ably-conducted fight to secure for woman the right of the ballot swept off its feet and utterly wrecked by making it the cat's paw of any political organization whatever. She realizes that, in all probability, as many democrats individually favor equal suffrage as do the individual voters among the republicans, and that what the cause needs is staunch friends and not embittered enemies. "We must get enough democrats and republicans together to give us suffrage," Mrs. Shaw continues.

Mrs. Shaw is absolutely right, and that fact will presently be recognized even by those who appear to have been carried away by recent pronouncements of Mr. Hughes as to his individual convictions regarding the injustice of denying the ballot to the American woman. That equal suffrage is coming is not to be doubted, because it is a matter of simple justice. The president a few days ago voiced universal belief in his prediction that "in a little while" the cause of votes for women will be victorious. That time will be considerably hastened by the exercise of a little plain, ordinary political sagacity at this juncture.

Down at Richmond popular faith in the desirability of a public utilities law is going to be subjected to a strenuous test by the recent ruling of the Indiana commission, which has granted an increase of gas rates for that city. The small consumer who has been paying 40 cents per thousand cubic feet for gas will now be compelled to pay a net rate of 70 cents, and the new rate is ordered on the gas company's showing that it cannot exist at the old rate and that for the past year it has been operating at an annual loss of approximately $25,000. After all, Richmond folk may figure themselves somewhat ahead of the game. It looks much like they had been escaping too easily, and the old 40-cent rate, forced upon the company by competition, was a tremendous advantage to the public while at lasted. Doubtless they will not particularly relish the raise, but the principle of cost of production and distribution on which it is computed is the only fair one. Besides, Richmond still has the edge on some other Indiana cities in the matter of gas rates, even at the new and higher figure.

Announcement is made that the Morris Plan company of New York lent $250,575 in August to 2,070 borrowers. This is at the rate of over $3,000,000 a year; but the number and amount of loans increase every month. At the end of August, over $20,500,000 had been lent on The Morris Plan, throughout the entire country, to about 160,000 persons. The authorized capital of the fifty-two companies now operating this plan is $6,923,600. Six or eight new companies are in process of organization from Maine to California. Fort Wayne is, fortunately, one of the cities in which the small borrower of funds has at hand the fine facilities offered by this new financial plan designed particularly to meet his needs and his resources.

Mayor Ross, at Seymour, comes out with the flat declaration that no games of chance are to be permitted in connection with the centennial celebration in that town, and he puts the doll racks and the ringing schemes into the gambling category. Whereat the midway gentry say they will make a test of the law, contending, no doubt, that no celebration can amount to much where they are denied the privilege of skinning the public.

Mr. Hughes is to visit thirty-seven Indiana towns in the course of his campaign tour of the state late in the present month. And Mr. Hughes may be assured those thirty-seven Indiana towns will hear him respectfully and even gladly, but as to voting for him—that's another matter entirely.

ONE MAN'S WORK.

(Springfield Daily News.)

It is announced in the scientific papers that Consulting Engineer Dudley, of the New York Central railroad, has discovered a way to eliminate hidden flaws in railroad rails. That is, he has, after forty years of hard work, devised a system of testing that will enable one to determine that flaws exist—and of course that will prevent the use of rails with these hidden flaws.

Until the announcement was made, there was no way of determining the presence of these hidden flaws. If a rail looked clean and sound, on its surface, it was accepted. There might be a flaw on the inside, rendering the rail dangerous, or liable to break at any time, but there was no way of locating it. It is now claimed that these hidden flaws can be located through the system devised by Mr. Dudley.

Some idea of the value of this one man's work may be had when it is stated that last year there were more than three thousand accidents in this country due to the hidden flaws in rails. Three hundred persons lost their lives and seven thousand were injured. Property to the value of more than four million dollars was destroyed in a single year because of the hidden flaws. So the elimination of the hidden flaw saves the nation just that much in a single year.

There is no way of estimating the worth to the world of such a man as Dudley. We can figure up what he has saved in a single year, in a way, but when we put down or seek to put down the actual value to the world of his discovery, the figures fail. The saving of a single life can hardly be computed. So what shall we say when a man devises a system or makes a discovery that promises to save three hundred or more lives in a single year? How shall he be rewarded—or how will the world acknowledge its debt to this one man?

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores [illegible] of bowels

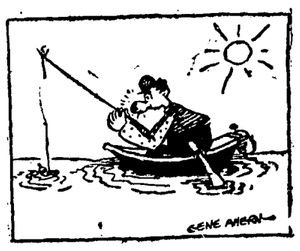
FISHING.

Fishing, like politics, was invented so a fellow could spend a lot of time and kale doing nothing.

It also gives a fellow a lot of time to think, but who ever heard of a fisherman having a brainstorm.



Anyhow, if a fellow could think, he wouldn't go fishing.

Fishing is great for stretching imaginations and fish. In that way the fishing game resembles the golf game.

Here's some hot stuff, George.

The fisherman says "It ain't the idea of the fish, it's the sport of the game."

Some sport—nit—a $10 rod, $20 reel, $30 worth of tackle, boots, coat, etc., mosquitoes, a boiled neck, pipe and tobacco, no matches, all for 18c worth of fish.

ALLIED GUNS WIPE OUT U. S. CONSULATE

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(By Wireless.)—The destruction of the American consulate at Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, during the bombardment by entente allied warships is announced in a delayed Turkish official report dated September 4.

"Small hostile warships shelled the open town of Alexandretta," the statement says. "The damage to Turkish property was insignificant. The United States consulate was destroyed completely. No lives were lost.

"Our coast batteries shelled a hostile transport and monitor off Smyrna. The monitor withdrew enveloped in flames. The transport was hit by two shells and withdrew toward Samos."

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a medicine that every family should be provided with. Colic and diarrhoea often come on suddenly and it is of the greatest importance that they be treated promptly. Consider the suffering that must be endured until a physician arrives or medicine can be obtained. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a reputation second to none for the quick relief which it affords. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Justice Wilkinson has gone to Ohio on a visit.

Fort Wayne has done grandly in the way of paving her streets this year, and she is not done yet.

A bloody fight occurred just after the noon hour in the grounds in the rear of the baseball league park.

There are no criminal cases of importance to be tried at this term of the circuit court.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Comparet are preparing to move into the house at 322 East Wayne street.

Rev. S. M. Wagenhals returned today from Cresson, Pa., where his family has been spending the summer.

'Twas sleep eternal that came over the beloved Dr. B. S. Woodworth at 7:15 o'clock last evening at the family residence, 234 West Berry street.

Miss Mirriam Cohen, teacher in the public schools, who has been spending her summer vacation in Canada and Michigan, returned home yesterday afternoon.

The death of Dr. B. S. Woodworth removes from the ranks of the medical profession of this city one of its pioneer and most prominent members. His was a useful and honored career.

Harry C. Hanna has sold the Carson property on Columbia street, to W. D. Henderson, for $3,000. The lot is occupied by a three-story brick building, with stores below and residences above.

Yesterday afternoon Ed Suters, the contractor, fell from a scaffold at a new house on Huestis avenue. He sustained internal injury. The man was conveyed to his home, 509 Broadway.

Last evening papers were drawn up for a series of games to be played at League park for the championship of the city and $25 a side. The contesting clubs will be the Dortmunder team and the Pilsner baseball club.

The new public school buildings, one on North Clinton street and the other one in Archer's addition, will not be ready for occupancy before the middle of October. It is regretted that the buildings are not in readiness so that the schools could be organized on the opening day, next Monday.

BOURBONS IN CHARGE OF HUGHES CAMPAIGN

They Are Giving Advice and Nominee is Taking It Obediently.

(BY GILSON GARDNER.)

New York, Sept. 11.—It looks like another Alton B. Parker campaign, with Charles E. Hughes in the role of Alton B. Parker.

In 1904 the reactionary element of the democratic party decided that it was time to have a "safe and sane" candidate with "a judicial temperament" to run against the progressive Roosevelt. The result was the smallest vote for the judicial candidate to be found in the history of any republican or democratic candidate since the civil war. The public didn't see things in that kind of a safe and sane way.

It has been well said that the real bourbon never forgets and never learns anything. The Hughes campaign is in the hands of the bourbon element. The progressives have not had a look in.

Even George W. Perkins, late proprietor of the progressive party organization, is regarded as an interloper. He gets a desk where he can go thrugh some harmless motions, while the real business is done by Chairman Willcox and his "advisory committee" of resurrected political mummies.

Chief adviser and chairman of the advisory committee is Frank Hitchcock, who was postmaster general and political manager for Taft. Next to him comes William Ward—"Old Bill Ward" of the Barnes New York state organization.

To assist these, Hughes has chosen Victor Rosewater, the old-time Mark Hanna lieutenant in Nebraska; Charles G. Dawes, who was controller of the currency in President McKinley's regime and is now head of the Central Trust company of Illinois;; Charles W. Fulton, who was once in the senate and there a follower of the late lamented Aldrich, but was long ago overwhelmed by the progressive spirit of his state of Oregon; Theodore E. Burton, ex-senator, who "voted with Aldrich 114 times;" John Wanamaker, merchant prince, who acquired distinction by contributing to the campaign fund of William Howard Taft in that campaign which earned for Taft the electoral votes of Utah and Vermont; A. O. Eberhart, anti-conservation governor of Minnesota, and James Wilson, octogenarian ex-secretary of Agriculture under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

These are the folks who are advising Hughes and running his campaign. The first item in their advice has been this: Cut out the Roosevelt business; don't let the country think for a minute that you are his putty man; all that stuff about Belgium, the Lusitania, preparedness, the position of America among foreign nations, universal military training—all that is bad political medicine. Play down the hyphenate stuff, touch on Mexico from time to time, but stick close to the good old tariff, and talk about the rascals in office and violations of the civil service system. This, with a few touches of efficiency and economy, will not offend anybody, and the normal drift of the vote this year is for the normal republican candidate. Just be a republican candidate and don't offend anybody. Hughes' advisers have further added: In going about the country see that you stick to the good old line republicans. Put yourself under the auspices of the tried and true who have run things for years and to whom you owe your nomination; don't get mixed up with this progressive crowd, not even in California; these folks have got to come back and we want them to understand that they come back under our auspices and that we make the issues and run the show.

To this advice Hughes has been absolutely obedient. It has pleased the old guard fine, but the progressives are not so tickled.

ARE YOU LOOKING OLD?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

ROBERT W. STEVENS.

Stevens is the man who says music can be tasted. He is director of music at the University of Chicago.

GLASS OF WATER BEFORE YOU EAT ANY BREAKFAST

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels, the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores of the thirty feet of bowels do.

Your Lawn

will need special attention right now. If you are not equipped with the necessary tools, you are liable to lose a good lawn very quickly at this time of the year.

If you want to make a lawn or improve the old one now is the time to do it.

Our Lawn Mowers and Lawn Tools have a reputation for quality and service, likewise our Garden Hose are used all over northern Indiana, as we have hose for every purpose from 8 cents per foot up. Our Kant Kink brand is a marvel for durability.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

GOODRICH IN JAY COUNTY.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 11.—James P. Goodrich, republican candidate for governor of Indiana, will tour Jay county next Tuesday, September 12, and arrangements are being made by the voters to give hi ma rousing reception. The tour will close with a rally to be held at Portland at 8 p. m., Tuesday evening, in which Mr. Goodrich will be the principal speaker. Following is the schedule for the day: Salamonie, 9:00 a. m.; Bellefontaine, 9:30 a. m.; New Corydon, arrive 10:15, leave 10:45 a. m.; Bryant, arrive 11:15, leave 11:30 a. m.; Pollingtown, arrive 11:45, leave 12 noon; Balbec, arrive 12:15, leave 12:30 p. m.; Pennville, arrive 12:45, leave 2:30 p. m.; Redkey, arrive 5:00, leave 6:00 p. m.; Portland, 8:00 p. m.

CARRY OFF HONORS.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—W. J. Besson & Son, Kosciusko county hog raisers, carried off the highest honors at the Indiana state fair, which was held at Indianapolis last week. The Kosciusko county entry won first prize in sharp competition with fourteen or fifteen other entries in the same class. Big Smooth Giant, entered by Besson & Son, won easily in his line. W. J. Besson & Son have agreed to exhibit the same hogs at the Kosciusko county fair. It will mean much to the Kosciusko county fair to have state prize winners on exhibition. Indications are that the display of cattle, horses, sheep, hogs and farm produce will be the most elaborate ever shown in northern Indiana.

FIX TAX LEVY.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 11.—The five members of the city council met Friday evening in the city hall with City Attorney E. K. Strong for the purpose of considering the tax levy for the year. Taking into consideration that the city will build a new city hall in the near future and that it will receive no more license money from the four saloons formerly paying into the city treasury $2,000 a year, the tax levy may be raised 10 cents on the $100, thereby making the levy stand at 11.22. The former tax levy was $1.12. At one time when Jos. R. Harrison was first elected mayor of the city the levy stood at $1.45 per hundred and has never been higher.

PERMANENT MEETING PLACE.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—Winona Lake may be made the permanent meeting place for the St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren church. A special committee, representing the conference now in session in the U. B. church i this city, met with Dr. Sol C. Dickey, general manager of Winona Assembly and Bible Conference on Saturday afterno and discussed the proposition of meeting there each year. The members of the committee outlined the needs of the conference and Dr. Dickey explained what Winona would do. Dr. Dickey issued a cordial invitation to the United Brethren, offering every convenience that Winona can afford.

AUTO HITS MOTORCYCLE.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 11.—Willard Menish sustained a broken leg and Paul Wonderly a broken nose Saturday when their motorcycle was struck by an automobile driven by James Culp at Tipton and Byron streets. The accident was unavoidable bystanders declared. The young men, who live on Guilford street, were going north on Byron street, Mr. Culp was driving his limousine west on Tipton street. An automobile driven by Don Pens was also going up Byron and it is said the young men on the motorcycle were going around the machine.

PROHIBITION RALLY.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 11.—A rally of prohibitionists of DeKalb county will be held in Auburn next Saturday afternoon. Prof. W. O. Baily of the Tri-State college at Angola and the party's candidate for congress, will be present to deliver an address. This is the first meeting of the prohibitionists this fall and the address Saturday will be the opening of the campaign. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house at 2:30 p. m. A good time is assured all those interested in the welfare and general uplift of the community.

ADAIR IN HOME DISTRICT.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 11.—Hon. John A. M. Adair, congressman for this district, and democratic candidate for governor of Indiana, will tour the Eighth district the week of Oct. 2, making a half dozen speeches in each county. According to announcement received today from Frank D. Butler, chairman of the speakers' bureau, Mr. Adair will begin his Eighth district tour in Adams county on Monday, Oct. 2, and will speak during the rest of the week in Wells, Delaware, Madison, Ja yand Randolph, devoting one day to each county.

TWO DEATHS AT MONTPELIER.

Montepelier, Ind., Sept. 11.—One death followed another in quick succession at the home of John Moore in this city this week. Mr. Moore was buried Friday and this morning at 10 o'clock his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Shull, 82, died of paralysis at the Moore home. Mrs. Shull was one of the pioneer residents of the county, coming to Montpelier in 1853. She was the widow of John Shull, former well known Montpelier war veteran. Two children survive, Mrs. John Moore, of this city, and Thomas Shull, of Kansas.

ARGOS MAN SUICIDES.

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 11.—James Davis, of Argos, father-in-law of Postmaster John M. Wickizer, took his life at his home two miles south of Argos. He employed a shot gun to accomplish his purpose. He was a man 74 years of age and had been acting strangely for several weeks, but none of his people realized that he contemplated self-destruction. He lived near his son, Bert Davis, and was still breathing when his son and family arrived at his home. Death followed shortly.

GOES TO COLORADO.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—Rev. F. P. Overmeyer, pastor of the Warsaw Brethren church, has been appointed superintendent of the Colorado district of the church and will move to Colorado Springs within tw weeks. The announcement of Rev. Overmyer's elevation to the superintendency by the general church board, was made before the St. Joseph conference, in session in this city, on Saturday forenoon by Bishop R. H. Fout, of Indianapolis, the presiding officer.

SEEK MAUZY'S RELEASE.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—Another fight to secure the freedom of John Mauzy, who was convicted on a charge of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment from this county on Nov. 6, 1906, will be made when the board of pardons meets for a three day session on Sept. 26. Mauzy's case has been up before the board several times, however, each time it has been turned down. A petition asking for his release was circulated in this city some time ago and there were many signers.

SALOONKEEPER FINED.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 11.—Three thousand dollars damages are asked by Mrs. Clara Imbody, of Garrett, from John Trapp, a soloonkeeper in that city, who, she alleges, has caused her great mental distress, shame and humiliation by unlawfully selling her husband intoxicating liquors causing him to threaten her life and attack her with a knife. The complaint has just been filed with the county clerk.

BADGER ESCAPES.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 11.—The employes at the Lake Erie depot had an exciting time of it Saturday morning when it was discovered that a live badger had broken loose from its cage and was enjoying the freedom of the baggage room. The animal was consigned to J. F. Dawley, residing east of this city, who conducts a "One Man Fair," and arrived Friday by express.

BAPTISTS AT MONTPELIER.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 11.—The Salamonie Association of Baptist churches will be entertained in this city on September 20-21. It is presumed that about 400 members of the various churches in this district will be in attendance. The local Baptist church is being re-frescoed and put in excellent condition and will be in readiness for the entertainment of the visitors.

WILL HAUL CHILDREN.

Newville, Ind., Sept. 11.—Trustee Tustison has closed a contract with Adrian Beree and Wallace Warner to haul the school children from district No. 2 and district No. 6 to the town school, beginning September 11.

PICNIC AT ROME CITY.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 11.—A large number of Elks of this city spent Sunday at Rome City, where they enjoyed a picnic at the Elks' club house.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 11.—Sheriff Gus Skibbie, of Wood county, Ohio, took in custody Stanley Smith, who is wanted there on the charge of burglarizing a store at Bradner, Ohio.

DEATH OF A BABY.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 11.—William, fourteen months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Osborn, is dead at the home of his parents. The funeral services were held this afternoon.

HOW TO GIVE GOOD ADVICE.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

SAYS ARMENIAN RACE FACES DESTRUCTION

Hideous Charges Against Turks Made by Russian Officer.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11—The Armenian race is face to face with destruction.

extermination of unoffending communities, the objects of bitter and ferocious hatred.

The situation is unprecedented in history.

Thousands of Armenians have completely disappeared during this modern campaign of excessive brutality.

Hundreds of young women have been seized as slaves for the Turkish army and for inmates of the Turkish harems.

Suicide among Armenian women is a common occurrence. They prefer death to a more cruel fate.

Such is the dark picture of one phase of the European war drawn by Captain N. Der-Hagopian, an engineer with the Russian army in Armenia. He is in the United States to aid in a campaign for the relief of his distressed people.

From his experience in the campaign of 1915 he relates terrible experiences which befell the Armenians as they were buffeted about by Turkish armies. If such occurrences are allowed to continue, he declares they will become a blot on the civilization of the twentieth century.

"No one civilized will ever forgive the Turks for their abuse of the young women of my country and for sufferings they inflicted on women and little children," he said.

"In one battle we dislodged the Turks from trenches near Bidlis and they retreated to the town ahead of us. As soon as they reached the place they reveled in their fiendish work of looting and massacreing the innocent people. Then after having abducted all the young women for slaves in the army, they burned the city.

"Our forces did not enter the city because of the burning bodies and the stench. From a hill where I watched the city burn the moans of women and children could be distinctly heard.

"On another occasion inhabitants retreating from Bargherry village were attacked by Kurds. Our men repulsed the attack but it was impossible to check the fear of the women. Hundreds of them threw themselves into the river, especially the young women from Van. They plunged into the deep water, preferring death to capture by the Turks and imprisonment in harems. So numerous were the suicides that evening that in one place the stream was black with dark-clothed corpses.

"This is not war. It is the destruction of humanity and civilization."

"DON'T KILL TIME," ADVISES FORMER BELLHOP, NOW A BIG HOTEL MANAGER.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Johnny Calvey was always on the job when he was a bellhop at the Auditorium hotel. He was a ruddy-cheeked lad with a smile in his Irish eyes and everybody liked him.

That was twenty years ago.

Johnny is still hopping around the Auditorium corridors, but he moves with the dignity of a general manager, for he has hopped right into the biggest hotel position in Chicago.

"I think I got here because this is the place I started for," says Calvey, explaining his success. "You will never get anywhere, you know, unless you know where you are going.

"I was never much of a loafer and when they wanted me I was always there. My mother had always told me that when I worked I must work honestly.

"I took a lot of fun with my work, but I wasn't a time-killer.

MOURNED AS DEAD, IS BACK WITH THRILLER

Clarence Peacock Tells of Desperate Encounter With the Sea.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11.—Mourned by his family as dead after his clothing was found on the ocean beach, Clarence Peacock, a mechanic, has returned to his home here with a story of a harrowing adventure at sea.

He went for a swim in the surf, according to his explanation of his absence, and was gripped by an undertow and carried out to sea. For 30 hours he clung to a wooden pile, his body exposed to chilling winds and waves.

Nearly dead and so benumbed he couldn't relax his grip on the pile, he was discovered by the crew of a Swedish vessel and carried on board. Through their ministrations he was brought back to life and landed at Seattle, where he wired his wife that he was alive.

Bruises and lacerations covering his body tend to substantiate his story.

"I guess it wasn't my time to go," said Peacock. "But, believe me, I shall take no more swims in the ocean surf."

Mothers--This Child Was Cured of Bed-Wetting

Mrs. C. W. Peters, Lancaster, Pa., R. 3, writes: "My six-year-old girl has wet the bed since she was a baby. I found no relief until I tried your sample of Foley Kidney Pills. I saw they were helping her, and bought two bottles of my druggist and she is altogether cured. Thanks to Foley Kidney Pills for the benefit I have found in them, as it takes a lot of washing off me. I have told a number of mothers since I found the cure."

Parents no longer scold or punish a child for bed-wetting. Instead, they improve the little one's physical condition, until the annoying and mortifying act is done away with.

A few simple rules aided by the use of Foley Kidney Pills will stop any ordinary case of bed-wetting that is not caused by obstruction or malformation of the parts. They are safe to take and absolutely free of harmful drugs. Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Av., Chicago, will send their leaflet on bed-wetting to any one asking for it.

PRETTY FACE MAKES GIRL THE HIGHEST-SALARIED MODEL IN COUNTRY.

Mae Burns

No foreign prince ever called Mae Burns the prettiest girl in America, but a few years ago she discovered she wasn't altogether bad looking, and decided her face would be her fortune. She posed in a fashion show and hats and frocks she wore became famous. Now she is called the "best fashion model in the country."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

THE POPULAR UNEVEN BRIM

IT'S against the law this season to wear a straight, stiff hat brim. At least that is what first-class milliners are saying. Your hat may have a straight brim with a flopping tendency, or it may have a stiff brim cocked up at the side or the front, but it must not have a straight and stiff brim combined.

An illustration of the unevenness of brims is made in this hat of black velvet. The width of the brim is greater on the left than on the right side, and at the side front it is turned up.

The scantier the trimming the nattier the hat, is the motto of all exclusive milliners. Following this rule, a gray and white bird is the sole trimming of the model shown. Feather ornaments, by the way, are very popular. Wings, bands and motifs of guinea hen and of pheasants are particularly favored. Frequently feathers are pasted in flat motifs, rich in design and decorative in color. Bands and fancies of burnt goods imitating astrakhan fur and cross aigrette are a novelty.

FOR TWO SHADES OF SATIN

IT HAS been taken for granted that satin is the favorite child of Dame Fashion this season. With this proved fact in mind, the artist has sketched a frock that lends itself to two shades of satin most satisfactorily. If you are fond of gray and can wear it, this gown would be as charming a one in that color as you can find. Let the lining, then, be blue, or deep rose or black.

Can't you see sewing machines all over whirring away at work on different interpretations of this frock? It is so makeable that one can scarcely help having a try at it. The skirt is plain, a slightly shirred three-gored model. The blouse uses an odd yoke which humps into a collar effect at the back. Other than this the blouse is quite an ordinary affair. Sleeves too are plain with the exception of the bands which slip thru the slits at the wrist. The lined cascade portions are applied separately after the whole frock is finished. Two slits are picoted in the blouse and in the skirt at each side. Thru these are slipped the lined pieces of silk which are draped slightly to give a soft effect. A girdle of the darker silk slips thru them at the belt and fastens with a buckle in front. If one wishes to make the frock a trifle dressier the blouse could be made of a transparent material like Georgette crepe to match either shade of the satin.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Gasoline Ring

Is there a way to use gasoline without its leaving a ring? Every time I use it there is an ugly ring left. G. D. F.

If you have used gasoline to clean any fabric and find it leaves a ring, hold the cloth over a steaming kettle and the ring may disappear.

Ink Stain

What will take a large ink stain out of a white linen dress? I have tried lemon.

Oxalic acid ought to take it out. Wet the spot with cold water, then drop the acid on the stain, let stand a few minutes and then rinse in water to which a little ammonia has been added.

ABOUT FLOWERS

THERE are some people who are blessed with the gift of arranging flowers artistically. There are others who are not so fortunate. For the latter class, however, many new devices have been invented whereby the most inartistic person can arrange her flowers to display their full beauty.

Very lovely are the Japanese bowls with colorful pebbles and perforated holders into which the smallest bouquet can be tucked and yet look quite elaborate.

The wire frames made to fit over the top of bowls enable one to use flowers of various lengths and also give one an opportunity to combine different flowers, being careful to select the right colors—it is well to suggest the the bowl or vase selected to hold the flowers be of the proper color so that the bouquet and its holder will not clash. Frequently the wire frames cost more than one cares to spend for them. In this case, one can procure wire stands sold to support coffee and teapots for as little as 10 cents.

The sad part about cut flowers is the fact that they fade so quickly. Much can be done, however, to prolong their life. Roses, carnations and orchids have been found to keep for a greater length of time than they ordinarily would if a small quantity of sugar is added to the water. This is taken up and helps to keep the cells of the flowers from collapsing, and thus wilting. A small lump of starch will also have the same effect.

Other flowers begin to bleed as soon as they are cut. The sap which runs out of the stem causes the cells to collapse immediately. To prevent this, the ends of the stems should be closed either by searing them in a flame or dipping them in hot water. The flowers which will stand this treatment are dahlias, heliotrope, nasturtiums and maidenhair ferns.

To prolong the life of carnations and chrysanthemums put fresh water on them daily and slip a small piece from the stems each time the water is changed. While cutting this piece off keep the stem under water so that no air bubbles are allowed to enter the stalk and thus retard the upward flow of water.

To preserve the fragrance of violets they should be placed under a glass globe immediately and no air should be allowed to reach them. To keep a quantity of violets to send away or to use later, tie them in bunches, sprinkle with water and wrap them in a wet newspaper, placing them in a cool spot.

If you ever have occasion to send away large-headed flowers, such as chrysanthemums or peonies, wrap each blossom in waxed paper.

REGARDING SUITS

THERE are a few points that are pushing their way to the top, so far as coat suits are concerned.

The sports suits for early fall wear are made of novelty checks, plaids and stripes, as well as plain fabrics. Suits made of knitted fabrics are especially prominent.

Favor is being shown to long suit coat. A few of them reach to within two or three inches of the skirt hem. Of course these are extreme. The less pretentious ones reach to the knee or slightly below that point.

With the coming of the long coats one naturally expects to see the fitted line emphasized. This is all very well for the older woman, but for the woman who wishes to retain a youthful figure something must be done. In consequence Fashion favors high and low waist lines in coats, and thereby allows plenty of variety of youthful effects.

An outcome of the long coat is the plain skirt. Of course here and there more elaborate ones are shown, but as a rule the first described are more prominent. The tendency is largely for the simple skirt gathered on at the waist line, or out in flare effect or showing the use of pleats.

The use of fur trimming on suits is very noticeable. Many models have the large, draped sailor or cape collar made of fur. Sometimes these collars are lined with the suit material. Other models have collars made of the material and edged with fur bands. Fur buttons are very much in favor.

AT THE PALACE

THE BACHELOR'S REVERIE.

Beautiful Little Fantasy Features Bill at Palace.

With George Phelps and Jack Princeton in the principal roles, Menlo Moore is presenting a beautiful little fantasy, "The Bachelor's Reverie," at the meat course on the New Palace menu for the first four days of the week. The little oddity is simply crammed with amusing comedy and dainty song. A young bachelor sitting in his great easy chair before an open fire dreams of some of his conquests in the love lists. A quartet of his old time sweethearts are conjured out of the past and some pretty little love scenes ensue. Jack Princeton as Bill Bassett, the slangy, accommodating friend, who impersonates a step-mother so that the girls may be properly chaperoned injects some clever comedy into the playlet. The costuming is elaborate and as usual Menlo Moore has found girls so good looking that any bachelor might dream dreams over the memories of his idylls.

Lewis, Belmont and Lewis comprise a well balanced trio of gloom dispellers. They call their skit "After the Matinee" and in it the artists sing a bit, dance a bit and talk a whole lot. One of the men and the girl sing a song about "there being just a little bit of bad in the good little girls" that goes over big. Ameta, the sensational mirror and classical dancer, closes the bill. Ameta is a handsome young woman and is a graceful dancer reviving the almost forgotten skirt dance in a variety of forms. Bessie LaCount is the finished product. The little girl is singing a group of new songs in a new way. Her

HOW LONG IS A LAUGH?

THE TABLEAU AT WHICH AUDIENCES MAKE A "RECORD."

IF you stopped the first ten men you met on a given corner and asked each of them to tell you just how long he took to laugh at a joke in the theatre, the chances are good that the answers would range from four seconds to half an hour.

The last thing a man knows, when he is laughing at a play, is how much time he gives to each laugh. It is, therefore, the easiest thing in the world for him to be deceived about.

But any good stage manager of a good farce can tell you to a split second, and some of the statistics of the stage manager of "Fair and Warmer," Avery Hopwood's tumultuous laughmaker, are as amazing as they are exact.

The average hearty laugh in the theatre lasts nine seconds. That is a goodly roar, too—no puny chuckle. Sometimes even quite successful farces go from curtain to curtain with no laugh over nine seconds. It sounds picayune—but it indicates a very fair degree of enjoyment.

Many successful comedies have merely chuckles all through—those fugitive murmurs that run over an audience like a light wind and are beloved of the actors because they prove that the audience is warm and pleasantly responsive. These chuckles last five or six seconds. If you stop and listen to one, the next time you see a comedy, you'll realize—probably for the first time in your life—what a good laugh can be got into a tiny space of actual time.

But the five-second chuckle and the ten-second laugh are by no means the most astonishing phenomena that the stage manager has for you.

He can give you figures on what the theatre people know, a little inelegantly but aptly, as "the stomach laugh." It runs anywhere from 18 seconds to—get ready for the shock—43 seconds. For the "big laugh" in "Fair and Warmer" runs to 43 seconds, night in and night out, and it is by ten seconds longer than any other laugh the recent farces have created.

How do they time the laughs? It is just the time between the end of the line you laugh at, and the moment when the player begins the next line, and you stop laughing to listen!

It is timed by the stage manager because he has to arrange a little pantomime for the players, in which they wait gracefully while you are laughing! The moment they speak you stop laughing. You are allowed to laugh as long as you will, then the play begins again.

In the prompter's manuscript there are directions for how long the players must wait. That is how the records of long laughs are kept. In the prompter's copy of "Twin Beds," for example, there is a direction for 33 seconds' wait. In "It Pays to Advertise" there were three big laughs in straight succession, which, though the audience would have said it had surely laughed half an hour without stopping, actually totalled up to 60 seconds! Just one minute's time for three terrific outbursts!

The line in "Fair and Warmer" on which they get their 43-second uproar is the seemingly innocent "She said she'd do it, and she did." Perhaps you can find out what it means from the picture.

ing her lament that she isn't a boy, is more than passingly clever.

Dolly and Calame are rapid fire dancers and vocalists who make a nifty appearance and get by easily. Hubert Dyer, the nut of all nuts, opens the show with some rough and tumble absurdities that never fail to score for him.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Great "Kick In" is Offering This Week; Matinee Reception Tuesday.

The new thrill promised Fort Wayne theatergoers, with the announcement that Willard Mack's greatest of all crook plays was to play an engagement in this city, will be experienced at the Temple theater today, when "Kick In" will be the offering of the new stock company. A powerful cast, headed by Miss Anna Bert and Mr. Jack Doty will interpret one of the most powerful and impelling stories of New York's underworld ever seen here.

Ever since it was first announced that "Kick In" was scheduled for presentation here by the Temple Stock company, interest has steadily increased, for everyone is anxious to witness the play which made such a profound impression in New York as to compel it to remain on Broadway, at the Republic theater, for a solid year. It is said that no comedy drama of recent years offers as many excuses for wholesale laughter and wholesome thrills, and he must be a hardened man of the world who could sit through its four engrossing acts without experiencing a tingling sensation along the spine.

Included in the cast are such Metropolitan favorites as the Misses Ann Bert, Claire Maslin, Mae Tipton, Maud Grafton and Mr. Jack Doty, Owen Coil, Maurice Jenkins, Walter Turner, Carl Reed, Chas. Franklyn and other well known portrayers of all that is best in the drama. A matinee reception will follow the performance tomorrow afternoon.

THE IDEAL SEWING DAYS

THESE days are ideal, and the woman who is wise will do her sewing now.

Many women protest at sewing. They declare it does not pay—that in these days of ready-made garments sewing is a waste of time—but sewing does pay, always pays. If it is a lost art, as many women seem to think it is, why is it taught in most schools nowadays, as well as in the fashionable finishing schools? True, in the latter places sewing is more in the line of embroidery, but many a woman in times of stress has turned to good account the sewing and embroidery lessons taught her in the school room.

Every woman should learn to sew and should take a certain pride in that accomplishment. Where children are in the household, being able to sew for them is a godsend to the average mother, and the woman with any taste at all can design little frocks far smarter than any ready-made garment. Furthermore, two of these tiny dresses can be obtained for the price of one bought ready made.

Sewing is just as necessary today as in the days when women spun their linen thread and afterward wove it into cloth, and where money is "an object" the work of making "ends meet" comes less hard on the woman who can sew.

Another excuse women offer for not sewing is that they "haven't time." A large number of women never have any time, simply because they do not manage their work systematically. They are always on the verge of nervous prostration trying to do several things at one time, an impossible feat for a human being.

Arrange your work systematically. Have a time for sewing as well as for cooking and sweeping. Then you will have much more time for everything.

MILADY'S BEAUTY

WHITE spots on the nails are sometimes caused by bruises or the nourishing juices being stopped in some way. Try putting on them at night a paste made from a dram of turpentine and myrrh, mixed, removing in the morning with olive oil.

THE unpleasant odor arising from the hair in summer is due to improper ventilation. The false hair now largely worn is very heating, causing free perspiration and unless frequently aired and shampooed the hair becomes sticky, unmanageable and unpleasantly odorous. Gentle massage is soothing, it stimulates the oil glands, and is best done at night before retiring.

SUPERFLUOUS hair can be removed only by one means—the electric needle. Peroxide and ammonia are used to bleach the hair and by continuous use will lessen their growth, but they never really destroy the hairs as does the electrc needle, which follows each little hair down to the place where it lives and promptly annihilates it.

THIS jelly will be found very afficacious for removing tan and softening the hands: Gum tragacanth, white, 120 grains; water, 14 ounces; glycerin, 1 ounce; tincture of benzoin, 2 drams; borax powder, 120 grams; white rose extract, 4 drams. Macerate the tragacanth in the water until perfectly soft and dissolve the borax in the glycerin. Mix the two solutions, add the tincture and strain through muslin.

EYEBROWS give expression to the face almost as much as the eyes themselves. One can do a great deal to alter and improve the shape of the brows. Daily care will improve the growth and gloss of the brows, and by gentle stroking between the fingers. The fingers should be well moistened with olive oil or vaseline, which also stimulates growth.

THE biggest problem of all to the woman who would keep her good looks is the matter of wrinkles. A generation ago she gave up without a fight, but since the coming of massage and simple devices of all sorts she dare no longer indulge in such disfiguration as long as it may be prevented. One woman's simple cure-all is the cream bath. She dabs her face with hot water until it is heated thoroughly, then applies the cream, fresh from the dairy, letting it dry on her face. She puts on more cream, massaging it into the wrinkles particularly. It is then washed with warm water and lightly powdered.

IN sheer despair women have turned to wigs. They have tortured their hair into so many kinds of shapes demanded by fashion, and they have spent so many wearisome hours doing it, that the wig is a relief from trouble. These are beautifully made of glossy hair on a gauze foundation that has neither weight nor warmth. There is enough hair for it to be arranged in any becoming and leading fashion and one does not have to submit to the annoyance of sitting to have it waved and arranged into an elaborate coiffure.

A SHAPELY and well-cared for hand is a great ornament to a woman, but even if your hand is not beautiful in the first place, you can, by careful attention, make it look almost pretty. Always be careful to wipe your hands absolutely dry after each time you wash them, and always rinse all the soap off. Water is often left in the crevices of the nails, and if soap is left in the water it will cause chapping. Never go out of doors with your hands at all damp. If you have to wash dishes you should have some rubber gloves and use them to protect your hands while doing so. Almond whitener is a splendid hand wash, and you can rub it on your hands after every time you wash them if you wish. Always devote a few moments every day to your nails, rubbing the cuticle back of them, etc. Then, once a week, you should manicure them well; it is a simple thing to do yourself.

IF you cannot go to a professional masseuse, it is well to own one of the massaging cups that can be bought for a small sum and do much to stir up a free circulation and to give exercise to muscles. These are small glass cups with a rubber top. The latter is worked gently and the suction is quickly felt on the flesh. These cups can be profitably used after the face has been well washed and grease rubbed in. Be careful to work it in an upward and outward motion, as otherwise wrinkles will result.

YOUR skin is a sufferer in summer from many causes besides the hot sun. One of the chief sources of discomfort is dust. This is particularly bad if one must live in the city and go back and forth to business in open street cars. Do not attempt to remove this dust with cold water. Carry in your bag a small tube of cleansing cream or a vial of rose water and glycerin mixed. Wipe off the face with either of these cleansers as soon as you come indoors. In this way the pores are not given time to become clogged. If you feel water to be indispensable mop the face with hot water, using a pure cleansing soap. If your skin can stand it a glycerin soap is a good dust remover.

THE beauty of many a woman is completely spoiled by neglect of her hair. If women could only be brought to a realization of what beautiful hair will do for them, we should not see so many greasy, stringy looking heads. There are many small attentions which should be given the hair, but the principal one is washing, and unless shampooing is well, regularly and thoroughly done the damage inflicted cannot be overcome. More than one woman has injured her scalp by not rinsing out all the soap, for instance, and another hers by drying with heat. No matter how pressed for time one may be, or how tired, the scalp and hair should be dried only by rubbing. If there is any reason why this may not be done then postpone the shampoo until it may be properly finished.

FOR the care of the teeth have a good bristle brush, a box of tooth soap, paste and mouth wash and a spool of dental floss, says a writer. A little pumice can be used with the soap once in a while to clean tartar from the teeth. Gold teeth should be cleaned with powder at least once a week. A good mouth wash is listerine or rose water diluted with water. Ordnary baking soda is good to use, especially if the teeth are decayed. By all means have teeth filled as soon as they show signs of decay. A set of bad teeth, even one's own, if properly cared for and patched up, are better than artificial ones. Fine salt and weak vinegar water will cleanse yellow teeth. Medicine stains can be removed with acids. In severe cases dip a pointed stick into muratic acid, rub the stick over the tooth, without touching the gum, and immediatey wash the teeth with soda water. This is not dangerous, but it must be used with great [illegible]

THE WALL OF JEALOUSY

BY GENE A. GARNER.

THE first quarrel my wife and I ever had was when she wanted to give a little musicale in our home and did not name my sisters among the young people she was inviting.

"You have forgotten Mary and Anna," I reminded her.

"No," she said, "I have not for gotten them. But we cannot have them at every affair we give."

"Why not?" I asked. "We have had them at everything so far."

"Yes," Helen acknowledged, "I know we have, and we cannot keep that up always. The longer we defer entertaining without their assistance and presence, the harder it will be to begin. We would have to do so sooner or later anyway."

"But they are always helpful," I argued. "You have often said how nice they are about advising you."

"I have not said they were 'nice' about advising me," she corrected. "I have said they often advise me."

"Well," I suggested, after a moment's thought, "suppose we do as you propose and leave the girls out of this affair and ask mother and father instead."

"That would never do," she explained; "for this is a young people's musicale. There are to be no elderly persons present."

I felt very uncomfortable about the matter and could only hope that my family would not hear of the function.

A few days later when I stopped in, as was my frequent custom, to see my mother, on my way home from business, she asked me bluntly how it happened that we had given a young people's party and left my sisters out.

"They were surprised and hurt," she remarked.

I had felt all along that Helen was making a mistake, yet now I found myself championing her cause and speaking from her viewpoint.

"Why mother," I said, "you see we expect to be invited to every entertainment we give."

"Why not?" she asked, just as I had done in my dispute with my wife.

"Well," I replied lamely, "Helen is a young housekeeper, and naturally she likes to run her own house unassisted—at least, she likes to show that she can do so. And if she has some of my people on hand all the time it looks a bit as if she depended upon them for help and advice, doesn't it?"

"I see," my mother said slowly. "Then Helen resents our desire to help her. The girls and I will try to be more careful in the future. We meant only to be kind."

I decided to talk no more of a painful subject and not mention Helen to my family, nor my family to Helen. I saw that for a while my wife was relieved by this arrangement. And I became uncomfortably aware that my mother and sisters had bored her; that she had social aspirations above theirs, that—as she would have put it—she wanted to live her own life. I also became convinced that she thought I, too, was drifting away from my own people.

I could not stand this and I forced myself to say casually to Helen, one evening, that I had stopped in to see mother, as usual, on my way home from the office. "As usual!" Helen echoed. "You go there just as often as you once did?"

"Certainly," I replied with dignity. "I go to see my mother at least twice a week, as I have always done and always shall do."

"In spite of the fact that she snubs and dislikes your wife?" Helen asked.

"It is not her fault that there is a breach between you and her," I said. "It is not of her making."

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "How can you say such a thing! Just because I showed that I had a mind of my own, and would not be directed and ruled by your mother and sisters, they have let me severely alone. And all this time, when I thought you were on my side, you were [illegible] than you love me that you stand for that kind of thing!"

"Helen!" I chided, "I love nobody better than you!"

"Then stop going to see your people!" she demanded.

I said nothng, but went out of the room and left her alone with her wrath.

Since then I have never again told her when I have been to see my mother or sisters. I know that she knows, and she knows that I know she knows.

Yet the matter is never mentioned by either of us. It stands between us like a stone wall—a wall that can never be removed because it is built of a man's loyalty to his own and of a wife's jealousy of that loyalty.

FROM FASHIONDOM

BY MRS. KINGSLEY.

THE Parisienne are very fond of wearing transparent waterproof coats when motoring on dull days. These coats are charming in a bright shade of sapphire blue; they are also effective in carnation-red, with cuffs and collar of black leather buttons.

Pockets are still ubiquitous. They are introduced at all possible and impossible points of a coat or wrap. Pockets large and pockets small. There are large side pockets, bordered with fur, which are so often seen on tailor-made skirts. These pockets are deep and practical, and since it is the fashion to have one's skirt bunchy at the sides, it is possible to stow away a number of useful things in the side pocket.

The long straight muffler, made of knitted silk or of velvet, is a delightful item of feminine attire. It is immensely becoming and quite inexpensive. They are having these fascinating scarfs made of all sorts of materials, and in the most unexpected colors and combinations of color.

A famous beauty recently appeared in Paris wearing a muffler tie, large flat muff and jaunty toque, all made of checker-board velveteen, black and white. The linings were flamingo-red satin, and there were splendid fringes, black silk, on the tie and muff. At one side of the quaint little toque there was a flamingo-red mount which look- [illegible]

ODDS & ENDS

CUTTING a soft corn requires dexterity, for in formation it is not unlike a tough blister. Unfortunately, while it may be loosened around the edges, which detaches it almost entirely, it is held in the center by a growth that goes into the foot, and to get this out without causing blood to flow and making soreness is almost impossible. Before cutting the foot must be soaked to make the skin soft. Then a flat orangewood stick, sometimes a better implement than a knife, must be used. Trimming must be done as soon as the growth begins to form again.

THE use of a hot-water bag is occasionally unsatisfactory when a wet application is required, and the continued use of wet hot cloths, thus allowng cool air to reach the patient during the change, is not beneficial. Apply a hot wet cloth that is laid in many folds; upon this lay the bag of hot water and it will maintain a regular warmth for two or three hours. Sometmes it is well to wring the cloths from strong salt or mustard water.

EXTREMELY handsome-looking cushions for porch and summer use can be made from monk's cloth, as it is called. It is a fabric that is between common burlap and the more expensive craftsman's canvas. It is not so harsh in texture as the latter and a little more closely woven than the former. It comes in staple colorings and the usual decoration is a design cut from cretonne that is sewn to the cloth with a couching stitch. A black cord makes a most effective outline. The cloth is fifty inches wide and costs 69 cents a yard.

DAINTY alms bags can be made at little cost by any girl who knows how to crochet. For a fairly good-sized motif in Irish crochet must be purchased and then a paper pattern of the bag cut. Its shape is usually straight across the top and rounded on the bottom. The motif is basted down on the paper in the center and picot stitch is used until the paper is covered. A piece the same size is worked for the back of the bag and may be entirely in picot stitch. The two pieces are sewed together, leaving an opening at the top and all edges are finished with a narrow crochet lace. The bag should be lined with soft silk in a delicate shade and ribbons for drawing up will be run through an inch or so below the top.

EXERCISE that will reduce the hips must be performed regularly every day, night and morning for at least ten minutes, and preferably fifteen. They must also be done so that cords and muscles about the wrist are pulled and stretched; otherwise they will be useless. After all tight garments have been removed one may sit astride a chair, facing the back and holding firmly by the hands. The body is then twisted, first one way and then the other, as far as it can be without moving in the seat at all. Any change in the seat will make the exercise worthless. After that one may lie flat on the back and raise first one foot and then the other as high as can be done so that the pull is felt from the [illegible] large circular piece of velvet gathered into a narrow band which fits the head tightly. At the close of the Biarritz summer season these large berets, in black or dark blue velvet, were immensely popular. The pretty Spaniards wore them with pure white costumes at all hours of the day.

When the Tam-o'-Shanter is correctly worn, slightly on the side of the head, it is very becoming. And it is the easiest thing possible to make. The large circle of velvet must be lined with thick soft silk to keep it in shape, [illegible]

FORT WAYNE LOSES HARD FOUGHT GAME

Delphos Team Puts Over the Winning Run in the Twelfth Inning.

In probably the best as well as the most exciting baseball game that has been seen at League park this season, the Fort Wayne City team was defeated in the twelfth inning Sunday by the fast Delphos, O., aggregation. The score was 4 to 2.

The visitors were headed by "Dummy" Kihm, a former leaguer, and at one time a Fort Wayne player. The home team scored twice in the fifth inning and that was all. The scores came after the visitors had put one over. In the ninth Delphos scored again, tieing the score. In the twelfth inning two more scores were registered by the visitors. Fort Wayne was unable to score in its half of the inning.

Both Distel, for the locals, and Dittoe, a southpaw, for the visitors, pitched great ball. The official score was as follows:

M'CULLOCH LEADS FOR BENSON TROPHY

Championship of the Country Club is at Stake—News of the Links.

Fred H. McCulloch, winner of the Kekionga tournament, led the field of sixteen qualifiers in the opening play of the annual Benson golf tournament on the Country club links Saturday afternoon.

The eighteen-hole totals of those who qualified follow: F. H. McCulloch, 88; A. S. Bond, 90; William Ralston, 91; H. W. Lang, 93; E. G. Hoffman, 96; J. C. Hoffman, 97; H. J. Miller, 99; Ward Wilt, 99; W. H. W. Peltier, 100; B. P. Mossman, 100; S. C. Bond, 100; J. E. Bond, 101; A. E. Smith, 102; J. M. Barrett, 103; F. I. Brown, 103.

The first round matches which will be waged over the eighteen-hole route will be played next Saturday, and the pairings follow: F. H. McCulloch vs. W. H. W. Peltier, A. S. Bond vs. B. P. Mossman, William Ralston vs. S. C. Bond, W. H. Lang vs. J. E. Bond, E. G. Hoffman vs. A. E. Smith, J. C. Hoffman vs. Charles Lang, H. J. Miller vs. J. M. Barrett, Ward Wilt vs. F. I. Brown.

Two More Contests.

Two more contests in the northern Indiana series are scheduled for the golf team representing the Country club. On Wednesday of next week the local team will play Logansport on the local links. The final match will be played with Huntington. Fort Wayne has a fair chance for the championship.

Writes Evans Not to Come.

Fred H. McCulloch, chairman of the golf committee at the Country club, has written Chick Evans, the new amateur golf champion of the United States, who was to have visited here this month, not to come. The new links are being put in and the present links are badly cut up. Plans are under way to have Evans visit Fort Wayne next summer.

WESTERN GAS TAKES FIRST OF BIG SERIES

Team Work of Champs Puts Them on Long End of 3 to 2 Score.

The Western Gas team, champions of the Fort Wayne industrial league, defended its title by winning the first of a post-season series from the Hillinger All-Stars Saturday afternoon at League park. The teamwork of the champs put them on the long end of the 3 to 2 score. The twirling of Smith for the Gasmen and Grimes for the All-Stars featured the game, which was close throughout, the winning run being the result of an error.

The second game of the series will be played next Saturday and the chances are that the All-Stars will make it one game apiece. The score in Saturday's game was as follows:

All-Stars	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—	2	6	2

Batteries—Smith and Heine; Grimes and Laible.

Ty Cobb is gaining weight with advancing years. At the close of the season he will have his tonsils removed.

George Sisler has never been fired from a big league game. Neither have the Chinese ball players now touring the United States been ejected for using unbecoming language to the umpires.

Mathematically the Browns still have a chance—showing how figures lie.

With winter coming on, Clark Griffith is about due to claim a pennant and Willie Hoppe to win another cue title.

Ban Johnson is said to have the softest job in baseball, but he hasn't a thing on the umpires who patrol the foul lines in a world series.

One of the most commendable features of Freddie Welsh's championship fights is the fearlessness with which referees defend Freddie Welsh's title.

Some ball players consider it unlucky to be presented with a loving cup. Others say it is more unlucky to be presented with a can.

Reports from Dixie indicate that floods have queered the schedule of the South Atlantic league. This is the same section, we believe, that is called the sunny south.

Sprinter Howard Drew is said to be through. Another fast black that faded.

The Merion cricket club provided two golf courses for contestants in the amateur title tournament. One gave the women a chance to indulge in golf chatter.

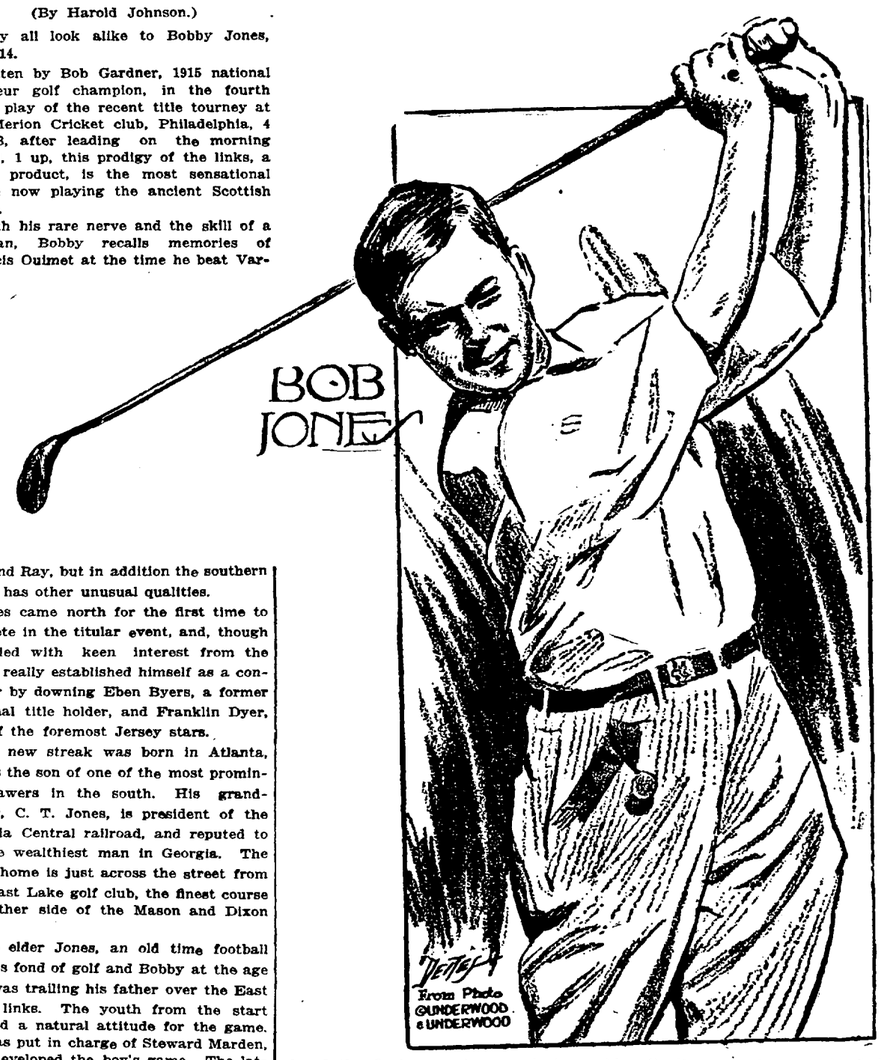
NERVE MAKES BOB JONES, 14, SENSATION OF GOLF SEASON.

(By Harold Johnson.)

They all look alike to Bobby Jones, aged 14.

Beaten by Bob Gardner, 1915 national amateur golf champion, in the fourth day's play of the recent title tourney at the Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia, 4 and 3, after leading on the morning round, 1 up, this prodigy of the links, a Dixie product, is the most sensational figure now playing the ancient Scottish game.

With his rare nerve and the skill of a veteran, Bobby recalls memories of Francis Ouimet at the time he beat Vardon and Ray, but in addition the southern youth has other unusual qualities.



Jones came north for the first time to compete in the titular event, and, though regarded with keen interest from the start, really established himself as a contender by downing Eben Byers, a former national title holder, and Franklin Dyer, one of the foremost Jersey stars.

The new streak was born in Atlanta, and is the son of one of the most prominent lawers in the south. His grandfather, C. T. Jones, is president of the Georgia Central railroad, and reputed to be the wealthiest man in Georgia. The boy's home is just across the street from the East Lake golf club, the finest course the other side of the Mason and Dixon line.

The elder Jones, an old time football star, is fond of golf and Bobby at the age of 5 was trailing his father over the East Lake links. The youth from the start showed a natural attitude for the game. He was put in charge of Steward Marden, who developed the boy's game. The latter won the Georgia state title this year. In the finals he ripped off 17 holes in 64 strokes.

In another championship at Birmingham he scored a 70 and 69 in the final round. At Knoxville for still another title, Bobby played the finals in a heavy rainstorm, but still got a 77.

Jones is a husky lad who looks considerably older than 14. His golf is far from being freaky. There are few in the game who can outdrive him. His iron shots are splendid, especially recoveries from trouble. On the green Jones wastes but few puts.

Unlike most golfers, Bobby doesn't get unnerved after making a poor shot. Between strokes he likes to twist a club in his hand like the habit of swinging a cane.

WHEELING TO CONTEST AWARDING OF PENNANT

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 11—The awarding of the pennant to Springfield for winning the last half of the season in the Central league will be contested by the Wheeling club, according to an announcement made here last night. C. S. Shriver, business manager of the local club, said that if Springfield and Dayton, winner for the first half of the season, make an effort to play a post-season series for the championship, application for an injunction to prevent the games will be made. He said that the local club has asked for a meeting of the board of directors of the league on Tuesday, at which time Wheeling's claims will be presented and if necessary an appeal will be made to the national commission.

The protest results from the action of President E. W. Dickerson, who forfeited two games won by Wheeling from South Bend on Aug. 13, because of alleged violation of the rules, causing Wheeling to drop from first to third place.

AITKEN TAKES THREE RACES.

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—John Aitken, piloting a Peugeot, won all three of the events of the harvest auto racing classic Saturday. He drove the last eight miles of the 100 mile event with a broken steering arm. The time was 1:07:05.04, an average of 89.44 miles an hour. In the fifty mile event Hughes was less than the length of a car behind Aitken at the finish. The time was 32:40:61, an average of 91.81 miles an hour. The best time was made in the twenty mile event. The average speed in that was 95.08 miles, with the time 12:37:35.

MAY BATTLE HERE FOR STATE 133-LB. TITLE

Arrangements are being made by Geo. Biemer, matchmaker of the Summit City Athletic club, to stage the battle for the lightweight championship of the state in this city. Hal Stewart, of this city, and Milburn Saylor, of Indianapolis, will meet and the date will probably be Friday, Sept. 22.

Stewart has been working at manual labor this summer and as a result is in the best of trim. He and Saylor have met before without settling the dispute, and both are anxious to exchange taps again, which spirit generally leads to a classy show.

FEARED LITTLE MAN WOULD WALLOP HIM

Diminutive Barber Had Threatened to Break His Neighbor's Bones.

Edward Ewald Haak, barber, 35, is a little over four feet tall and weighs 120 pounds. Jacob Reidert, 30, is near six feet and weighs 175 pounds. Haak said he was going to break all of Reidert's bones, one day last week, in the heat of an argument and Riedert hurried to tell the police.

The case in which surety of the peace was asked against Haak in police court, Monday morning, was continued indefinitely. Haak said he did not tell that he would break all of Riedert's bones, but only that he would beat up on him.

Haak stays in the home of Riedert's mother at 615 Wagner street. Several years ago when the woman's husband died Haak feared she would do violence to herself and he took a revolver from her. The revolver was kept in his room. Riedert feared that Haak would use this gun on him, it was shown. The weapon has since been given up by Haak.

Wept When Fined.

Walter Brouwer, 17, son of G. P. Brouwer, grocer at 2519 Lantz avenue, was fined $5 and costs because he allowed his little automobile to stand near the transfer corner Saturday night with no lights. He broke into tears when told that he must obtain $15 with which to pay his fine.

Will Change Methods.

Edward Skelton, 45, will do the arrasting first next time he says since he was fined $10 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge. He struck Ralph Lehrman, 1227 Huron street, Saturday night after Lehrman had bumped into him. Skelton says he was leading a blind man and Lehrman pushed him off the walk. Skelton hit Lehrman.

"I started away and they arrested me. That's what I get. Next time I will hunt up the policeman first," Skelton complained.

Negro Couples Sentenced.

Ernest Merritt and Beatrice Wood, both colored, taken from a house at 127 Eureka street, and Arthur Ross and Arzane Walker, also colored, removed by police from a room at 230 North Calhoun street, were each fined $15 and costs and sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail on a charge of associating. They were arrested early Monday morning. They all pleaded guilty to the associating charge.

Other Police Court Cases.

Three men found in a drunken condition on Sunday were all fined $5 and costs. They were William Frazier of Garrett, George Driftmeyer of Marion and Edward Saylor. Others arrested on drunk charges who were released were Dan O'Connel, John Noonan and Owen Webb.

Lee Walsh and George House, of Toledo, arrested on a loitering charge, were allowed to leave town.

HANDY MAN STOPS TEN FAMILY FIGHTS

Ten family fights were quieted by W. M. Clutter, humane officer, and the handiest man in the county for bringing peace to both man and beast, in the months of July and August. Report of the officer also shows that he warned ten wayward fathers to go home and look after their neglected children.

Clutter gave severe lectures to two wife beaters, he adminstered scathing rebukes to two husbands who neglected their sick wives and he forced ten men to buy fly nets for their horses. Two men were warned for mistreating dogs and two were ordered to take better care of their chickens, the report tells along with a hundred other things by way of making the world better that the humane society carried out.

BROODS OVER WIFE'S DEATH; KILLS HIMSELF

Rochester, Ind., Sept. 11—Brooding over the recent death of his wife, James Davis, an aged and wealthy farmer residing north of this city, committed suicide Saturday with a shotgun. He was the father-in-law of John Wickizer, postmaster of Argos.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 11.—Despondent because his wife had filed suit for divorce, William Quinn Evans, 30 years old, committed suicide at the home of his mother, Mrs. Belle Evans, by swallowing poison. His mother entered his bedroom as he placed a bottle to his lips and, with the remark, "This will end it all," poured the contents down his throat. Miss Daisy Evans, a nurse in the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis, is a surviving sister.

HENRY FAHLSING HURT.

Henry Fahlsing, who is employed as assembler at the General Electric works, was seriously injured Sunday evening two miles out of Lima. While driving his machine it was struck by a passing Ford and the young man was thrown from his seat into the ditch, where he lay unconscious for a while. He was picked up by a passing machine, brought to Fort Wayne and taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where his wounds were dressed.

FATHER'S NAME WAS FORGED; BOY IN JAIL

Woodburn Boy Purchased Ford Auto With Money Secured on Paper.

Harry Neuenschwander, 22, son of Jeff. Neuenschwander, a well-known hardware merchant of Woodburn, who is alleged to have forbed his father's name to a note for $325 with which he could buy a Ford auto, spent Sunday night in the Allen county jail.

Neuenschwander had been making frequent trips between Woodburn and Fort Wayne. The "bright lights" were attractive. The young man finally appeared at the Woodburn state bank with a note bearing his father's signature. The cashier of the bank accepted the note, knowing the boy. The money was obtained and the car purchased.

The parent later declared to the bank that he had not signed the note. The boy was gone. He went to Defiance, O., and later wrote to friends from that point that he was returning, and would collect some money. Instead, it was learned that the boy was coming to Woodburn and not "going out into the world," as he had intimated previously from Defiance, and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux met him at the train, placing him under arrest.

Miss Emma Heinzeiman went to Chicago Monday, where she will enter into

Mayor Hosey is Preparing Foreword for Seventh Annual Booklet.

Mayor Hosey is busily engaged in writing the preface for the seventh annual report of the city waterworks and lighting department, which is soon to be presented to the public in booklet form. Copy for the report will go to the press by Wednesday and should be distributed in less than two weeks.

The mayor in his carefully written preface asks the public to study the report with more than passing interest. He calls attention to several of the figures presented. One of the points he emphasizes is the fact that the net earnings of the big plant for 1915 were $92,012.49 after setting aside $27,883.39 for a special fund and meeting all other expenses.

Capacity of the city light plant is told about in one paragraph. There is ample power on hand to operate many more industries and for several years all demands of the city will be cared for without adding to the present power plant equipment. At the heaviest period, which was in the evening, near Christmas, last year, capacity of the plant was not taxed to half of its power.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT.

Will Discuss Proposed Jitney Ordinance and Annexation.

Annexation of four square miles of territory and the framing of a permanent jitney ordinance will be subjects of discussion before the city council, meeting as a committee of the whole, Monday night.

The last taxi code, presented by the Federation of Labor, is expected to be chosen for the city law. It provides for a bond for jitneys of $1,000. City Attorney Colerick will discuss the validity of of the measure before the councilmen.

Report of the annexation committee is expected to be accepted without a dissenting vote. Councilman Smith has not concurred with the other three men on the report, however, as he thinks too much of the rolling mill district is to be taken in.

WELCOMES THE CHANCE TO GIVE ACCOUNTING

Stotsenburg Defends Financial Record of Indiana Democracy.

Greencastle, Ind., Sept. 11.—Declaring that James P. Goodrich, republican candidate for governor, "has been made the victim of some political acrobat," Attorney General Stotsenburg Saturday delivered here the state administration's answer to republican charges of extravagance. Goodrich's first speech relating to state finances was made here.

Referring to the charge of Goodrich that expenditures during Gov. Marshall's term exceeded those of Hanly's term by $1,254,290.08 per annum, Stotsenburg said this expenditure was necessary "to correct as far as possible the parsimonious policy of the republicans toward the schools and institutions of the state."

Answering the charge that Gov. Ralston's administration has spent annually $3,733,476.40, Stotsenburg said "it was spent to correct evils of which the republican party was guilty." He declared more than $2,000,000 went to the common schools, nearly $1,500,000 to the higher educational institutions, more than $2,000,000 to constructing new institutions, $250,000 to keeping factory and trade schools and $1,000,000 to counties for highways. More than $2,500,000 went to pay republican state debts, he said, and he outlined other large expenditures which he declared ligitimate.

"The democratic party is not ashamed of one of these expenditures," said Stotsenburg, and he added that much of the money was spent by non-partisan boards. "And at the end of the fiscal year there was more than $1,000,000 in the state treasury and all current bills paid," he said.

"Since 1910 the democratic party has been in complete control of the government of the state in all its branches, and it is prepared to answer to the people for its stewardship, Stotsenburg said. "As for myself, I welcome the opportunity this campaign gives my party to make an accounting to the people.

MAKES PLEA BEFORE MINISTERS OF CITY

Field Representative of Jewish Mission Asks for Their Co-Operation.

Mrs. Myra Boyington Grupe, field representative for the Williamsburg mission to the Jews, Brooklyn, N. Y., appeared before the Fort Wayne Ministerial association at its meeting held Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church.

She will be in Fort Wayne several weeks, speaking before young people's societies, church organizations and others interested in bettering the condition of the Jews, a great part of whom reside in New York state. One-tenth of the Jews of the world reside in New York city, the speaker said.

The Williamsburg mission to the Jews carries on its work among 400,000 Jews in Brooklyn. Rev. Leopold Cohn, general superintendent of the mission, was formerly a rabbi. He will come to Fort Wayne later to speak before stated meetings. The Williamsburg mission to the Jews is a missionary society of the state of New York promulgating the gospel among the Jews of Greater New York, Mrs. Grupe says.

Each person making a gift or pledge of $1 for the work will receive the monthly paper, "The Chosen People." It is a Jewish missionary paper.

INTERNED GERMANS COME AS STOWAWAYS

New York, Sept. 11.—Four German sailors from the German steamer Belgrano, tied up in the harbor of Corunna, Spain, since the beginning of the war, arrived here today as stowaways on the Spenish steamer Antonio Lopez from Cadiz and Barcelona. The men carried a letter to the German consul general here and said they had come to the United States in hopes of getting work.

At Gibraltar the steamer was stopped by the British authorities and subjected to a six-hour search, but the stowaways were not discovered. They were sent to Ellis island for further examination.

SPECIAL SUFFRAGE TRAIN FOR HUGHES

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Word was received here today that the women's trans-continental suffrage special train, carrying a score of well known women speakers which is to make a coast to coast tour of the country in the interest of Hughes and Fairbanks, will arrive in Chicago from New York city and leave that night for the west.

T. H. Brown, of Columbus, Ohio, chairman of the department of college leagues, has been appointed to take charge of the organization work among universities and colleges in Ohio and will enter upon his work at once.

A clinic will be conducted by Drs. M. [illegible] and M. [illegible] at the

THE DEATHS.

SHAW.

Mrs. Martha Jane Shaw, widow of Charles Shaw, died Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence, 842 Huffman street, at the age of 61 years. Death followed a very brief illness and was due to apoplexy. She was stricken at 6 o'clock and her condition grew critical at once. She was born in Mt. Vernon, O., but had resided in Fort Wayne for the last thirty years. She was a member of the Pythian sisters and was affiliated with the various auxiliary organizations. She was also a member of the Daughters of Workmen. Surviving she leaves the following children: Mrs. W. R. Benediet, of Minneapolis; Mrs. Otto F. Strodel, Benjamin R. and Mrs. Anna Majors, all of Fort Wayne. One brother, Benjamin Fowler, of Toledo, and four grandchildren also survive her. Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Otto F. Strodel, 655 West Third street. Interment at Lindenwood.

SINGLETON.

John P. Singleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Singleton, of 236 Douglas avenue, was found dead on the front porch of the residence early Sunday morning. He was fifty-five years of age. Coroner McArdle was called and found that death was due to heart trouble. The deceased had been ailing for several days but felt well enough Saturday to go up town. In the evening when he returned it is thought that he was stricken with a heart attack. He seated himself on the porch of the family home and when his father came to his side a few hours later he found that his son was dead. The deceased was born and reared in Fort Wayne and was well known here. He was educated in the parochial schools of the Cathedral and learned the machinist's trade at the Pennsylvania. The parents and a sister, Miss Mary Singleton, survive. Funeral services Tuesday morning at 9:15 o'clock at the residence and at 9:45 at the Cathedral. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

JOHNSON.

The lifeless body of Mrs. Hattie Johnson, aged 55 years, was found Sunday morning at 6:45 o'clock in her bed at the Canon rooming house, 721 Barr street. Coroner J. E. McArdle, who was summoned, found that death was due to heart trouble and that it had occurred several hours before. Mrs. Johnson slept with Mrs. Canon, and when the latter arose earlier in the morning she thought Mrs. Johnson was still asleep. She was horrified to learn later that she had been sleeping with a dead woman by her side. Mrs. Johnson returned to this city from Seattle, Wash., some time ago. The body has been removed to Schone & Ankenbruck parlors where it will be held while an effort is being made to locate relatives.

MAILAND.

Henry Mailand, aged forty-five years, died Saturday evening at the home of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Mailand, of Adams county. Death followed an illness of two years due to cancer. The mother and the following brothers and sisters survive: William, Christian, Louis, Charles, Frederick, and Theodore Mailand and Mrs. Droege and Mrs. Zwick.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock (sun time) at the residence and at 2 o'clock at St. John's Lutheran church at Bingen, Rev. Bishoff officiating.

DINKO.

Toma Dinko, a laborer employed at the Pennsylvania shops, died Saturday evening at Hope hospital following an illness of three weeks. He was forty-five years of age. He had resided at 549 Hugh street and is survived by the widow and three children. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

STARK.

Mrs. Joseph Stark, aged twenty-three years of age, formerly Miss Chloe C. Campbell, died Saturday at 5:30 o'clock. She was born in Adams county but had resided here for several years. She is survived by the husband, the parents and two children, Glen and Esther Geraldine.

WIESENBERG.

Marjorie Louise Wiesenberg, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wiesenberg, of 607 Madison street, died Sunday afternoon at the Lutheran hospital. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon. Burial at Concordia.

KLINGERBERGER.

The one-day-old child of Mr. and Mrs. F. Klingenberger, 1412 Weisser Park avenue, died at the family home Saturday afternoon. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

DUNEBARGER.

Mrs. Mary Dunebarger, aged thirty-years, of Auburn, died Saturday afternoon at a local hospital. Death followed an illness due to peritonitis. The remains were sent to Auburn for burial.

REYHER.

E. C. Reyher, a member of the Shrine band of Fort Wayne, died Saturday at his home in Orland. He was well known in Fort Wayne Masonic circles. Burial took place Sunday at Garrett.

AKERS.

William C. Akers, aged thirty-one years, died Sunday at the I. S. F. M. Y., where he had been an inmate. The body was sent to Beick Creek for burial.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Van Sweringen—The funeral services of Budd E. Van Sweringen will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of his parents, 208 Washington boulevard west, Rev. C. Claud Travis and Rev. Hartman officiating. Interment at Lindenwood. The pall bearers will be George Van Sweringen, Frank Van Sweringen,

CLINE WILL VISIT DISTRICT PARTY MEN

Congressman Will Not Make Speaking Tour But One of Visitation.

Cyrus Cline, Twelfth district congressman, will make a tour of the district, starting Tuesday. It will not be a speaking tour, but the congressman will stop in many of the principal cities and call among party workers and organizers. His complete schedule has not been announced.

Martin H. Lueke states that he has absolute assurance from Frank P. Butler, chairman of the state democratic speakers' bureau, and Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the national democratic speakers' bureau that Thomas R. Marshall, vice president, will speak in Fort Wayne on the night of November 4. Mr. Marshall will not make any other speeches in the district during the campaign, however. Absolute certainty of the vice president coming is contained in telegrams received by Mr. Lueke.

Arrangements are being made for large delegations from the Twelfth district to attend the Marshall notification ceremonies which will be held in Indianapolis, Thursday. Two special cars will convey democrats from Columbia City, and a delegation is going from Noble county. A committee consisting of Stephen Callahan, Albert Black and others is making arrangements for the trip from Fort Wayne of party workers and a special rate of $3.40 has been obtained over the traction line.

SHOOTING IN STRIKE CLASH AT YORKTOWN

Battle is Precipitated on Labor War at Skillen Glass Factory.

Yorktown, Ind., Sept. 11.—Strikers and strike-breakers at the Goodin-Skillen glass factory here clashed today. Paul Estes, 26, a striker, was shot in the abdomen.

Walter Said, a strike-breaker, was detained after the shooting of Paul Estes, charged with assault and battery and carrying concealed weagons. Estes' condition is said to be serious. His brother, Robert Estes, lost the end of one finger when he was shot. Many bullets were exchanged in the clash.

A number of affadivits have been filed against persons on both sides of the controversy. The strikers say they simply asked the men entering the factory not to work there. The strike-breakers say they did not draw their weapons until they had been attacked. The strike began last Thursday when demands of the employes of the glass factory for increased wages were denied.

ATTORNEY'S REPLIES ANGER JUDGE LANDIS

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11.—James Ward, formerly attorney for Edward W. Morrison, who has come into possession f $2,000,000 of the aged man's fortune, has been paid $51,000 to date for fighting a $90,000 judgment obtained against Morrison, was the testimony of Attorney Houlihan, representing the receiver in Judge Landis' court today, when the investigation into Morrison's tangled financial affars was resumed. Judge Landis also questioned Ward further as to his accounts with Morrison. Ward's answers were so long and apparently evasive that the judge became angered.

"Look here," the court commanded. "I don't purpose fussing with you. I am tired of your endless explanations. Answer the questions as they are asked."

FORD DECLINES TO RETRACT.

Answer in Libel Suit Says He Had Reason to Believe 'Em True.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Henry Ford through counsel filed in the District of Columbia supreme court today his answer to the $100,000 libel suit brought against him by the Navy League of the United States on account of newspaper advertisement impugning the motives of the league and its officers in their preparedness propaganda. Mr. Ford does not retract the statements complained of, but declares he had reason to believe they were true and that they had been published broadcast throughout the country and made often in congress without bringing a denial from the league so far as he knew.

TO GIVE DELEGATES A LUNCHEON

General Electric Invites Visitors to Feast in New Building Wednesday.

The local General Electric company officials will be hosts at a luncheon to be given the delegates to the Indiana Electric Light association's convention next Wednesday, beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The arrangements, which are in the hands of Salesmanager A. A. Serva, are now under way. The luncheon will be served in the second story of the new building on the north side of Wall street, which is being decorated by men from the Wolf & Dessauer store. E. F. Keller, of the Country club, will be the caterer and it is expected there will be upwards of 150 covers. After the luncheon the delegates will be escorted through the big works on Broadway by General Manager F. S. Hunting, Factory Manager J. J. Wood, Factory Superintendent E. A. Barnes and Salesmanager A. A. Serva. The convention of the Indiana Electric Light association is held annually and its membership is composed of the owners and managers of the electric lighting plants of the state. The meeting, which is to be held in Fort Wayne this year, commences tomorrow morning and continues until Thursday night.

MACHINISTS AT PLAY.

Dynamo Assemblers Had Picnic on Busse Farm, Sunday.

Upwards of thirty men in the dynamo assembling room of the General Electric works, William H. Schultz, foreman, enjoyed an outing on the Busse farm, five and a half miles out on the Leesburg road, yesterday. They went to the grove on one of the company's big electric trucks and the trip to and from the grounds was one of the enjoyable features of the day. Arrangements were effected with Mrs. Busse for a dinner, in which chicken, fresh meats and hams figured conspicuously because of their excellence and abundance. Dinner was served on tables erected in the grove. Among the sports were a ball game between a picked club from among the shopmen, with W. A. Rufner captain, and the Hadley team, August Bussee, captain. Nobody knows which club made the most scores, the count being so large that the fellow keeping it became tired and quit. Kenneth Wells and Harry Cashdollar won in pitching horse shoes; Charles Hoskin and W. A. Rufner were the champion euchre players; William Lacey won the 100-yard dash, time, 11 seconds, and William Schultz and August Kayser were a tie in the twenty-five-yard dash. Only one accident occurred to mar the pleasure of the day, and it was not serious. While making a run for the ball in the ball game, Frank Starke tripped up in the weeds, rolled into a ditch and sprained one of his wrists and cut and bruised his face.

FIREMEN HAVE GREAT TIME.

Saturday's Outing Was Best the Boys Ever Had.

"The best time we ever had," is the way a number of the volunteer fire company of the General Electric works, expressed his opinion of the all day outing on the Turflinger farm of the firemen Saturday. The men went to the grove in automobiles and commenced activities as soon as they arrived there. The athletic program included a ball game between teams composed of No. 3 hood and ladder company, Cash Lutz, captain, and hose company, No. 1, with Jim Sivits, captain. Chief William Wurtle was umpire and his decisions were said to be perfect. At least there was no objection to any of them. The score was 27 to 24 in favor of the No. 3 boys. In the horse shoe contests William Weik and Edward Holmes were the winners, while William Bracht, chief engineer of the plant, defeated G. W. Obenchain, foreman of the small motor assembling room, in a 100 yard foot race. Luncheon was served between the events in addition to the two square meals set before the boys at noon and in the evening. Honor guests at the picnic were Factory Superintendent E. A. Barnes, Dr. Fred J. Schulz and Employment Agent W. F. Melching.

IN THE CHURCHES

FIVE CHILDREN OF C. T. DAVID BAPTIZED

Greek Orthodox Priest of Grand Rapids Conducts Services Here.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the five children of Cusma T. David, 928 Barr street, were baptized by Father Phillip Abossley, of St. George's Greek Orthodox church, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who has been in Fort Wayne for the past two weeks. The services were held at Mr. David's residence and nearly 150 Syrians of Fort Wayne were in attendance.

The children who were baptized were Marguerite, aged 8 years; Esther, 6; Hazel, 4; Amelia, 3, and Alexandria, 1 year. The boy's godfather and godmother were N. Ziton, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Sallem Ginrin, of South Bend.

Father Abossley said mass at the David residence, Sunday morning, and also a week ago Sunday. He will remain in Fort Wayne the entire week as there are four or five more children who will be baptized.

The venerable priest, who has been in the United States for the past nine years, is highly educated and has spent his entire life as a devout worker in the church.

Although there was a rumor several months ago that the Syrians were to establish a church and congregation in Fort Wayne, nothing has been done up to the present time. It has been found that there are not enough Syrians in the city to support a church.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 11.—Reading was the only striking exception to the rising tendency on the resumption of trading today, other leaders and speculative favorites mounting above last week's final quotations. Reading's reversal of 2½ points was soon largely recovered, while coppers, independent steels, equipments and the paper issues registered gains extending from fractions to three points. United States Steel opened with 10,000 shares up to 103½, or within a fraction of its maximum attained last Saturday. Shipping shares were represented by Marine preferred and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, the latter at a new record.

Apart from enormous trading which exceeded 700,000 shares, the feature of the forenoon was the absolute neglect and relative heaviness of rails. Reading was the only issue of that group to show any prominence, even under pressure, other investment issues being engulfed in the bewildering movement of speculation in other parts of the list. Minor stocks of the non-dividend class participated in the rise but steel, which repeated its record price of 103⅞, and Marine preferred, which broke all records at 125⅞, were the conspicuous features. Metals, Mexicans and some equipments and munitions were two to three points higher. Bonds were irregular.

OLD STAVE FACTORY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Land Mark, Gutted by Flames, Once an Industrial Center of City.

Clanging fire bells, which broke the stillness Sunday evening at 9:15 o'clock, told that the old one-story brick structure at the corner of Fairfield avenue and Greeley street, once a part of the bustling stave industry of the city and where many men were employed, was wrapped in flames. When firemen arrived the blaze was well under way and the roof and most of the framework of inside the structure was destroyed.

Charles Baker, a painter, who had occupied the building as a bunk house, had just gone to bed when he looked from the window and saw the crimson glow of the burning roof. Hastily pulling on his trousers he ran from the place and had the fire call sent in from a neighboring house. He lost all his personal effects. The fire is supposed to have started in the roof. William Maxwell, owner of the building, is in California.

tions newly won by the French on the Somme front. The war office says they were repulsed each time with heavy losses.

The official report says the Germans employed burning liquid in making their attacks. The fighting occurred south of the Somme, from Berny to the region south of Chaulnes.

The Italian government has decided to adopt a blacklist system in principle, according to a Rome dispatch to the Matin. The dispatch says that the lists already drawn up by France and England will be used with whatever other additional names the Italian government may decide upon.

NOW RUSHED TO SALONIKI.

Russian Troops Nearly All Moved From French Front, Says Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via Sayville.)—The Overseas news agency says it is reported from Swiss headquarters that with the exception of one division, all the Russian troops which were sent to the French front have been transferred to Saloniki.

The Budapest Az Est says the Bulgarians, who are invading eastern Rumania, have now taken possession of Virtually all the Dobrudja territory which Bulgaria was compelled to surrender to Rumania at the time of the second Balkan war. All Bulgaria is celebrating the victories gained over the Russians and Rumanians.

Archbishop Dalbor, of the arch-diocese of Gnesen-Posen, has instructed the clergy to invest as much as possible of the funds of their churches in the new German war loan, the Overseas news agency says. The municipality of Wiesbaden has subscribed three million marks to the loan.

ATTACKS BEATEN OFF.

London, Sept. 11.—Two efforts were made yesterday by the Germans to capture Ginchy, on the Somme front, from the British, but it is announced officially that attacks were beaten off.

A Reuter's Athens dispatch says that Premier Zaimis had another lengthy conference with King Constantine on Sunday afternoon, after which the cabinet met. In regard to the shots fired in the neighborhood of the French legation, the dispatch says, that the allies' demands have apparently been fully accepted, although nothing has been officially announced. The closing of the clubs of the Reservists' league, a step demanded by the entente, was begun Sunday evening.

VIRTUALLY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Athens, Sept. 11.—Athens is virtually under martial law. Patrols of infantry and cavalry parade the streets and the entente legations are under strong guard. Fifteen hundred marines have been added to the garrison here on account of the uncertainty in regard to the attitude of the troops. The excitement caused by army disaffections at Saloniki, however, is dying out.

King Constantine has accepted the demand of the allies that the reservists' league of which he is honorary president, be dissolved.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER SUNK.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Norwegian steamer Linborg, bound from London for Rotterdam, has been sunk by a submarine, according to the Allegeme Handlesblatt. The crew of this submarine stripped the steamer of all copper objects before blowing her up. The crew of the Linberg had been landed.

DROPPING PROCLAMATIONS.

Havre, Sept. 11.—An official statement issued by the Belgian war office says that a Belgian aviator flew over Brussels on Wednesday night and dropped copies of a proclamation. Another aviator performed a similar mission over Antwerp on Thursday.

RUSSIANS BEAT TURKS.

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—A victory for the Russians over Turkish troops in Persia, is reported in today's war office statement. In the region of Sakkiz, the town of Bana has been occupied by Russians, following a battle in which the Turks were defeated.

TEUTONS BALK RUSSIANS.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—Russian attempts to capture the town of Halicz on the Dniester in Galicia, regarded as the key to the defenses of Lemberg, from the southeast have been frustrated by the Teutonic forces, according to today's official war office announcement.

Troops under General von Bethmer brought the Russian efforts to naught, the statement, declares.

Ifax to the Canadian northwest by 200 miles.

The bridge stands on the site of the structure which collapsed on August 29, 1907, with a loss of seventy lives.

The central span which fell today weighs more than 5,000 tons and was sixty feet long.

The span had been constructed on pontoons near the bridge site and was towed into position immediately under the gap left in the anchor arms of the structure. Chains with links thirty inches in diameter, together with girders were then attached to the span and 8,000 ton hydraulic jacks commenced the stupendous task of lifting the span into place.

This work could be accomplished only a few feet an hour and as the distance from the river level to the floor of the bridge is 150 feet and the engineers had not counted on completing the operation until the end of this week or later. The bridge was to have been ready for train service next spring, marking the important milestone in Canada's engineering railway history.

The collapse occurred when the span was about fifteen feet in the air. Early indications were that the loss of life would be heavy for there were ninety men on the structure when it fell. Some of these have been rescued.

Boats from among the hundreds of craft on which spectators had gathered were rushed to the spot where the span disappeared. The fallen structure sank 200 feet to the bottom of the river and engineers who witnessed the collapse expressed doubts as to whether it would ever be brought up again.

Observers said the span broke in two places—first one of the corners appeared to give way, this being followed almost instantly by a break in the center.

Estimated Dead at Twenty-five.

The St. Lawrence Bridge company at noon estimated the number of dead at twenty-five.

Four men have been rescued. The St. Lawrence River Bridge company, which was constructing the bridge, announced that it would take a roll call of its employes in an effort to obtain the loss of life.

The juggling of 5,900 tons of steel under unprecedented circumstances in the dominion attracted to the scene today several thousand spectators including members of the Canadian cabinet and newspaper men on vessels furnished by the Canadian government, members of the cabinet, witnessed the collapse from the deck of government vessels. While American tourists crowded hundreds of other boats of all classes. Members of the Australian parliament, returning home after visiting in Europe, also were at the scene and river traffic for ocean going steamships had been temporarily suspended. The project interrupted today originated in 1853 when, at the request of the Quebec city council a New York engineer submitted plans and estimates. Courage and capital were lacking, however, and it was not until 1882, that the scheme was given consideration.

Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina will hold state primaries tomorrow to select nominees whose later election is assured, with few exceptions, by lack of second party opposition. In Georgia a governor, twelve representatives and all state officials are to be nominated. Gov. Nat E. Harris is opposed for re-merce, and Joseph E. Pottle, of Milledgeville.

In Louisiana congressional nominations are to be made and contests have developed only in the Sixth and Seventh districts. In the election democrats will have opposition in one district, the third, where Representative W. P. Martin, progressive, is a candidate for re-election. In South Carolina, secondary primaries are necessary because no candidate for the gubernatorial nomination got a majority of votes cast in the first primary held two weeks ago. Gov. Richard I. Manning and former Governor Cole L. Blease will contest again. For the same reason, Representative Wyatt Aikin and F. H. Dominick are opponents in the Third congressional district and two candidates for railroad commissioner are contesting.

Frantz Premier Electric Cleaner Beats "Beating"

THERE'S nothing so bad for the rugs, carpets and upholstery as beating. It's bad for the beater too, if she happens to be the wife or the maid. It's bad for the pocketbook, bad for the health. Brooms do not get the dirt and cannot control it. The Frantz Premier Electric Cleaner PULLS the dirt out and keeps it out. It is light—yet strong and durable; easily operated and adequate for the largest house. It makes carpet and rug care an easy hour and a clean one. An investment in money, health, time.

The Strangest Leap Year Wedding You Ever Heard Of

STATE OF KENTUCKY,
Christian County.

The affiant, Sallie Eldora Brown, states that she is seventeen years of age, and that she has been a continuous resident of Christian county, Kentucky, living near Crofton, during the whole of her life. She states that James Herbert Tweddell is 18 years of age and a resident of Christian county, Kentucky.

The affiant, James Herbert Tweddell, states that on St. Valentine's eve, 1916, he called at the home of Sallie Eldora Brown, in Christian county, Kentucky, and that she offered herself to him in marriage and that he accepted her.

In witness whereof the affiants have hereunto subscribed their names.

SALLIE ELDORA BROWN,
JAS. HERBERT TWEDDELL.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this the 15th day of February, 1916, by Sallie Eldora Brown and James Herbert Tweddell. L. J. HARRIS,

County Clerk Christian Co.

Would You Be Leap Year Bride for These Gifts?

These are some of the inducements that led Sallie Brown to propose to the man of her choice and marry him:

License.	Bouquet.
Ceremony.	Side of meat.
Mule.	Auto ride.
Jersey bull.	Ton of ice.
Tombstone.	Supper.
Wedding ring.	Box of Cigars.
Case of pop.	Cake.

Hopkinsville has to have its idols. All Kentucky towns but Hopkinsville especially, since its blood beats most warmly, its eyes have the superb darkness of southern enthusiasm and the cockles of its heart heat up at the mere mention of native heroism.

Hopkinsville, Ky., has certainly had its heroes; now it has its heroine. For half a century it has hallowed the neighboring birthplace of Jefferson Davis, leader of the lost cause. It shouts that Riccardo Martin is a greater tenor than Caruso any night in the year, for Riccardo was born within its environs. It declares that Supreme Court Justice McReynolds is the wisest judge since the days of Solomon, for McReynolds as babe and boy came into Hopkinsville from the outlying farm to do his trading and to do his loafing. It stoutly maintains that old Irv Cobb is a more fluent master of the English language than William of Avon himself for old Irv Cobb hails originally from near by.

TOWN HAS LADY HERO NOW.

But Jeff Davis and Ricky Martin and Judge Mac and old Irv Cobb have been shaded. Their day is done. Hopkinsville has a lady hero now, and true southern gallantry and the traditional chivalry of the Kentucky colonel will not permit Sallie Eldora Brown Tweddell to be surpassed in local idolatry by any sophisticated child of renown.

Sallie Eldora Brown Tweddell is the leap year girl who won the most remarkable list of prizes in reward for a marriage proposal that any undaunted female of the species ever gathered unto herself.

The tale as it happened is this: It seems that upon the 1st day of January, 1916, Hopkinsville, in contemporaneous originality with all small towns throughout the U. S. A., awoke to the fact that it was leap year. Hopkinsville was more chivalrous than any of the other towns, however, and it decided to make quite a thing of leap year.

Richard Leavell, dealer in mules and horses and proprietor of the choicest hostelry for the entertainment of equines in that part of Kentucky, was talking one day to his lawyer, William Oglesby Soyars, whose eloquence and passion are only realized in the presence of "twelve men good and true."

OFFERS MULE AS PRIZE.

Richard Leavell said to William Oglesby Soyars: "I'll give a prize of the finest mule in my stables to the first girl who proposes to a man and marries him."

Whereupon William Oglesby Soyars knit his brows, slanted back his slouch hat, ran his fingers through his coal black hair and countered with "And I'll give a prize to the same lady, by gad, sir, a prize of my future services in any divorce proceedings that she may care to undertake in the course of her married life."

The ball which the two had rolled out kept on rolling. Every other merchant in town offered a complimentary prize to this intrepid young lady, whoever she might be. L. J. Harris, the marriage license clerk, volunteered to marry the young lady and her captive for nothing. Judge Knight shook his gray hair with profound knight-errantry and said as how he'd perform the ceremony for nothing at all. The Daily Kentucky New Era dangled a year's subscription before the eyes of the unmated girls of the vicinity. McLaid & Armstrong, the marble workers, planted a shaft of pleasing whiteness before their lively little shop and announced that their choicest tombstone would go to the conqueress. The Hopkinsville Bottling Works succumbed to the intoxication of the moment and in considerable hysteria cried out that they would present the winning damsel with no less than two dozen bottles of soda pop upon her happy wedding day. The Anderson-Fowler Company, whose place of business stood upon the corner in universal company with all of its class, held up twelve bottles of Castoria as the supreme inducement. Blakely, Bass & Barnett smiled their most gracious smile and promised a wedding ring to her. Jarred Renshaw in excitement pledged a setting of Rhode Island Red eggs. The prizes mounted in number and importance and all the countryside clamored with the tumult engendered.

YOUTHS DRESSED FOR THEM.

For a month and a half nothing happened. Rumor linked the names of young women and young men recklessly. It was said of every unmatched female that she had her eyes upon the wealth of reward. Every single youth in the town wore his best clothes desperately. The poolrooms were empty. Widowers and confirmed bachelors came down from their turreted isolation and beamed upon the unwedded ladies with an ardor that had slipped into Lethe these forty years a-gone.

On the 15th day of February the suspense was broken. It is a day Hopkinsville will never forget. It is the day that Sallie Eldora Brown wrote her name alongside of Jeff Davis and Riccardo Martin and Judge McReynolds and old Irv Cobb. Hopkinsville is sorry now that Kentucky had chosen her two representatives for the Hall of Fame in the Capitol at Washington. One of those statues should have been that of Sallie Eldora Brown, and it should have reproduced her as she looked that day she gathered the ante in. A marble Sallie holding in her left hand a crumpled marriage license and a basket carrying a setting of Rhode Island eggs and two dozen bottles of soda pop, and in her right a hitching rein to the nether end of which clung a mule, bearing across its bridle headpiece the simple inscription "First prize."

The 15th of February, 1916, was indeed a historic day. For at high noon Sallie Eldora Brown appeared in the doorway of County Clerk L. J. Harris' office leading a resigned-looking young man and announced that she desired permission to be wed, and following that to claim the rewards that her daring had won.

THRONG IN WEDDING MARCH.

County clerk Harris' feet came down off the railing with a joyous thump, and he sent the good word echoing up and down the streets. While he frantically made out the license the happy couple were escorted by the cheering throng to the office of Attorney Ira D. Smith, where the affidavits of the legitimacy of their claims were signed. It is rumored that Attorney William Oglesby Soyars refused to make out the affidavits on the ground that his offer was for the more dismal eventualities of the future which he hoped to heaven would never be occasioned.

The terms whereby the mule might be won were that the ceremony should be performed in the front doorway of the Leavell establishment for the succoring of permanent and transient mules. So to that shaving-carpeted bridal suite the town adjourned chanting riotously the well-known composition of Mr. Lohengrin which is designed to enliven similar occasions wherever held.

JUDGE JUST IN TIME.

So there in the doorway of the livery stable Sallie Eldora Brown took unto herself the fruits of her endeavor and persistence. Judge Knight came running just in time to pronounce them man and wife. The judge had been engrossed in a somnolent and apathetic trial of a murderer, but had adjourned court immediately upon hearing that the giant dam of suspense had burst and led his forces to the scene of action. The jurymen came in a body, the bailiffs and lawyers attended, and prominent in the foreground, quite the happiest man in the crowd, was the prisoner who, according to the sheriff, might have been guilty of murdering his son-in-law, but was still going to have his rights if he (the sheriff) knew anything about justice.

In the shadow of the livery stable, with hay drooping from above in lieu of orange blossoms and with sawdust for a bridal carpet, Miss Sallie stood her young man up beside her and married him, employing Judge Knight in the capacity of pastor.

MAUD IN THE BACKGROUND.

W. R. Bowles, the leading photographer, set up his tripod in an advantageous spot and took numerous snapshots with the true air of a metropolitan newspaper camera man.

The Daily Kentucky New Era printed that night among other graphic paragraphs this bit: "The girl is quite pretty and looks as if she would make a fine manager, and Mr. Tweddell is a good-looking young fellow.

"The couple stood in the main entrance of the stable and in the background was Maud the mule.

"Mr. and Mrs. Tweddell will return home this evening carrying the presents with them."

Says the Hopkinsville Kentuckian of similar date: "The bride is a pretty girl, below medium size, with big blue eyes and a wealth of brown hair." (Ah, thou southern reporter with honey and myrrh inherent upon thy tongue.) "She wore a picture hat and gamely stood the ordeal of being looked at by a big crowd of strangers. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brown.

"The groom is a slender young fellow, with dark hair and eyes. He is an orphan and gave his occupation as a farmer.

COULDN'T CARRY THEM ALL.

In the dusk of that southern evening the happy pair departed for home in the buckboard in which they had entered town, bearing only a small part of their prizes. The vehicle was not equal to the whole of them. Maud, the chief trophy, ambled contentedly behind, still wearing the emblazoned bridle. Main street was alive, "and," remarks the New Era, "they were cheered by a large number of people who were out at the time and saw them."

Emotion seized J. C. Diuguid, a prominent but hitherto silent citizen of the city, and he threw economy to the winds and loudly offered the pair a ride around town in his automobile if they would come around some time when he wasn't busy. J. H. Cate, the popular grocer, grew correspondingly prodigal with the excitement of the occasion and volunteered to add a fourth of a barrel of his best grade of flour if they would come back after it. And it was in that hour of departure that W. L. Gore, the stock breeder, grew envious of Richard Leavell and Richard Leavell's mule and cried aloud his willingness to surrender his prize Jersey bull calf to the victorious Sallie Tweddell.

MAKING LIFE SIZE PICTURE.

Hopkinsville is still flushed with the elation of that day. W. R. Bowles is making a life-size enlargement of the photograph he made of the happy pair and the mule. The merchants of the town are bravely living up to their contracts made in the abandonment of the moment, and William Oglesby Soyars is grimly smiling for he achieved the glory of offering his services for the divorce court and he feels entirely safe. He gave his finest manners and he thinks he will save his meat, too, for he looked upon Sallie Eldora Brown and upon James Herbert Tweddell in that blissful hour and he knows in his heart of hearts that his talent will never be summoned to the bar of justice to argue for the marital demise of the pretty leap year livery stable bride.

A Hard Time.

Little Percival's eyes were full of tears. Miss Miggs, a kind soul, attracted by the sound of Percival's sorrow, approached him, saying:

"Come, come, my little man! Why are you crying?"

"Mother smacked me!"

"Why, you're not a naughty little boy, are you?"

"No, I only made some dents in the front doorsteps."

"That doesn't sound a very serious matter. Did you make the dents with your little spade?"

"N-n-no! With father's watch!"

Not Much Chance of Lower Figures on Grain This Entire Winter.

Millers and dealers in grain stated Monday at the opening of the markets for the week that the wheat market was unsettled. However, they state on account of the lack of supply the prices will remain around the $1.45 mark the entire winter. Local dealers offered $1.43 and $1.45 a bushel for wheat Monday morning.

One miller stated that there is just enough wheat in the country to go around handily and that is why the prices will remain high. Buying and selling in the wheat market is very slow as speculators think it unwise on account of the fluctuation of the market. Other grain prices also remain high and the market is unsteady.

Potatoes opened the week strong and will continue to rise in price. A man who has been visiting in Michigan stated that the crop there is also a failure. One man, he said, had fourteen acres and he will not get back the seed he planted.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Wheat prices developed considerabl estrength today owing to the absence of selling pressure. The surrender of the Rumanian fortress of Silistria appears to have a tendency to make the bears cautious. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c decline to a rise of ¾c, were followed by a substantial general upturn but most of the grains failed to hold.

Corn weakened as a result of assertions that the Illinois crop had of late made a wonderful improvement. After opening ¼c to ⅝c lower, the market underwent a decided sag.

Oats sympathized with wheat strength.

Lower prices on hogs turned provisions down grade.

Cattle—Receipts, 4,500 head; market was steady to strong on best common, 10@15c lower; best steers, $9.50@10.25; butcher steers, $7.00@9.50; cows and heifers, $3.50@7.60.

Sheep—Receipts, 8,000 head; market was steady; top lambs, $11.75; yearlings, $9.00@9.25; wethers, $8.00@8.25; ewes, $7.50 down.

TAKING A TITHE BUYS BABY BONDS

In ancient times, men were supposed to give one-tenth of what they earned to the church. The one-tenth was known as the tithe. Today there is a certain local business man who follows a similar plan to accumulate a savings account. With these savings he purchases Baby Bonds, which come in $10.00 denominations, bear six per cent interest, and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. He never receives a check for his services but what he immediately deducts one-tenth for Baby Bonds, and when he has accumulated enough of these Baby Bonds he expects to exchange them for one Big Bond, which comes in $500.00 denominations with same rate of interest and the same security. For details regarding either of these bonds see the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

UNIONS PLAN DELAY TO AVOID A RADICAL STEP

All Get Appeal for Sympathetic Strike to Aid New York Carmen.

New York, Sept. 11.—All members of trade unions in New York, Konkers, Mt. Vernon and New Rochelle found themselves between the Interborough Rapid Transit company and its employes. The various individual labor organizations in these cities served by the Interborough and its subsidiary companies, received the appeal drafted by the central labor bodies last night requesting a sympathetic strike of all organized wage earners in their jurisdiction in support of the contention of the street railway men for the right to organize.

Since the response to their appeal must be decided by vote of members, several days must elapse before its effect will be known. A central labor committee has been organized, however, and daily meetings will be held to direct a sympathetic general strike in case it is called. Opinions were expressed today that most of the unions appealed to would defer definite action in the hope that such a radical step might be avoided. Labor leaders declared, however, that strikers might be called without delay in trades directly effecting the operation of street cars, such as the Longshoremen, who handle coal barges, and the engineers who work in the power houses.

While the elevated and subway lines continued running today without apparent interruption, the strike on the surface lines has spread rapidly. Union officials assert that 11,600 men are on strike. Not a car wheel turned all day Sunday in Yonkers, Mt. Vernon and New Rochelle, and every surface car stopped running last night in Manhattan and the Bronx also, after these two boroughs had received an extremely limited service during the day. The seriousness of the situation has caused citizens to turn for relief to the municipal government. It is expected that the public service commission, which has been investigating the strike, will make a report some time today, placing responsibility for the situation and throwing its official influence into the balance to aid the side whose contention is upheld.

WANTS TO CHANGE ITS NAME.

Reformed Clark Street, in Chicago, Would Become Broadway.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Clark street, having reformed since the days when it was the haunt of confidence men and gamblers, wants its name changed, following the example of the Bowery in New York, and enough signatures were secured to a petition today to insure consideration of a proposal to rechristen it Broadway. Business men on the street say out of town customers are frightened away by stories told of Clark street in the last decade and say that, though conditions have changed, the name still is a handicap.

HOVERING NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Daniel Powerierza, aged 14 years, who was injured last Thursday evening when he was knocked from a motorcycle at Warsaw and DeWald streets, is hovering at death's door at St. Joseph's hospital, according to attendants. He is not expected to live through the day. He spent a very restless night Sunday and Monday he was delirious. It is said that the accident was unavoidable.

CONDITION MUCH BETTER.

The condition of Wilbur G. Carpenter, the well known attorney who underwent an operation at St. Joseph's hospital Saturday evening, is much better today. He was rushed to the institution when he was suddenly stricken with appendicitis. His condition was serious Sunday but much improvement was shown Monday. He rested well Sunday night.

DEDICATORY SERVICES AT TRINITY LUTHERAN

Three Services Including Baptism of a Child Mark Event.

The new church edifice of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, which was erected at St. Mary's avenue and Huffman street, was dedicated Sunday with three impressive services, including the baptism of a little child. The event was largely attended by Lutherans not only from Fort Wayne, but from surrounding congregations. Services and meetings in celebration of the dedication will continue this week until Wednesday evening.

A short service was conducted Sunday morning in the old school hall where services were formerly held. Headed by the building committee, the members of the church council, the pastor and visiting pastors the entire congregation marched to the new building.

Following the ceremony of opening the doors the first service of the dedicatory exercises begun with a song by the entire congregation. Rev. J. W. Miller, of St. Paul's Lutheran church, delivered the sermon and Prof. J. H. Beyer, of Milwaukee, father-in-law of Rev. G. W. F. Doege, pastor of the church, presided at the organ. The choir, under the direction of Prof A. C. Katt, rendered several selections.

Rev. Doege then baptized his seventh child, the only one which has been born in Fort Wayne. He named the child Thelma Elenora Clara and it bears the distinction of being the first child baptized in the new church. Six hundred visitors and members were accommodated at noon in the large dining room of the church.

Rev. J. Wefel, of Cleveland, was the principal speaker at the afternoon services beginning at 3 o'clock. Prof. M. Pohlman presided at the organ and Prof. A. C. Kall directed the choir which was composed of Concordia and Trinity men's choirs. Supper was served at the church.

At the evening services, the new church was filled to overflowing and all heard with interest the sermon delivered by Rev. C. Gausewitz, of Milwaukee, president of the synodical conference.

Services will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week. Prof. L. Wessel, of Springfield, Ill., will deliver the sermon Monday evening and Prof. G. Weller, of St. Paul's church, will have charge of the musical program.

Tuesday evening, Rev. Phillip Wambsganss, of Emmaus Lutheran church, will preach and Prof. Herman Hahn, of the same congregation, will have charge of the music.

The sermon on Wednesday evening will be delivered by Rev. G. Bliesernicht, of Toledo, and Prof. Bennehoff will be the organist. The choir of Emmanuel Lutheran church will render a musical program.

EASY JOB FOR ROBBERS BECAUSE STORK HOVERS

Chicago Man Submits to $810 Holdup to Spare His Wife.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11.—The stork was hovering over the home of W. H. Clucas, treasurer of a boilermakers' union, so when two well-dressed robbers held him up in front of his house, 340 North Mason avenue, he let them escape with $810 of the union funds without making an outcry or resisting them.

Thoughtful of his wife's safety, Clucas quietly submitted to a search by the robbers and later watched the highwaymen run around the corner and jump into an automobile that awaited them. Then, without entering the house, he walked to the Austin station and told the police what had happened. Both robbers were young and well dressed and wore gray "Johnny Jones" hats.

At a meeting of the union in Garfield hall, at Madison street and Crawford avenue, Saturday night $400 and checks, money orders and drafts aggregating $410 had been turned over to Clucas as treasurer. He believes the robbers had knowledge the funds were in his possession.

Last night, still waiting the important event, Mrs. Clucas was without knowledge of the midnight holdup.

FIFTEEN CHINESE KILLED.

Yaqui Indians Make Raid on Barbara, Sonora, Mexico.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 11.—Yaquis raided Santa Barbara, Sonora, twenty miles southeast of here yesterday, killing fifteen Chinamen, according to reports received today at the commandancia in Nogales, Sonora.

Fifty-five Indians made up the band which recently moved rapidly north from the Hermosillo district, burning, killing and looting. Many ranchers made their way into the city while Carranza troops from the garrison across the border pursued the outlaws.

SERBS HAVE GUNS BUT THEY LACK MEDICINES

Aid Asked for Little Nation in Its Fight on Disease.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Serbian army, driven from its own country in the retreat last year when the little nation was all but annihilated, is in greater misfortune now, at the start of the big Balkan offensive, than ever before, according to word sent to Serbian relief headquarters here by B. D'Ange d'Astre, a Frenchwoman, who is a nurse in a hospital at Saloniki, Greece, where the army is located.

"The army is without hospitals, ambulances and transports," says the noted Frenchwoman in an appeal for aid. And in their great desire to return to frontiers of their native land, the medical chiefs of the army—the last hope of the nation—are wondering how they will take care of the wounded and sick.

"I am a nurse in the greatest hospital in the intrenched camp, with 1,500 beds. We are laboring day and night. The heat is overwhelming, and dread diseases are flourishing in it.

"The congestion is great and the poor Serbian soldiers are scattered around haphazard. One must see this to grasp the full horror of it.

"As usual everything has been thought of, guns, equipment, munitions—everything except the medical service!

"Even at this moment the Serbians are racked with disease! What will it be when they go into battle?

"All our gold is changed into shells and guns!

"We are in midsummer now, but the third winter approaches, bringing still greater suffering.

"Americans will excuse this appeal for aid, I am sure, for everything is permitted in wartime, and America is a great reservoir of incomparable generosity."

MAY APPEAL FROM VERDICT OF JURY

Meeting Monday Afternoon Will Decide Future of Police Case.

An appeal may be taken in the case of Emery Jamison, of Winchester, against Chief of Police Charles Lenz and other police officers and the Rurode Dry Goods company, in which Jamison asked $10,000 damages and was granted $400 by a jury in Wells county court Saturday.

All defendants in the case will meet in the office of City Attorney Guy Colerick Monday afternoon and determine whether or not to carry the case to the higher court. It is the general opinion that the case will be carried up.

It required eleven hours for the jury to return a small finding for Jamison. Citizens of Bluffton who heard the trial proceedings were surprised that any award against the Fort Wayne police was allowed.

WARM GREETING FOR HUGHES AT SYRACUSE

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Charles E. Hughes, homeward bound, spent the last day but one of his present campaign trip in Syracuse. A voicerfous crowd welcomed him with cheers at the station. The streets were dressed in the national colors in his honor and for the opening of the state fair.

The day's program was crowded. First came a review by the nominee of a long parade of automobiles, then luncheon at the fair grounds and his return to the hotel, where he held a two hour public reception. A brief rest followed, then a dinner to which 250 persons were invited, given in his honor, by the allied club of Syracuse. Mr. Hughes was to speak at this dinner and to leave at 11:35 for Plattsburg, where he will speak tomorrow night at the military training camp.

BRIDGE SPAN COLLAPSE HURLS 90 WORKMEN INTO RIVER

QUEBEC HAS A NEW DISASTER

Similar Accident on Same Spot Nine Years Ago Cost 70 Lives.

Quebec, Sept. 11.—A span of the world's greatest bridge collapsed and fell into the St. Lawrence river today, with a loss of life variously estimated. The company erecting the structure, and members of the Quebec bridge commission expressed the opinion that only three persons were lost. Earlier estimates placed the number of dead at twenty-five.

Several hours after the accident happened at 10:30 o'clock, a special train into Quebec brought twenty men who had been injured.

Nine years ago a similar accident at the same spot took a toll of seventy lives.

Today ninety men were carried into the river when the 5,000 ton span being raised from pontoons in an engineering feat designed to complete the $17,000,000 cantilever suspension for transcontinental railway traffic, plunged a distance of fifteen feet into the water and sank 200 feet, perhaps never to be recovered.

Contradictory Stories Told.

Contradictory stories were told regarding the collapse. The pontoons had been removed and the span was being lifted by massive hydraulic jacks when, according to some of the spectators, the northern end of the span fell with the breaking of girders.

Frantic efforts were made to place a chain rope around the tottering structure, but with reports like shells exploding the remaining supports snapped and the span disappeared with a tremendous splash.

Some of the observers said that the structure also buckled at the center as it fell. Groups of men at work slipped off into the water and others were knocked into space by flying debris. Scores of craft containing spectators went to the rescue and their endeavors prevented a larger loss of life.

Weighs More Than 5,000 Tons.

The bridge was being constructed at a cost of $17,000,000 in order to shorten the railway journey from Hal-

URGES HOUSEWIVES TO WEIGH BREAD THEY BUY

Chicago City Department of Weights and Measures Asks Assistance.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Housewives of Chicago were today urged to weigh the bread they buy and to assist the city department of weights and measures in watching local bakers, for violations of the anti-trust laws and the ordinances against short weights. The request came from Wm. F. Clutt, in charge of this part of the departments works, who announced that he would have a corps of inspectors scattered over Chicago today to test the weights of loaves. The announcement by a leading banking concern Saturday that for several days it had been cutting down the weight of its 5 cent loaf of bread, was responsible for Mr. Culett's message to Chicago housewives, and his determination to learn for himself whether consumers were receiving what they paid for. The United States district attorney, the state's attorney and the Chicago city council already have started investigations into the bakery situation.

GIFF PINCHOT TELLS WHY HE'S FOR HUGHES

New York, Sept. 11.—Gifford Pinchot, prominently identified with the progressive party, today made public a statement in which he made known his intention of supporting Charles E. Hughes, the republican nominee for president.

Mr. Pinchot prefaces his statement by saying that he is neither a democrat nor a republican, but a progressive and that in view of the fact that there is no candidate by the progressives for president he must choose either the democratic or republican nominee.

"As a progressive I believe in nationalism," says the statement. "So does Hughes. I am certain that under Hughes the progressive policies will fare better than under Wilson and that the safety, honor and welfare of the country will be in immeasurably surer hands."

BORDER PATROL PLAN IS FIRST TAKEN UP

Joint Commission at New London Has Resumed Its Labors.

New London, Conn., Sept. 11.—The American-Mexican joint commission resumed today its effort to finda solution for the problems along the international boundary. This was the third joint discussion. Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican delegation, presided.

Since their meetings three days ago, the American members have devoted much time to a study of government reports of various phases of the border problem. They entered the meeting today prepared to go into a detailed examination of the various plans for border patrol that have been suggested. Before the meeting began Secretary Lane expressed confidence that a constructed plan of action would soon take definite shape.

So far there has been othing more than general mention of the Mexican request that General Pershing's forces be withdrawn from Mexico. The basis of the plans for policing the line that have been talked over, however, is the return of the --merican troops to their own territory, ensuring that movement as the first step toward establishing a permanent system of protection against border bandits.

FINDS RAILROAD CREW NEGLIGENT

Coroner McArdle Returns Verdict in Death of Andrew Moyer.

Coroner J. E. McArdle in his verdict in the death of Andrew Moyer, air brake inspector for the Pennsylvania company, who came to his death over a month ago, states that he finds that the switching crew was negligent.

His verdict reads: "Andrew Moyer came to his death as a result of injuries received by being crushed between two freight cars of a G. R. & I. railroad train in the Pennsylvania company's yards at Fort Wayne, Ind. I further find that said accident was caused by a Pennsylvania switching crew negligently allowing fourteen empty cars to run down an incline and bump the rear end of said G. R. & I. railroad train; that said switching crew failed to ascertain whether or not there were any employes at work around said G. R. & I. railroad train and took no steps toward protecting the rear end of said train."

Other Cases.

The coroner has also finished the inquest of the death of Louis J. Feist. He finds that Louis J. Feist came to his death as the result of injuries received when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by an interurban car on the Fort Wayne and Northwestern Traction company's lines near Stop 12, on September 3.

All the witnesses in the case of Ralph Stoll, who died of injuries received in an automobile smash on the Bluffton road have been examined with the exception of Joseph Granney, the man who was driving the auto. The coroner will be able to return a verdict in a few days.

Conflagration reigned supreme when firemen from No. 3 station dashed on to the scene, a quarter of a mile west of the rolling mills, at 3 o'clock Monday morning. Two new hay stacks and the Rumanian club house were blazing merilly. The three fires were many yards apart.

Firemen extinguished the fire at the club house, but were able to do little good for the hay stacks, which were practically consumed. The west corner of the long frame club house had been fired by use of papers and hay. It is thought that the hay stacks were also purposely set ablaze. Loss is estimated at $35.

The hay stacks, on two vacant lots, belonged to two Rumanian families. They could tell firemen and police of nobody whom they suspected of maliciously setting their new mown stacks afire. None of the residents of the neighborhood has offered a clue as to who might try to destroy the property of the community by the torch. Police and firemen will continue to work on the theory that the stacks and club house were ignited by a fire bug.

INCREASE OF 20 TEACHERS

Organization Complete for Opening of Schools on Tuesday.

Prof. Justin N. Study, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools, has completed the organization of his corps of teachers and instructors for the school year, which opens Tuesday morning. There is an increase of twenty teachers over that of last year. The total number for this year will be three hundred.

Very few changes have been made from last year. No changes have been made in the principalship of any of the schools. During the summer several of the lady teachers were married and their places were filled by others. Several new instructors have been secured for the high school faculty.

The organization of the Fort Wayne city schools for this year follows: Ernest W. Cook, president; William H. Shambaugh, secretary, and A. L. Randall, treasurer; Prof. Justin N. Study, superintendent; Elizabeth Doan, clerk; Dr. Charles R. Dancer, chief medical inspector; Dr. I. W. Ditton, medical inspector; Dr. Carrie Banning, medical inspector; Conrad Leidolf, janitor-in-chief; Rudolph Reinewald, attendance offices, and Stephen D. Scott, assistant attendance officer.

The list of teachers for the schools of Fort Wayne follows:

WILSON HASTENS TO BEDSIDE OF SISTER

Relative of President, Ill at New London, is Growing Weaker.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 11.—Cancelling all engagements, President Wilson left here early today to go to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. A. E. Howe, who is critically ill at her home in New London, Conn. The president motored to New York and will finish the trip by train.

PATIENT GROWS WEAKER.

New London, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Annie Howe, President Wilson's sister, who is critically ill of peritonitis and complications here, passed a comfortable night, but is growing weaker, according to a statement issued today by Dr. H. M. Lee, the attending physician. Dr. Lee spent most of the night at Mrs. Howe's bedside

U. S. WANTS TO KNOW ABOUT BOMBARDMENT

Washington, Sept. 11.—Inquiry will be made of the French government regarding circumstances of the bombardment September 4 by a French fleet off Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, during which the building occupied by William H. Brewster, of New York, American consular agent, was riddled. Officials said today that the state department would ask whether the shelling of the building was a result of carelessness.

Brewster is merely employed to forward consular information, work formerly done by a Turkish citizen and the equipment furnished him by the United States cost only a few hundred dollars. No claim for damages will be filed by the department.

SCOUTS FAIL TO FIND HIM

American Search of Santa Clara Canyon for Villa is Fruitless.

Unable to Confirm Report That Bandit is Moving Toward Border.

San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 11.—Scouts of the American army in Mexico have penetrated the Santa Clara canyon in search of Francisco Villa's marauding band and have not found it there. This was the substance of a message received today by Gen. Funston from Gen. Pershing, who said he believed Villa was in the vicinity of San Andres, 35 miles west of Chihuahua City.

Gen. Pershing did not say so, but it is believed here that the American scouts must have been supported by at least a small force, as the canyon is more than 50 miles south of the southernmost lines.

CANNOT CONFIRM REPORTS.

Washington, Sept. 11.—All efforts of Gen. Pershing to confirm persistent rumors that Villa is moving toward the border in northern Mexico so far have been fruitless. The general made this report today to the war department:

"Reports regarding Villa's movement north have been continuously received through El Paso authorities. So far these reports cannot be confirmed here although every possible source of information is being used.

Patrols at San Lorenzo from El Valle reached Santa Clara canyon and about thirty miles on Chihuahua road but could hear nothing of Villa or any movement of Villistas. People had heard rumors of Villistas at Satevo but nothing north of there.

Six Chicago Men Suffer as Car Takes Plung Near Goodland, Ind.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 11.—An automobile traveling at a rapid rate of speed left the road two miles west of Goodland yesterday evening, turned over and crashed into a telegraph pole, breaking it off at the ground, and finally landing against a guy wire, and a fence.

C. E. Erbs, a St. Paul manufacturer of racing cars, was bruised about the body and head. Hugh Logan, Chicago manager for the American La France fire engine company, suffered a broken ankle and cuts about the head. E. J. Smail, a Chicago salesman, had both legs broken and was cut about the body. H. D. Dunbar, another Chicago salesman, was the most seriously hurt. His scalp was torn off, his jaw broken, several ribs were broken and he suffered a bad cut on the left side of his neck and shoulder. S. L. Duffield, Chicago, driver of the car, has a broken collar bone. W. E. Lee, of Chicago, has a broken right arm. H. L. Selix, of Chicago, relative of the motion picture magnate, escaped unhurt.

The car was owned by Erbs. The injured men were taken to Sheldon, Ill., where a Big Four passenger train was stopped and they were taken to Chicago hospitals. Smail, Lee and Duffield are employed by the Brunswick-Balke-Collander company.

MAINE CASTS VOTES TODAY

Progressive Vote in Dispute in State Normally Republican.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Voters of Maine to the number of 140,000 or more, went to the polls today to elect a governor, two United States senators, four representatives in congress, a state legislature and a state auditor.

National issues have been brought to the fore and the party leaders brought hundreds of speakers into the state, including former Justice Hughes, former Vice President Fairbanks and members of President Wilson's cabinet, to persuade the voters to line up with or against the national executive and the majority in congress.

State Normally Republican.

Maine, however, is normally republican and the democratic leaders insisted that something more than a scant republican victory would be required to constitute a repudiation of the administration, while a democratic plurality, however small, would be accepted by them as an endorsement.

Fair weather prevailed and this was expected to cause a big vote, equally desired by both sides. The state officers are now democratic and that party has one United States senator and one of the four congressmen.

Moose Vote in Dispute.

In 1914 the progressives cast 18,226 votes for governor; how their vote would split today was a matter of dispute. Both sides claim they will receive sufficient progressive support to carry the election. The polls opened at 6 o'clock and must close not later than 5 p. m.

Many returns will be slow as some twenty towns and plantations are without telegraphic and telephonic communication with the outside. However the result should be indicated before midnight.

PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS BEGIN YEAR'S WORK

Total Enrolment of All Schools Expected to Be Nearly 13,000.

Arrayed in their best frocks, with long, bright ribbons in their hair and books in their hands the little girls of the parochial schools walked briskly toward their respective schools Monday morning. A few hundred feet back of them, donned in new suits, their brothers trudged lazily along in the same direction. They looked with envious eyes on the boys of the public schools who still had another day of freedom.

Reports fro mthe parochial schools in the city are to the effect that the enrollment is exceptionally large. From careful investigation it has been estimated that the total enrollment in the parochial and public schools of the city this year will be nearly 13,000. Officials state that the estimate is conservative.

Kurt Mueller, 27, drove his team into the barn on his father's farm, eight miles west of Fort Wayne, a week ago last Thursday and started out across the fields. He wore his old straw hat and a blue shirt. He has not been heard of since.

Police have hunted in vain for a trace of the man about Fort Wayne. Other cities have been notified. Parents of the young man fear that he has met with physical violence. He had no money when he left home that they are aware of, they say. The son had never left the farm before without telling where he was going, the father says.

Large New York Concern to Occupy East Half of Building.

John Pfeiffer has leased the east half of the Arcade building on West Berry street to W. T. Brant and company, a New York business concern. He stated that a long time lease has been secured and that the building will be remodeled and will be ready for occupancy by October 15.

The eastern company operates a chain of twenty-six stores which deal solely in twenty-five cent articles. The concern is one of the largest concerns in the country and after considering several cities in the central states decided that Fort Wayne was the most prosperous town under consideration.

The main offices of the new business concern are located in New York city. Mr. Pfeiffer states that this company gives such great values for the money that in New York city when they put on a specialty sale, it is necessary to have a squad of policemen at the store to handle the crowds.

The lease has gone on record at the court house. The deal is considered one of the largest that has been consumated in this city for several years. It involves nearly $200,000.

The Arcade will be remodeled and the new company will occupy the entire ground floor and the rear portion of the upper floor. A large new front will also be built. The front part of the upstairs will be changed into modern office suites.

MYRON CAMPBELL DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Myron Campbell, 69 years old, father of Mrs. C. Claud Travis, died at his home in South Bend Sunday night following a brief illness with pneumonia.

The deceased was a prominent banker, and an influential citizen of South Bend. He was ill less than a week. Mrs. Travis being called to his bedside Friday afternoon.

He is survived by the widow and four children as follows: Edward Campbell, commander of the battleship Charleston, stationed at the Panama canal; Robert Campell, of New York; Mrs. Vora Darr, wife of Rev. Darr, of New York, and Mrs. Travis, wife of Rev. C. Claud Travis, pastor of the Wayne Street Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

The deceased was to have read a paper within the next few days at the annual meeting of the National Bankers' association at Kansas City.

The family of Charles A. Bookwalter, former resident of Fort Wayne, and well known here, came very near being seriously injured or killed the other day when the machine in which they were riding was run into by another automobile. The accident occurred at Thirty-eighth street and Capitol avenue, in Indianapolis. In the Bookwalter machine were Mrs. Bookwalter, son John, who was at the wheel, and two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Budd and Miss Mary Bookwalter. They were going west on Thirty-eighth street when a machine driven by Reuben Aldrich, of Waverly, Ind., running at a terrific rate of speed, struck their car. The Bookwalter machine was hurled at the side of the street, landing against a post, which prevented it from turning over. Otherwise, it is believed, the occupants would have been seriously hurt if not killed.

Mr. Bookwalter had but recently purchased the machine, which is a Packard. The damage to it is estimated at $400.

MR. HANLY NOW TURNS ATTENTION TO TAFT

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 11.—Swinging through North Dakota, which has been dry for a quarter of a century, J. Frank Hanly and other speakers aboard the prohibition campaign special train today, proposed this state's experience as proof of practical results prohibition would bring.

Mr. Hanly, in his addresses, took issue particularly with former President Taft over a statement he is quoted as making to the effect that a national prohibition amendment could not be enforced. Mr. Hanley said that if he was elected and had congress to back him "there would be no amendment made that he could not enforce to the limit."

CROSS RIVER UNDER FIRE

Attacks on Bulgaria from both the north and the south are apparently in preparation by the entente armies in the Balkans. A movement from the south developed today in official news from Paris that the British had taken the offensive on the northeastern Macedonian front. They have crossed the Struma about 40 miles northeast of Saloniki in an advance toward the Bulgarian border, after strong artillery preparation and are attacking the villages of Nevolyen and Karabjades.

At the beginning of the Macedonian operations last month the Bulgarians pushed down rapidly from the border and occupied positions in Greek territory on the right flank of the allied defensive lines around Saloniki, pushing their advance to the Aegean coast with apparently little opposition. The present British thrust which may mean the beginning of an important offensive with the object of placing Bulgaria between two fires, is directed along the main road to Seres, north of Tapinos lake, the natural avenue of advance for an army pushing for the Bulgarian border. Meanwhile the effort to encompass Bulgaria is proceeding on the north with the reported arrival of Russian troops in strong force to take the offensive against the Bulgarians who have invaded the Rumanian province of Dobrudja.

In northern France the Germans are responding to the heavy blows which drove back their lines along several miles along the Somme front last week. Yesterday and last night they struck hard at both the French and the British, but, according to the entente reports, were unable to regain any of the lost ground.

In their attacks on the French south of the Somme the Germans used flaming liquid. They suffered heavily in these fruitless attempts, Paris declares. The British were attacked at Cinchy, the village captured by them last Saturday, but beat off the two advances made by the Germans as they did also attempts against British near Moquet farm and Pozieres.

Paris, Sept. 11.—(1:25 p m.)—British troops on the front in Greek Macedonia took the offensive last night.

They crossed the Struma river the war office announced today and attacked the Bulgarians, who are resisting desperately.

The British troops crossed the Struma under fire. Having gained a footing on the eastern bank at a point about forty miles northeast of Saloniki they attacked the villages of Nevotyen and Karabjacs.

Additional details of the disturbance at the French legation at Athens on Sunday are forwardedby the Havas correspondent at Athens. He telegraphs that while the entente ministers were meeting at the legation a number of reservists forced an entrance, shouting "Long live the king. Down with the entente." Four shots were fired. No one was injured. The reservists fled.

TOLEDO WOMEN TO STRIKE AT HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 11.—War has been declared on the high cost of living. The housewives' league, organized today, to go before the council tonight, in protest against the recent twenty per cent. increase in the price of food. They claim the advance is not justifiable. The recent raise in the price of bread following the meeting of master bakers in Chicago, is the point which has driven the housewives in Detroit into a battling brigade, they say.

MOST EVENTFUL IN GREAT MANY YEARS

Such is Comment of Representative Cline on Session of Congress.

Congressman Cyrus Cline has returned from Washington, D. C., following adjournment of congress, and will remain in this district throughout the campaign. Mr. Cline expects to make a thorough canvass of the district.

Congressman Cline is confident of a democratic victory. The magnificent record made by congress in which he took no small part assures victory, he believes.

"The session of congress just closed has been the most eventful in a great many years," Mr. Cline declared. "It has been the aim of congress to meet the legislative demands of all classes of citizens and thereby harmoniously promote the interests of the people.

"Congress did not forget in its legislation the business man, manufacturer, farmer, laboring man or the men engaged in the commercial pursuits. The democratic congress was true to its platform pledges and has given legislative relief to the country that the developments of economic conditions seemed to demand.

"The reorganization of the army and navy on a scale heretofore never attempted by any party was in response to the sentiments of the country as interpreted by congress. To meet the added expense congress passed a new revenue bill placing the burden of taxes upon those best able to bear it. The revision of the income tax under the present bill is one of the most equitable in my opinion ever devised.

"Without attempting to go into details with reference to legislation beneficial to the different classes of our citizens it may be said that the action of congress not only meets the approval of the democratic party, but all of the important bills that passed the house were of such excellent merit that they received the support of a large percentage of the republican party, with the exception of the revenue bill in the senate for which only one republican senator, Senator LaFollette, voted.

"Last Thursday congress passed a bill increasing the pension of soldiers' widows 70 years of age and over from $12 to $20 and lifted the limitations imposed on a soldier's widow who was a second wife from June 27, 1890, to June 27, 1905. Under this law a widow who may have been divorced through no fault of her own is eligible to pension and widows of the Spanish-American war and the Indian wars are entitled to $12 a month.

"There is one thing very remarkable about this presidential campaign. For fifty years at every recurrence of a presidential election every four years business has halted because of the timidity and fear that something might occur in the election to effect business. No such situation presents itself in this campaign. Legislation passed by congress and the administration of the democratic party has been so satisfactory to business of this country and has been so reinforced by the confidence it has instilled in business men that the progress of new enterprises and larger business continue to multiply as the campaign increases."

FAIRBANKS HASTENS OVER INTO KENTUCKY

Indianapolis, Sept. 11—Charles W. Fairbanks returned to Indianapolis last evening from a trip to Maine and departed at midnight on a special car for Springfield, Mo., where he will speak at the opening of the Missouri republican campaign this evening. From Springfield he will go to Oklahoma City, where he will address the republican state convention tomorrow night.

Mr. Fairbanks departed in the private car "Colonial," which he will use throughout the campaign. Aside from the two speeches at Springfield and Oklahoma City, he did not know his itinerary when he arrived from the east. It is probable he will make some speeches in Kansas or Iowa, or possibly both before going farther west.

It was not known last night whether Mr. Fairbanks would return to Indianapolis before starting on his big campaign tour. He was accompanied on the trip by Joseph B. Kealing and his son, Richard Fairbanks.

IDA M. TARBELL HAS COME OUT FOR WILSON

Noted Woman Thinker Calls Him First Progressive Leader of Decade.

New York, Sept. 11.—Ida M. Tarbell, who is known to newspaper and magazine readers as one of the foremost leaders of thought among American women, announced yesterday her active support of President Wilson.

"He is," she declared, "the first real progressive leader that this decade has produced."

"Without slighting Mr. Hughes," for whom she expressed great respect, she said:

"He certainly has not as yet given any sign of understanding or sympathizing with the thing we call progressiveism, and, as far as I can see, President Wilson is the only leader we have who has.

"The great trouble with Mr. Roosevelt," continued Miss Tarbell, "is his out-of-dateness. He does not understand what the progressives are fussing about, and there never has been one of them who could tell him so he could get the idea.

"Many of them recognized this, but they wanted the asset of his extraordinary personality. They've got what was inevitable for their compromise."

Miss Tarbell, in describing President Wilson, said he differed from Colonel Roosevelt in his whole conception of the function of the politician. She believes President Wilson has the true conception of the first duty of leadership of the people—"to find out just how long an upward step they are ready for and then to fire them with courage to take that step."

To her associates in the progressive movement, of which she was a conspicuous part, Miss Tarbell's advice may come, to put it mildly, as a surprise, for she tells them frankly that President Wilson—"our greatest progressive"—should have been the party's candidate last June.

"He would have understood the progressives," she said, "which Mr. Roosevelt did not."

LATHROPE WILL COME SOON FOR EXHIBIT

City Planner is Returning from Vacation Spent in Maine.

John E. Lathrope, director of the New York city bureau, under whose direction the Woman's League of Fort Wayne will put on a city planning exhibit in October, will arrive in the city soon. Mrs. A. E. Fauve is president of the league.

Mr. Lathrope was in the city for about two weeks, starting July 4, making preliminary arrangements for the exhibit, after which he left for a vacation in Maine.

The city planning movement will be given state-wide character, this city being one of the cities in which the exhibit will be put on with several others. Mr. Lathrope put up the proposition of a city planning exhibit to the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and the real estate exchange of that city and it is possible that an exhibit may be put on there.

PROMINENT YOUNG MAN SUMMONED BY DEATH

Budd E. Van Sweringen, son of Dr. and Mrs. Budd Van Sweringen, died Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of his parents, 208 Washington boulevard west. Death followed an illness of several years and came at the age of 26 years. He was one of the most prominent young men of Fort Wayne and was widely known. He was a great favorite with everyone who knew him.

He had spent the greater part of the past five years in the west in an effort to regain his health and returned to this city last December.

The deceased was born in Kansas City, Mo., but came to Fort Wayne with his parents when he was a young boy. He received his early education in the public schools of this city and later attended the University of Pennsylvania. He was preparing himself for the practice of medicine, but on account of ill health was unable to finish his studies.

He was united in marriage to Miss Nancy Ayers, of Philadelphia, on December 11, 1912. Besides the widow and the parents he is survived by a child. He was a member of Summit City lodge F. & A. M.

DEATHS STEADILY LESSEN.

But New Cases of Child Plague Develop in New York.

New York, Sept. 11.—Three more deaths from infantile paralysis in this city occurred during the forty-eight hours ending at 10 a. m. today, according to a department health bulletin. This brings the total of fatalities up to 2,123 since the inception of the epidemic. Today's bulletin recorded sixty-six new cases. The average of new cases for the two days covered in the report is smaller than the number mentioned in Saturday's bulletin covering Friday.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING HELD AT HUNTERTOWN

Democrats of Two Townships Hear Speeches by Ft. Wayne Attorneys.

Democrats of Eel River and Perry townships met at the Woodmen's hall, in Huntertown, Saturday night, organizing the Wilson-Marshall club. Calvin Brown opened the meeting with an explanation of the organization of the campaign and he congratulated the gathering on attendance and enthusiasm. Talks were made by Frank Emrick, state's attorney, and Howard Benninghoff and Louis N. Dunten, attorneys, who delivered addresses.

Officers named were as follows: N. C. Erwin, president; R. J. Hillegass, vice president; Hugh E. Smith, secretary, and Pearl Sible, treasurer.

Committees Were Named.

Committees named on executive and organization work were: Dr. Frank Greenwell, Louis Dunten and Frank Pulver. On press and program, George Elby, Hugh Smith, Ralph Saylor and V. E. McComb were named. On the membership committee, for Eel River township, Jesse Waffus, W. A. Johnson, George V. Kell, N. G. McDuffee, Arthur Sage, C. B. McBride, John Madden and Bert Sible were appointed. In Perry township the membership committee named was John C. Griffin, Harl Saylor, Dan Steiner, George Martin, Charles Becke, Edward Bobay, John Flanagan, Herman Mammer. On the finance committee for Perry township, Pearl Sible, M. J. McComb and Ren Warnock were appointed.

Outlines the Issues.

Frank Emrick, state's attorney, in an address, gave an excellent outline of campaign issues, showing that there was never such an era of prosperity. "The empty dinner pail is a thing of the past, factories are working overtime and prosperity is everywhere," he declared. "All this is in face of republican prophecy of 1912, that Wilson and Marshall meant disaster and panic. It has not only brought prosperity, but by means of the reserve banking act, it has even put it out of the power of the republican party to throw the country into a panic."

Dunten is Speaker.

L. N. Dunten, attorney, showed that Wilson had acted without fear or favor and that his administration would go down with the greatest epoch of American history. He asserted the Americanism of Wilson was the Americanism of the stars and stripes.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Important Event at St. Paul's Catholic Church is Well Attended.

One of the most important events in church circles Sunday was the laying of the cornerstone of the new school building of St. Paul's Catholic church at Fairfield avenue and Washington streets. The services, which were beautiful and impressive, were attended by over five-hundred people.

Rt. Rev. Mgr. J. H. Oechtering, rector of St. Mary's church and vicar general of the diocese, officiated at the services, and Rev. Charles H. Thiele, of St. Peter's church, delivered the sermon. Mgr. Oechtering was attended by Rev. Ignatius Rauh, C. PP. S., of the Precious Blood mission house, as deacon; Rev. George Horstman, sub-deacon; Rev. H. F. Joseph Kroll, pastor of St. Paul's church, master of ceremonies.

Previous to the sealing of the cornerstone the copper box, which was placed in the stone, was filled with several articles. The box contained parchment record of current events and parish history, copies of the Fort Wayne papers, the Indiana Catholic, the Wochenblatt, the Weisenfreund, small coins and medals.

Before the stone was sealed Rev. George Horstman read the record, which was also enclosed and which is as follows:

"In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, amen. On this, the tenth day of September, in the year of our Lord, 1916, the United States of America being happily at peace, while most of the countries of Europe are at war, Cardinal Della Chiesa gloriously reigning as Roman pontiff under the name of Benedict XV.; Herman Joseph Alerding being bishop of the diocese of Fort Wayne; Rev. H. F. Joseph Kroll, pastor of St. Paul's church; Woodrow Wilson being president of the United States; Samuel B. Ralston being governor of Indiana; William J. Hosey being mayor of Fort Wayne, this cornerstone was blessed and placed in position by Rt. Rev. Mgr. John H. Oechtering, V. G., rector of St. Mary's church, Fort Wayne, Ind. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Charles H. Thiele, rector of St. Peter's church, Fort Wayne."

Real estate men are becoming interested and city planning will be a dominant topic at the state convention of realty dealers to be held at Evansville Nov. 15 to 17.

The tour will start in this city and includes the cities of Elkhart, South Bend, Michigan City, Hammond, Gary, Logansport, Kokomo, Lafayette, Crawfordsville, Terre Haute, Evansville, New Albany, Muncie, Anderson and Marion.

The tour, which was to have started October 3, was set later in order that the realty men could be in Evansville on October 12 when sale of real estate in which the association is interested will be made.

PRIZE AWARDS MADE BY BUILDERS BODY

Gold is Given Those Persons Who Have Kept the Best Yards.

Prize of $10 in gold was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Redderson, 2923 Shawnee drive, Saturday, for having the best kept lawns in Shawnee place in a contest conducted by the Wildwood Builders' company, in which second and third prizes of $5 and $2.50 went to Mr. and Mrs. Robinette, 3011 Shawnee drive, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Getty, 3011 Shawnee drive. Mayor Mosey took part in the ceremonies and members of the park board did the judging. There was strong competition in the contest and judging was difficult. The condition of the lawns showed decided improvement over last year.

The first prize was awarded on the basis of a fine display of old fashioned flowers, a fine vegetable garden, window boxes and the general landscape effect.

Those given honorable mention were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Wells, of Hoagland avenue.

Mayor Mosey commended the Wildwood Builders' company for its civic enterprise. The mayor said the company not only established one home community, but enlarged and extended it.

Col. D. N. Foster, of the park board, said Shawnee place was at one time a muck hole. He spoke of the wonderful improvement made in the place since its purchase. It was formerly part of the estate of Judge Taylor.

GOOD PROGRESS MADE

On the Huntertown Live Stock Show Stables, It Is Announced.

Good progress is being made on the show buildings of the Huntertown Live Stock and Agricultural association in which the fall exhibit will be given. There will be a horse show and short-horn cattle exhibit and it is hoped to have the new buildings in readiness for this exhibit. The building being erected is 100x30 feet. A well is being put down on the premises in order that good water may be provided.

Will Johnson, secretary of the Fort Wayne District Shorthorn Breeders' association, states that plans are taking shape nicely for the cattle exhibit in connection with the stock of the Huntertown Live Stock and Agricultural association.

TEN IN AUTO INJURED.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 11.—Ten persons were injured, two probably fatally, yesterday when an interurban car struck an automobile in this city. All the persons, who were members of the families of C. L. Krall, of Converse, Ind., and David Fansler, of Swayzee, Ind., were riding in one automobile. Lucile Fansler, age 8, and an 8-year-old son of Mr. Krall, are not expected to live. There are eight other members of the families in a hospital here.

BUT FIVE CHILDREN ESCAPE.

Elwood, Ind., Sept. 11.—William Rutherford, 35, living near Windfall, suffered a broken hip and internal injuries, his wife was cut about the head and Mrs. Cleve Rutherford was cut on the shoulder when their automobile ran into another car here last night. Five children in the Rutherford machine escaped unhurt, although the machine was demolished. The identity of the persons in the other car which was not damaged, was not learned.

MORE PAVING TO HELP HARRISON HILL

With the assurance that Harrison street, between Wildwood avenue and Rudisill boulevard will be one of the first streets to be paved next spring, the property owners in Harrison Hill, the new addition located just south of Rudisill on the west side of Calhoun, are anticipating a home site that will not be equaled by any other addition in this entire section of the country. With the paving of Rudisill boulevard, and the extension of the Calhoun street paving, both nearing completion, no addition will have the advantages of the same number of good approaches. Other advantages of Harrison Hill will be enumerated by Hilgemann and Schaaf, North American building.—Advertisement.

Michael Huss Finally Regains Health Through Tanlac, the Celebrated New Medicine.

Another interesting statement that glistens and glows with a real concern for others was given on April 19, by Michael Huss, civil war veteran and retired farmer of 832 Greeley street, who told of the relief he gained through use of Tanlac, the celebrated new medicine.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and muscular rheumatism bothered me in my arms and shoulders," Mr. Huss said. "The pains in my arms and shoulders were very severe and at times I could hardly raise my arm. The stomach trouble caused bloating and I experienced heartburn frequently. Although my appetite was good the food did not agree with me, causing gaseous formations and general distress.

"I read accounts in the papers of how Tanlac was helping others and decided to give the new medicine a trial. The first bottle brought good benefits and now after taking four bottles the rheumatism has practically been banished. I can eat heartily now and the food agrees with me and I am able to sleep more soundly.

"I have tried many medicines but never derived the benefits from any that I have from Tanlac. I gladly recommend this preparation."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and has proven a fine blood purifier and system cleaner.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets; Calhoun and Columbia; 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.

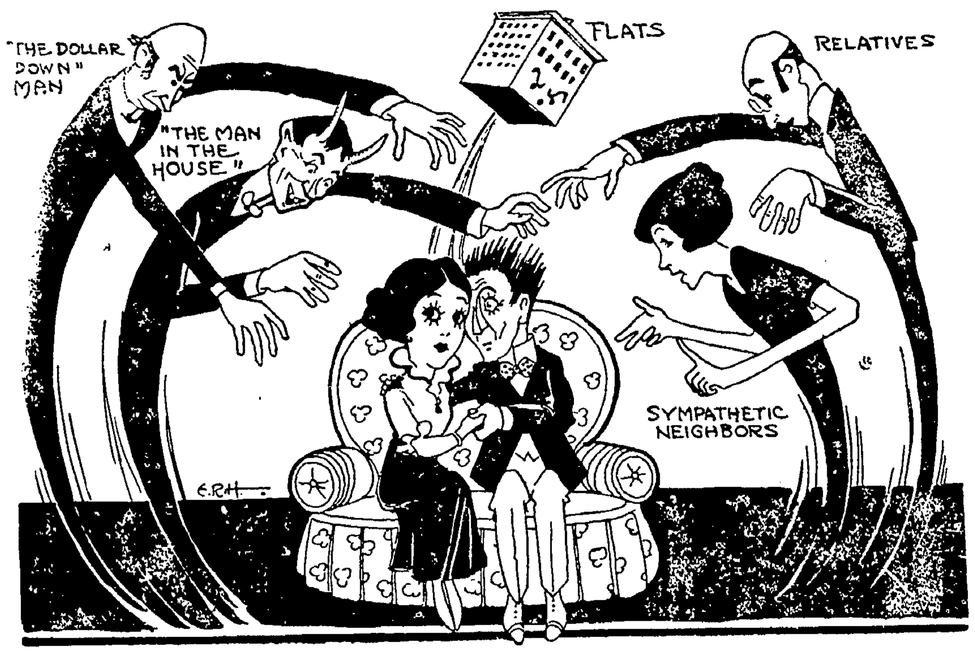
Prohibit Building of Flats to Cure Divorce, Says Judge in "New Reno"



Akron, O., Sept. 11.—"One married couple plus one roomer equals divorce!"

This is the new axiom on divorce offered by Judge E. D. Fritch, of Summit county common pleas court.

Judge Fritch got this new view of divorce causes from testimony in cases that have come to his notice since a sort of divorce epidemic began sweeping over Akron and earning for the city the name of "Reno of Ohio."

In six months of 1916 Summit county divorce mills ground out 341 interlocutory decrees—an increase of 65 per cent over the same period of 1915!

And in almost every case "the man of the house" loomed up in the background!

Akron is a "boom town," prosperous, pleasure-loving, overcrowded. It has a pay roll of $100,000 a day. Everybody has money and everybody spends a goodly share in pursuit of pleasure.

There is something carnivalistic about Akron. Women lean to awning skirts and zebra stockings.

About 120,000 people are crowded into homes intended for 90,000. What is the result of this congestion?

"Divorce!" says Judge Fritch.

"If I had the power here are some of the things I would do to decrease divorces:

"Enact laws to compel married couples to live what I call 'family lives'—free from boarders and relatives.

"Have laws passed fixing the minimum size for 'building lots in the city and providing that only one home be erected on a lot.

"Abolish flats and apartment houses.

"In 1900 the population was only 69,000. In six years it has almost doubled. The newcomers, mostly young single men, come here to work. There are not enough regular rooming houses and hotels, so they go to the private homes. They become 'the man in the house.'

"'The man in the house,' I find, begins by paying little attentions to the wife—attentions the husband sometimes overlooks or cannot pay. He takes her to the movies, to the lakes or dances. His intentions at the outset may be honorable. I have no doubt they are. Eventually there comes suspicion, jealousy, divorce.

"Then there are the apartment houses and flats! Each year they contribute their quota to the divorce courts. Families live too close together in flats. Separation of families is the foundation of good 'morals and good citizenship.'

"There would be fewer divorces if young people did not start matrimony with a credit man at their heels. When a husband finds he is running behind on monthly installments on furniture he begins to cut down on the pleasure end. Then 'the man in the house' steps in. He provides the little entertainments for the wife the husband cannot afford."

September 11, 1916

ABOUT one year ago we assumed the management of the Ready-to-Wear Departments of the Frank Dry Goods Company.

It was our intention and ambition to give you a metropolitan assortment of clever styles and superior merchandise at fair prices.

Our success in this endeavor is proven by the steadily increased volume of business in these departments.

We have grown rapidly until now our second floor is one of the most complete and largest departments [6,800 square feet] in Northern Indiana devoted exclusively to Misses' and Women's outer apparel.

In the very beginning we set as our aim, a high standard of merchandising, which among other features, includes—satisfactory service or your money back—one price to all—a small profit on many sales, rather than large profits on a few—styles just a little differently distinctive.

We now show the new creations as soon as Fifth Avenue or Michigan Avenue, in large assortments, not too many of any one style.

Our Advertising policy in the future will conform more to conservative lines; for we believe that the influence of advertising upon women depends not so much upon the flash of large space and figures, as upon the dignity of a straight forward ad. backed by the merchandise it represents.

In conclusion we desire to thank you for your kind consideration and patronage and asure you that we will always try to merit the continuance of the same.

Respectfully yours,

Frank's Ready-to-Wear

MANY LAFAYETTE PLACE PURCHASERS PLAN HOMES

Recently, the promoters of Lafayette Place, the modernly planned addition at the south end of Calhoun street, sent out letters to all of their purchasers asking each whether they had bought for an investment or with the idea of building a home upon their lot in the future. Approximately sixty per cent of those who answered stated that they had made their purchase for the purpose of building their own homes. These figures are highly gratifying to the Lafayette Place company as they seem to indicate that practically every other lot in the whole addition will be built upon as soon as the improvements have been completed. Other figures regarding Lafayette Place lots may be obtained from the Lafayette Place company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Peter 4:1-13.

1 Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind; for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin;

2 That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.

3 For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revelings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries;

4 Wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you;

5 Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.

6 For, for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

7 But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer.

9 Use hospitality one to another without grudging.

10 As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

11 If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ; to whom be praise and domination for ever and ever. Amen.

12 Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you:

13 But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.

Winning Support for Suffrage

In rather striking contrast to a number of other enthusiastic but misguided leaders of the equal suffrage movement, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, now being hailed as "the sage of suffrage," is leading a strong fight against the purpose which has recently developed in some quarters to turn over the suffrage movement as a mere adjunct to the republican national campaign organization. This effort received a severe check in the national convention of the suffragists a few days ago when the delegates overwhelmingly voted down a resolution offered by a Chicago woman to the general effect that the four million women voters of the country, as well as suffragists in states which have not yet given women the ballot, refuse support to any presidential candidate who refused to declare unequivocally for federal action to bestow the vote upon women.

"We must get the support of both democrats and republicans in order to win," Mrs. Shaw is quoted as having declared, "and neither the republicans at once nor the democrats at once can bring suffrage." Mrs. Shaw very clearly indicates that she doesn't intend to see the long and for the most part ably-conducted fight to secure for woman the right of the ballot swept off its feet and utterly wrecked by making it the cat's paw of any political organization whatever. She realizes that, in all probability, as many democrats individually favor equal suffrage as do the individual voters among the republicans, and that what the cause needs is staunch friends and not embittered enemies. "We must get enough democrats and republicans together to give us suffrage," Mrs. Shaw continues.

Mrs. Shaw is absolutely right, and that fact will presently be recognized even by those who appear to have been carried away by recent pronouncements of Mr. Hughes as to his individual convictions regarding the injustice of denying the ballot to the American woman. That equal suffrage is coming is not to be doubted, because it is a matter of simple justice. The president a few days ago voiced universal belief in his prediction that "in a little while" the cause of votes for women will be victorious. That time will be considerably hastened by the exercise of a little plain, ordinary political sagacity at this juncture.

Down at Richmond popular faith in the desirability of a public utilities law is going to be subjected to a strenuous test by the recent ruling of the Indiana commission, which has granted an increase of gas rates for that city. The small consumer who has been paying 40 cents per thousand cubic feet for gas will now be compelled to pay a net rate of 70 cents, and the new rate is ordered on the gas company's showing that it cannot exist at the old rate and that for the past year it has been operating at an annual loss of approximately $25,000. After all, Richmond folk may figure themselves somewhat ahead of the game. It looks much like they had been escaping too easily, and the old 40-cent rate, forced upon the company by competition, was a tremendous advantage to the public while at lasted. Doubtless they will not particularly relish the raise, but the principle of cost of production and distribution on which it is computed is the only fair one. Besides, Richmond still has the edge on some other Indiana cities in the matter of gas rates, even at the new and higher figure.

Announcement is made that the Morris Plan company of New York lent $250,575 in August to 2,070 borrowers. This is at the rate of over $3,000,000 a year; but the number and amount of loans increase every month. At the end of August, over $20,500,000 had been lent on The Morris Plan, throughout the entire country, to about 160,000 persons. The authorized capital of the fifty-two companies now operating this plan is $6,923,600. Six or eight new companies are in process of organization from Maine to California. Fort Wayne is, fortunately, one of the cities in which the small borrower of funds has at hand the fine facilities offered by this new financial plan designed particularly to meet his needs and his resources.

Mayor Ross, at Seymour, comes out with the flat declaration that no games of chance are to be permitted in connection with the centennial celebration in that town, and he puts the doll racks and the ringing schemes into the gambling category. Whereat the midway gentry say they will make a test of the law, contending, no doubt, that no celebration can amount to much where they are denied the privilege of skinning the public.

Mr. Hughes is to visit thirty-seven Indiana towns in the course of his campaign tour of the state late in the present month. And Mr. Hughes may be assured those thirty-seven Indiana towns will hear him respectfully and even gladly, but as to voting for him—that's another matter entirely.

ONE MAN'S WORK.

(Springfield Daily News.)

It is announced in the scientific papers that Consulting Engineer Dudley, of the New York Central railroad, has discovered a way to eliminate hidden flaws in railroad rails. That is, he has, after forty years of hard work, devised a system of testing that will enable one to determine that flaws exist—and of course that will prevent the use of rails with these hidden flaws.

Until the announcement was made, there was no way of determining the presence of these hidden flaws. If a rail looked clean and sound, on its surface, it was accepted. There might be a flaw on the inside, rendering the rail dangerous, or liable to break at any time, but there was no way of locating it. It is now claimed that these hidden flaws can be located through the system devised by Mr. Dudley.

Some idea of the value of this one man's work may be had when it is stated that last year there were more than three thousand accidents in this country due to the hidden flaws in rails. Three hundred persons lost their lives and seven thousand were injured. Property to the value of more than four million dollars was destroyed in a single year because of the hidden flaws. So the elimination of the hidden flaw saves the nation just that much in a single year.

There is no way of estimating the worth to the world of such a man as Dudley. We can figure up what he has saved in a single year, in a way, but when we put down or seek to put down the actual value to the world of his discovery, the figures fail. The saving of a single life can hardly be computed. So what shall we say when a man devises a system or makes a discovery that promises to save three hundred or more lives in a single year? How shall he be rewarded—or how will the world acknowledge its debt to this one man?

FISHING.

Fishing, like politics, was invented so a fellow could spend a lot of time and kale doing nothing.

It also gives a fellow a lot of time to think, but who ever heard of a fisherman having a brainstorm.

Anyhow, if a fellow could think, he wouldn't go fishing.

Fishing is great for stretching imaginations and fish. In that way the fishing game resembles the golf game.

Here's some hot stuff, George.

The fisherman says "It ain't the idea of the fish, it's the sport of the game."

Some sport—nit—a $10 rod, $20 reel, $30 worth of tackle, boots, coat, etc., mosquitoes, a boiled neck, pipe and tobacco, no matches, all for 18c worth of fish.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Advertisement.

ALLIED GUNS WIPE OUT U. S. CONSULATE

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(By Wireless.)—The destruction of the American consulate at Alexandretta, Asiatic Turkey, during the bombardment by entente allied warships is announced in a delayed Turkish official report dated September 4.

"Small hostile warships shelled the open town of Alexandretta," the statement says. "The damage to Turkish property was insignificant. The United States consulate was destroyed completely. No lives were lost.

"Our coast batteries shelled a hostile transport and monitor off Smyrna. The monitor withdrew enveloped in flames. The transport was hit by two shells and withdrew toward Samos."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

Justice Wilkinson has gone to Ohio on a visit.

Fort Wayne has done grandly in the way of paving her streets this year, and she is not done yet.

A bloody fight occurred just after the noon hour in the grounds in the rear of the baseball league park.

There are no criminal cases of importance to be tried at this term of the circuit court.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Comparet are preparing to move into the house at 322 East Wayne street.

Rev. S. M. Wagenhals returned today from Cresson, Pa., where his family has been spending the summer.

'Twas sleep eternal that came over the beloved Dr. B. S. Woodworth at 7:15 o'clock last evening at the family residence, 234 West Berry street.

Miss Mirriam Cohen, teacher in the public schools, who has been spending her summer vacation in Canada and Michigan, returned home yesterday afternoon.

The death of Dr. B. S. Woodworth removes from the ranks of the medical profession of this city one of its pioneer and most prominent members. His was a useful and honored career.

Harry C. Hanna has sold the Carson property on Columbia street, to W. D. Henderson, for $3,000. The lot is occupied by a three-story brick building, with stores below and residences above.

Yesterday afternoon Ed Suters, the contractor, fell from a scaffold at a new house on Huestis avenue. He sustained internal injury. The man was conveyed to his home, 509 Broadway.

Last evening papers were drawn up for a series of games to be played at League park for the championship of the city and $25 a side. The contesting clubs will be the Dortmunder team and the Pilsner baseball club.

The new public school buildings, one on North Clinton street and the other one in Archer's addition, will not be ready for occupancy before the middle of October. It is regretted that the buildings are not in readiness so that the schools could be organized on the opening day, next Monday.

BOURBONS IN CHARGE OF HUGHES CAMPAIGN

New York, Sept. 11.—It looks like another Alton B. Parker campaign, with Charles E. Hughes in the role of Alton B. Parker.

In 1904 the reactionary element of the democratic party decided that it was time to have a "safe and sane" candidate with "a judicial temperament" to run against the progressive Roosevelt. The result was the smallest vote for the judicial candidate to be found in the history of any republican or democratic candidate since the civil war. The public didn't see things in that kind of a safe and sane way.

It has been well said that the real bourbon never forgets and never learns anything. The Hughes campaign is in the hands of the bourbon element. The progressives have not had a look in.

Even George W. Perkins, late proprietor of the progressive party organization, is regarded as an interloper. He gets a desk where he can go through some harmless motions, while the real business is done by Chairman Willcox and his "advisory committee" of resurrected political mummies.

Chief adviser and chairman of the advisory committee is Frank Hitchcock, who was postmaster general and political manager for Taft. Next to him comes William Ward—"Old Bill Ward" of the Barnes New York state organization.

To assist these, Hughes has chosen Victor Rosewater, the old-time Mark Hanna lieutenant in Nebraska; Charles G. Dawes, who was controller of the currency in President McKinley's regime and is now head of the Central Trust company of Illinois;; Charles W. Fulton, who was once in the senate and there a follower of the late lamented Aldrich, but was long ago overwhelmed by the progressive spirit of his state of Oregon; Theodore E. Burton, ex-senator, who "voted with Aldrich 114 times;" John Wanamaker, merchant prince, who acquired distinction by contributing to the campaign fund of William Howard Taft in that campaign which earned for Taft the electoral votes of Utah and Vermont; A. O. Eberhart, anti-conservation governor of Minnesota, and James Wilson, octogenarian ex-secretary of Agriculture under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft.

These are the folks who are advising Hughes and running his campaign. The first item in their advice has been this: Cut out the Roosevelt business; don't let the country think for a minute that you are his putty man; all that stuff about Belgium, the Lusitania, preparedness, the position of America among foreign nations, universal military training—all that is bad political medicine. Play down the hyphenate stuff, touch on Mexico from time to time, but stick close to the good old tariff, and talk about the rascals in office and violations of the civil service system. This, with a few touches of efficiency and economy, will not offend anybody, and the normal drift of the vote this year is for the normal republican candidate. Just be a republican candidate and don't offend anybody. Hughes' advisers have further added: In going about the country see that you stick to the good old line republicans. Put yourself under the auspices of the tried and true who have run things for years and to whom you owe your nomination; don't get mixed up with this progressive crowd, not even in California; those folks have got to come back and we want them to understand that they come back under our auspices and that we make the issues and run the show.

To this advice Hughes has been absolutely obedient. It has pleased the old guard fine, but the progressives are not so tickled.

ARE YOU LOOKING OLD?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Here's the Man Who Says Music Can Be Tasted

ROBERT W. STEVENS.

Stevens is the man who says music can be tasted. He is director of music at the University of Chicago.

Notes from the flute are like sugar; the clarinet like grape-fruit; the piano like clear water; the violin like claret, and the saxophone like buttermilk, he says.

Chopin is luscious fruit, while Gilbert and Sullivan are prunes. Bach, Stevens finds, is oatmeal, while Irving Berlin is a "penny all-day sucker."

GLASS OF WATER BEFORE YOU EAT ANY BREAKFAST

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels, the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

GOODRICH IN JAY COUNTY.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 11.—James P. Goodrich, republican candidate for governor of Indiana, will tour Jay county next Tuesday, September 12, and arrangements are being made by the voters to give hi ma rousing reception. The tour will close with a rally to be held at Portland at 8 p. m., Tuesday evening, in which Mr. Goodrich will be the principal speaker. Following is the schedule for the day: Salamonie, 9:00 a. m.; Bellefontaine, 9:30 a. m.; New Corydon, arrive 10:15, leave 10:45 a. m.; Bryant, arrive 11:15, leave 11:30 a. m.; Pollingtown, arrive 11:45, leave 12 noon; Balbec, arrive 12:15, leave 12:30 p. m.; Pennville, arrive 12:45, leave 2:30 p. m.; Redkey, arrive 5:00, leave 6:00 p. m.; Portland, 8:00 p. m.

CARRY OFF HONORS.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—W. J. Besson & Son, Kosciusko county hog raisers, carried off the highest honors at the Indiana state fair, which was held at Indianapolis last week. The Kosciusko county entry won first prize in sharp competition with fourteen or fifteen other entries in the same class. Big Smooth Giant, entered by Besson & Son, won easily in his line. W. J. Besson & Son have agreed to exhibit the same hogs at the Kosciusko county fair. It will mean much to the Kosciusko county fair to have state prize winners on exhibition. Indications are that the display of cattle, horses, sheep, hogs and farm produce will be the most elaborate ever shown in northern Indiana.

FIX TAX LEVY.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 11.—The five members of the city council met Friday evening in the city hall with City Attorney E. K. Strong for the purpose of considering the tax levy for the year. Taking into consideration that the city will build a new city hall in the near future and that it will receive no more license money from the four saloons formerly paying into the city treasury $2,000 a year, the tax levy may be raised 10 cents on the $100, thereby making the levy stand at 11.22. The former tax levy was $1.12. At one time when Jos. R. Harrison was first elected mayor of the city the levy stood at $1.45 per hundred and has never been higher.

PERMANENT MEETING PLACE.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—Winona Lake may be made the permanent meeting place for the St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren church. A special committee, representing the conference now in session in the U. B. church i this city, met with Dr. Sol C. Dickey, general manager of Winona Assembly and Bible Conference on Saturday afternoo and discussed the proposition of meeting there each year. The members of the committee outlined the needs of the conference and Dr. Dickey explained what Winona would do. Dr. Dickey issued a cordial invitation to the United Brethren, offering every convenience that Winona can afford.

AUTO HITS MOTORCYCLE.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 11.—Willard Menish sustained a broken leg and Paul Wonderly a broken nose Saturday when their motorcycle was struck by an automobile driven by James Culp at Tipton and Byron streets. The accident was unavoidable bystanders declared. The young men, who live on Guilford street, were going north on Byron street, Mr. Culp was driving his limousine west on Tipton street. An automobile driven by Don Pens was also going up Byron and it is said the young men on the motorcycle were going around the machine.

PROHIBITION RALLY.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 11.—A rally of prohibitionists of DeKalb county will be held in Auburn next Saturday afternoon. Prof. W. O. Baily of the Tri-State college at Angola and the party's candidate for congress, will be present to deliver an address. This is the first meeting of the prohibitionists this fall and the address Saturday will be the opening of the campaign. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house at 2:30 p. m. A good time is assured all those interested in the welfare and general uplift of the community.

ADAIR IN HOME DISTRICT.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 11.—Hon. John A. M. Adair, congressman for this district, and democratic candidate for governor of Indiana, will tour the Eighth district the week of Oct. 2, making a half dozen speeches in each county. According to announcement received today from Frank D. Butler, chairman of the speakers' bureau, Mr. Adair will begin his Eighth district tour in Adams county on Monday, Oct. 2, and will speak during the rest of the week in Wells, Delaware, Madison, Jay and Randolph, devoting one day to each county.

TWO DEATHS AT MONTPELIER.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 11.—One death followed another in quick succession at the home of John Moore in this city this week. Mr. Moore was buried Friday and this morning at 10 o'clock his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Shull, 82, died of paralysis at the Moore home. Mrs. Shull was one of the pioneer residents of the county, coming to Montpelier in 1853. She was the widow of John Shull, former well known Montpelier war veteran. Two children survive, Mrs. John Moore, of this city, and Thomas Shull, of Kansas.

ARGOS MAN SUICIDES.

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 11.—James Davis, of Argos, father-in-law of Postmaster John M. Wickizer, took his life at his home two miles south of Argos. He employed a shot gun to accomplish his purpose. He was a man 74 years of age and had been acting strangely for several weeks, but none of his people realized that he contemplated self-destruction. He lived near his son, Bert Davis, and was still breathing when his son and family arrived at his home. Death followed shortly.

GOES TO COLORADO.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—Rev. F. P. Overmeyer, pastor of the Warsaw Brethren church, has been appointed superintendent of the Colorado district of the church and will move to Colorado Springs within tw weeks. The announcement of Rev. Overmyer's elevation to the superintendency by the general church board, was made before the St. Joseph conference, in session in this city, on Saturday forenoon by Bishop R. H. Fout, of Indianapolis, the presiding officer.

SEEK MAUZY'S RELEASE.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 11.—Another fight to secure the freedom of John Mauzy, who was convicted on a charge of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment from this county on Nov. 6, 1906, will be made when the board of pardons meets for a three day session on Sept. 26. Mauzy's case has been up before the board several times, however, each time it has been turned down. A petition asking for his release was circulated in this city some time ago and there were many signers.

SALOONKEEPER FINED.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 11.—Three thousand dollars damages are asked by Mrs. Clara Imbody, of Garrett, from John Trapp, a saloonkeeper in that city, who, she alleges, has caused her great mental distress, shame and humiliation by unlawfully selling her husband intoxicating liquors causing him to threaten her life and attack her with a knife. The complaint has just been filed with the county clerk.

BADGER ESCAPES.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 11.—The employes at the Lake Erie depot had an exciting time of it Saturday morning when it was discovered that a live badger had broken loose from its cage and was enjoying the freedom of the baggage room. The animal was consigned to J. F. Dawley, residing east of this city, who conducts a "One Man Fair," and arrived Friday by express.

BAPTISTS AT MONTPELIER.

Montpelier, Ind., Sept. 11.—The Salamonie Association of Baptist churches will be entertained in this city on September 20-21. It is presumed that about 400 members of the various churches in this district will be in attendance. The local Baptist church is being re-frescoed and put in excellent condition and will be in readiness for the entertainment of the visitors.

WILL HAUL CHILDREN.

Newville, Ind., Sept. 11.—Trustee Tustison has closed a contract with Adrian Beree and Wallace Warner to haul the school children from district No. 2 and district No. 6 to the town school, beginning September 11.

PICNIC AT ROME CITY.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 11.—Sheriff Gus Skibbie, of Wood county, Ohio, took in custody Stanley Smith, who is wanted there on the charge of burglarizing a store at Bradner, Ohio.

DEATH OF A BABY.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 11.—William, fourteen months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Osborn, is dead at the home of his parents. The funeral services were held this afternoon.

HOW TO GIVE GOOD ADVICE.

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SAYS ARMENIAN RACE FACES DESTRUCTION

Hideous Charges Against Turks Made by Russian Officer.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11.—The Armenian race is face to face with destruction.

extermination of unoffending communities, the objects of bitter and ferocious hatred.

The situation is unprecedented in history.

Thousands of Armenians have completely disappeared during this modern campaign of excessive brutality.

Hundreds of young women have been seized as slaves for the Turkish army and for inmates of the Turkish harems.

Suicide among Armenian women is a common occurrence. They prefer death to a more cruel fate.

Such is the dark picture of one phase of the European war drawn by Captain N. Der-Hagopian, an engineer with the Russian army in Armenia. He is in the United States to aid in a campaign for the relief of his distressed people.

From his experience in the campaign of 1915 he relates terrible experiences which befell the Armenians as they were buffeted about by Turkish armies. If such occurrences are allowed to continue, he declares they will become a blot on the civilization of the twentieth century.

"No one civilized will ever forgive the Turks for their abuse of the young women of my country and for sufferings they inflicted on women and little children," he said.

"In one battle we dislodged the Turks from trenches near Bidlis and they retreated to the town ahead of us. As soon as they reached the place they reveled in their fiendish work of looting and massacreing the innocent people. Then after having abducted all the young women for slaves in the army, they burned the city.

"Our forces did not enter the city because of the burning bodies and the stench. From a hill where I watched the city burn the moans of women and children could be distinctly heard.

"On another occasion inhabitants retreating from Bargherry village were attacked by Kurds. Our men repulsed the attack but it was impossible to check the fear of the women. Hundreds of them threw themselves into the river, especially the young women from Van. They plunged into the deep water, preferring death to capture by the Turks and imprisonment in harems. So numerous were the suicides that evening that in one place the stream was black with dark-clothed corpses.

"This is not war. It is the destruction of humanity and civilization."

"DON'T KILL TIME," ADVISES FORMER BELLHOP, NOW A BIG HOTEL MANAGER.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Johnny Calvey was always on the job when he was a bellhop at the Auditorium hotel. He was a ruddy-cheeked lad with a smile in his Irish eyes and everybody liked him.

That was twenty years ago.

Johnny is still hopping around the Auditorium corridors, but he moves with the dignity of a general manager, for he has hopped right into the biggest hotel position in Chicago.

"I think I got here because this is the place I started for," says Calvey, explaining his success. "You will never get anywhere, you know, unless you know where you are going.

"I was never much of a loafer and when they wanted me I was always there. My mother had always told me that when I worked I must work honestly.

"I took a lot of fun with my work, but I wasn't a time-killer.

"I still play when I am not working. I try to take my work intelligently, but not seriously. It's intelligence that wins in the long run."

Clarence Peacock Tells of Desperate Encounter With the Sea.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11.—Mourned by his family as dead after his clothing was found on the ocean beach, Clarence Peacock, a mechanic, has returned to his home here with a story of a harrowing adventure at sea.

He went for a swim in the surf, according to his explanation of his absence, and was gripped by an undertow and carried out to sea. For 30 hours he clung to a wooden pile, his body exposed to chilling winds and waves.

Nearly dead and so benumbed he couldn't relax his grip on the pile, he was discovered by the crew of a Swedish vessel and carried on board. Through their ministrations he was brought back to life and landed at Seattle, where he wired his wife that he was alive.

Bruises and lacerations covering his body tend to substantiate his story.

"I guess it wasn't my time to go," said Peacock. "But, believe me, I shall take no more swims in the ocean surf."

Mothers--This Child Was Cured of Bed-Wetting

Mrs. C. W. Peters, Lancaster, Pa., R. 3, writes: "My six-year-old girl has wet the bed since she was a baby. I found no relief until I tried your sample of Foley Kidney Pills. I saw they were helping her, and bought two bottles of my druggist and she is altogether cured. Thanks to Foley Kidney Pills for the benefit I have found in them, as it takes a lot of washing off me. I have told a number of mothers since I found the cure."

Parents no longer scold or punish a child for bed-wetting. Instead, they improve the little one's physical condition, until the annoying and mortifying act is done away with.

A few simple rules aided by the use of Foley Kidney Pills will stop any ordinary case of bed-wetting that is not caused by obstruction or malformation of the parts. They are safe to take and absolutely free of harmful drugs. Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Av., Chicago, will send their leaflet on bed-wetting to any one asking for it.

PRETTY FACE MAKES GIRL THE HIGHEST SALARIED MODEL IN COUNTRY.

Mae Burns

No foreign prince ever called Mae Burns the prettiest girl in America, but a few years ago she discovered she wasn't altogether bad looking, and decided her face would be her fortune. She posed in a fashion show and hats and frocks she wore became famous. Now she is called the "best fashion model in the country." She is also the best paid model and some business men might envy her her income.

THE POPULAR UNEVEN BRIM

IT'S against the law this season to wear a straight, stiff hat brim. At least that is what first-class milliners are saying. Your hat may have a straight brim with a flopping tendency, or it may have a stiff brim cocked up at the side or the front, but it must not have a straight and stiff brim combined.

An illustration of the unevenness of brims is made in this hat of black velvet. The width of the brim is greater on the left than on the right side, and at the side front it is turned up.

The scantier the trimming the nattier the hat, is the motto of all exclusive milliners. Following this rule, a gray and white bird is the sole trimming of the model shown. Feather ornaments, by the way, are very popular. Wings, bands and motifs of guinea hen and of pheasants are particularly favored. Frequently feathers are pasted in flat motifs, rich in design and decorative in color. Bands and fancies of burnt goods imitating astrakhan fur and cross algrette are a novelty.

FOR TWO SHADES OF SATIN

IT HAS been taken for granted that satin is the favorite child of Dame Fashion this season. With this proved fact in mind, the artist has sketched a frock that lends itself to two shades of satin most satisfactorily. If you are fond of gray and can wear it, this gown would be as charming a one in that color as you can find. Let the lining, then, be blue, or deep rose or black.

Can't you see sewing machines all over whirring away at work on different interpretations of this frock? It is so makeable that one can scarcely help having a try at it. The skirt is plain, a slightly flared three-gored model. The blouse uses an odd yoke which humps into a collar effect at the back. Other than this the blouse is quite an ordinary affair. Sleeves too are plain with the exception of the bands which slip thru the slits at the wrist. The lined cascade portions are applied separately after the whole frock is finished. Two slits are picoted in the blouse and in the skirt at each side. Thru these are slipped the lined pieces of silk which are draped slightly to give a soft effect. A girdle of the darker silk slips thru them at the belt and fastens with a buckle in front. If one wishes to make the frock a trifle dressier the blouse could be made of a transparent material like Georgette crepe to match either shade of the satin.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Gasoline Ring

Is there a way to use gasoline without its leaving a ring? Every time I use it there is an ugly ring left. G. D. F.

If you have used gasoline to clean any fabric and find it leaves a ring, hold the cloth over a steaming kettle and the ring may disappear.

Ink Stain

What will take a large ink stain out of a white linen dress? I have tried lemon.

Oxalic acid ought to take it out. Wet the spot with cold water, then drop the acid on the stain, let stand a few minutes and then rinse in water to which a little ammonia has been added.

THERE are some people who are blessed with the gift of arranging flowers artistically. There are others who are not so fortunate. For the latter class, however, many new devices have been invented whereby the most inartistic person can arrange her flowers to display their full beauty.

Very lovely are the Japanese bowls with colorful pebbles and perforated holders into which the smallest bouquet can be tucked and yet look quite elaborate.

The wire frames made to fit over the top of bowls enable one to use flowers of various lengths and also give one an opportunity to combine different flowers, being careful to select the right colors—it is well to suggest the the bowl or vase selected to hold the flowers be of the proper color so that the bouquet and its holder will not clash. Frequently the wire frames cost more than one cares to spend for them. In this case, one can procure wire stands sold to support coffee and teapots for as little as 10 cents.

The sad part about cut flowers is the fact that they fade so quickly. Much can be done, however, to prolong their life. Roses, carnations and orchids have been found to keep for a greater length of time than they ordinarily would if a small quantity of sugar is added to the water. This is taken up and helps to keep the cells of the flowers from collapsing, and thus wilting. A small lump of starch will also have the same effect.

Other flowers begin to bleed as soon as they are cut. The sap which runs out of the stem causes the cells to collapse immediately. To prevent this, the ends of the stems should be closed either by searing them in a flame or dipping them in hot water. The flowers which will stand this treatment are dahlias, heliotrope, nasturtiums and maidenhair ferns.

To prolong the life of carnations and chrysanthemums put fresh water on them daily and slip a small piece from the stems each time the water is changed. While cutting this piece off keep the stem under water so that no air bubbles are allowed to enter the stalk and thus retard the upward flow of water.

To preserve the fragrance of violets they should be placed under a glass globe immediately and no air should be allowed to reach them. To keep a quantity of violets to send away or to use later, tie them in bunches, sprinkle with water and wrap them in a wet newspaper, placing them in a cool spot.

If you ever have occasion to send away large-headed flowers, such as chrysanthemums or peonies, wrap each blossom in waxed paper.

REGARDING SUITS

THERE are a few points that are pushing their way to the top, so far as coat suits are concerned.

The sports suits for early fall wear are made of novelty checks, plaids and stripes, as well as plain fabrics. Suits made of knitted fabrics are especially prominent.

Favor is being shown to long suit coat. A few of them reach to within two or three inches of the skirt hem. Of course these are extreme. The less pretentious ones reach to the knee or slightly below that point.

With the coming of the long coats one naturally expects to see the fitted line emphasized. This is all very well for the older woman, but for the woman who wishes to retain a youthful figure something must be done. In consequence Fashion favors high and low waist lines in coats, and thereby allows plenty of variety of youthful effects.

An outcome of the long coat is the plain skirt. Of course here and there more elaborate ones are shown, but as a rule the first described are more prominent. The tendency is largely for the simple skirt gathered on at the waist line, or cut in flare effect or showing the use of pleats.

The use of fur trimming on suits is very noticeable. Many models have the large, draped sailor or cape collar made of fur. Sometimes these collars are lined with the suit material. Other models have collars made of the material and edged with fur bands. Fur buttons are very much in favor.

Miss Caroline Nahrwald and Mr. Rudolph Werling were married on Thursday, Sept. 7, at Bethlehem Lutheran church by Rev. Mr. Nees. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Conrad Nahrwald and the groom is a farmer who lives near Tocsin. Misses Minna Werling, Martha Westhoff and Pauline Meyer were the bridesmaids and Mr. Robert Werling was groomsman. Messrs. Fred Brandhorst, of Fort Wayne, and John Kammeyer, of Woodburn, were the ushers at the church. A large reception took place and an elegant wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, following the wedding service. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Werling.

AT THE PALACE

Beautiful Little Fantasy Features Bill at Palace.

With George Phelps and Jack Princeton in the principal roles, Menlo Moore is presenting a beautiful little fantasy, "The Bachelor's Reverie," at the meat course on the New Palace menu for the first four days of the week. The little oddity is simply crammed with amusing comedy and dainty song. A young bachelor sitting in his great easy chair before an open fire dreams of some of his conquests in the love lists. A quartet of his old time sweethearts are conjured out of the past and some pretty little love scenes ensue. Jack Princeton as Bill Bassett, the slangy, accommodating friend, who impersonates a step-mother so that the girls may be properly chaperoned injects some clever comedy into the playlet. The costuming is elaborate and as usual Menlo Moore has found girls so good looking that any bachelor might dream dreams over the memories of his idylls.

Lewis, Belmont and Lewis comprise a well balanced trio of gloom dispellers. They call their skit "After the Matinee" and in it the artists sing a bit dance a bit and talk a whole lot. One of the men and the girl sing a song about "there being just a little bit of bad in the good little girls" that goes over big. Ameta, the sensational mirror and classical dancer, closes the bill. Ameta is a handsome young woman and is a graceful dancer reviving the almost forgotten skirt dance in a variety of forms. Bessie LaCount is the finished product. The little girl is singing a group of new songs in a new way. Her imitation of a man dressing and then a girl dressing, done while she is singing her lament that she isn't a boy, is more than passingly clever.

Dolly and Calame are rapid fire dancers and vocalists who make a nifty appearance and get by easily. Hubert Dyer, the nut of all nuts, opens the show with some rough and tumble absurdities that never fail to score for him.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Great "Kick In" is Offering This Week; Matinee Reception Tuesday.

The new thrill promised Fort Wayne theatergoers, with the announcement that Willard Mack's greatest of all crook plays was to play an engagement in this city, will be experienced at the Temple theater today, when "Kick In" will be the offering of the new stock company. A powerful cast, headed by Miss Anna Bert and Mr. Jack Doty will interpret one of the most powerful and impelling stories of New York's underworld ever seen here.

Ever since it was first announced that "Kick In" was scheduled for presentation here by the Temple Stock company, interest has steadily increased, for everyone is anxious to witness the play which made such a profound impression in New York as to compel it to remain on Broadway, at the Republic theater, for a solid year. It is said that no comedy drama of recent years offers as many excuses for wholesale laughter and wholesome thrills, and he must be a hardened man of the world who could sit through its four engrossing acts without experiencing a tingling sensation along the spine.

Included in the cast are such Metropolitan favorites as the Misses Ann Bert, Claire Maslin, Mae Tipton, Maud Grafton and Mr. Jack Doty, Owen Coil, Maurice Jenkins, Walter Turner, Carl Reed, Chas. Franklyn and other well known portrayers of all that is best in the drama. A matinee reception will follow the performance tomorrow afternoon.

NINE COLONELS TO ADVANCE.

Conference on Promotions in Marine Corps Is Held.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Upon his return here today from Atlantic City Secretary Daniels prepared to confer with Major General Barnett, commanding the United States marine corps, regarding the selection of four additional officers from the line to fill positions of brigadier generals created by the new navy bill. Nine officers are eligible for promotion to the higher rank from the list of colonels. Prominent among those mentioned in this connection are Colonels L. W. T. Waller, who commanded the expeditionary force in Haiti; John A. Lejune, attached to marine headquarters here; Eli K. Cole, who commanded the first brigade in Haiti and Chas. A. Doyen, commanding the marine barracks here.

HOW LONG IS A LAUGH?

THE TABLEAU AT WHICH AUDIENCES MAKE A "RECORD."

IF you stopped the first ten men you met on a given corner and asked each of them to tell you just how long he took to laugh at a joke in the theatre, the chances are good that the answers would range from four seconds to half an hour.

The last thing a man knows, when he is laughing at a play, is how much time he gives to each laugh. It is, therefore, the easiest thing in the world for him to be deceived about.

But any good stage manager of a good farce can tell you to a split second, and some of the statistics of the stage manager of "Fair and Warmer," Avery Hopwood's tumultuous laughmaker, are as amazing as they are exact.

The average hearty laugh in the theatre lasts nine seconds. That is a goodly roar, too—no puny chuckle. Sometimes even quite successful farces go from curtain to curtain with no laugh over nine seconds. It sounds picayune—but it indicates a very fair degree of enjoyment.

Many successful comedies have merely chuckles all through—those fugitive murmurs that run over an audience like a light wind and are beloved of the actors because they prove that the audience is warm and pleasantly responsive. These chuckles last five or six seconds. If you stop and listen to one, the next time you see a comedy, you'll realize—probably for the first time in your life—what a good laugh can be got into a tiny space of actual time.

But the five-second chuckle and the ten-second laugh are by no means the most astonishing phenomena that the stage manager has for you.

He can give you figures on what the theatre people know, a little inelegantly but aptly, as "the stomach laugh." It runs anywhere from 18 seconds to—get ready for the shock—43 seconds. For the "big laugh" in "Fair and Warmer" runs to 43 seconds, night in and night out, and it is by ten seconds longer than any other laugh the recent farces have created.

How do they time the laughs? It is just the time between the end of the line you laugh at, and the moment when the player begins the next line, and you stop laughing to listen!

It is timed by the stage manager because he has to arrange a little pantomime for the players, in which they wait gracefully while you are laughing! The moment they speak you stop laughing. You are allowed to laugh as long as you will, then the play begins again.

In the prompter's manuscript there are directions for how long the players must wait. That is how the records of long laughs are kept. In the prompter's copy of "Twin Beds," for example, there is a direction for 33 seconds' wait. In "It Pays to Advertise" there were three big laughs in straight succession, which, though the audience would have said it had surely laughed half an hour without stopping, actually totalled up to 60 seconds! Just one minute's time for three terrific outbursts!

The line in "Fair and Warmer" on which they get their 43-second uproar is the seemingly innocent "She said she'd do it, and she did." Perhaps you can find out what it means from the picture.

THE IDEAL SEWING DAYS

THESE days are ideal, and the woman who is wise will do her sewing now.

Many women protest at sewing. They declare it does not pay—that in these days of ready-made garments sewing is a waste of time—but sewing does pay, always pays. If it is a lost art, as many women seem to think it is, why is it taught in most schools nowadays, as well as in the fashionable fluishing schools? True, in the latter places sewing is more in the line of embroidery, but many a woman in times of stress has turned to good account the sewing and embroidery lessons taught her in the school room.

Every woman should learn to sew and should take a certain pride in that accomplishment. Where children are in the household, being able to sew for them is a godsend to the average mother, and the woman with any taste at all can design little frocks far smarter than any ready-made garment. Furthermore, two of these tiny dresses can be obtained for the price of one bought ready made.

Sewing is just as necessary today as in the days when women spun their linen thread and afterward wove it into cloth, and where money is "an object" the work of making "ends meet" comes less hard on the woman who can sew.

Another excuse women offer for not sewing is that they "haven't time." A large number of women never have any time, simply because they do not manage their work systematically. They are always on the verge of nervous prostration trying to do several things at one time, an impossible feat for a human being.

Arrange your work systematically. Have a time for sewing as well as for cooking and sweeping. Then you will have much more time for everything.

MILADY'S BEAUTY

WHITE spots on the nails are sometimes caused by bruises or the nourishing juices being stopped in some way. Try putting on them at night a paste made from a dram of turpentine and myrrh, mixed, removing in the morning with olive oil.

THE unpleasant odor arising from the hair in summer is due to improper ventilation. The false hair now largely worn is very heating, causing free perspiration and unless frequently aired and shampooed the hair becomes sticky, unmanageable and unpleasantly odorous. Gentle massage is soothing, it stimulates the oil glands, and is best done at night before retiring.

SUPERFLUOUS hair can be removed only by one means—the electric needle. Peroxide and ammonia are used to bleach the hair and by continuous use will lessen their growth, but they never really destroy the hairs as does the electro needle, which follows each little hair down to the place where it lives and promptly annihilates it.

THIS jelly will be found very efficacious for removing tan and softening the hands: Gum tragacanth, white, 120 grains; water, 14 ounces; glycerin, 1 ounce; tincture of benzoin, 2 drams; borax powder, 120 grams; white rose extract, 4 drams. Macerate the tragacanth in the water until perfectly soft and dissolve the borax in the glycerin. Mix the two solutions, add the tincture and strain through muslin.

EYEBROWS give expression to the face almost as much as the eyes themselves. One can do a great deal to alter and improve the shape of the brows. Daily care will improve the growth and gloss of the brows, and by gentle stroking between the fingers. The fingers should be well moistened with olive oil or vaseline, which also stimulates growth.

THE biggest problem of all to the woman who would keep her good looks is the matter of wrinkles. A generation ago she gave up without a fight, but since the coming of massage and simple devices of all sorts she dare no longer indulge in such disfiguration as long as it may be prevented. One woman's simple cure-all is the cream bath. She dabs her face with hot water until it is heated thoroughly, then applies the cream, fresh from the dairy, letting it dry on her face. She puts on more cream, massaging it into the wrinkles particularly. It is then washed with warm water and lightly powdered.

IN sheer despair women have turned to wigs. They have tortured their hair into so many kinds of shapes demanded by fashion, and they have spent so many wearisome hours doing it, that the wig is a relief from trouble. These are beautifully made of glossy hair on a gauze foundation that has neither weight nor warmth. There is enough hair for it to be arranged in any becoming and leading fashion and one does not have to submit to the annoyance of sitting to have it waved and arranged into an elaborate coiffure.

A SHAPELY and well-cared for hand is a great ornament to a woman, but even if your hand is not beautiful in the first place, you can, by careful attention, make it look almost pretty. Always be careful to wipe your hands absolutely dry after each time you wash them, and always rinse all the soap off of them in some clear water. Never go out of doors with your hands at all damp. If you have to wash dishes you should have some rubber gloves and use them to protect your hands while doing so. Almond whitener is a splendid hand wash, and you can rub it on your hands after every time you wash them if you wish. Always devote a few moments every day to your nails, rubbing the cuticle back of them, etc. Then, once a week, you should manicure them well; it is a simple thing to do yourself.

IF you cannot go to a professional masseuse, it is well to own one of the massaging cups that can be bought for a small sum and do much to stir up a free circulation and to give exercise to muscles. These are small glass cups with a rubber top. The latter is worked gently and the suction is quickly felt on the flesh. These cups can be profitably used after the face has been well washed and grease rubbed in. Be careful to work it in an upward and outward motion, as otherwise wrinkles will result.

YOUR skin is a sufferer in summer from many causes besides the hot sun. One of the chief sources of discomfort is dust. This is particularly bad if one must live in the city and go back and forth to business in open street cars. Do not attempt to remove this dust with cold water. Carry in your bag a small tube of cleansing cream or a vial of rose water and glycerin mixed. Wipe off the face with either of these cleansers as soon as you come indoors. In this way the pores are not given time to become clogged. If you feel water to be indispensable mop the face with hot water, using a pure cleansing soap. If your skin can stand it a glycerin soap is a good dust remover.

THE beauty of many a woman is completely spoiled by neglect of her hair. If women could only be brought to a realization of what beautiful hair will do for them, we should not see so many greasy, stringy looking heads. There are many small attentions which should be given the hair, but the principal one is washing, and unless shampooing is well, regularly and thoroughly done the damage inflicted cannot be overcome. More than one woman has injured her scalp by not rinsing out all the soap, for instance, and another hers by drying with heat. No matter how pressed for time one may be, or how tired, the scalp and hair should be dried only by rubbing. If there is any reason why this may not be done then postpone the shampoo until it may be properly finished.

FOR the care of the teeth have a good bristle brush, a box of tooth soap, paste and mouth wash and a spool of dental floss, says a writer. A little pumice can be used with the soap once in a while to clean tartar from the teeth. Gold teeth should be cleaned with powder at least once a week. A good mouth wash is listerine or rose water diluted with water. Ordnary baking soda is good to use, especially if the teeth are decayed. By all means have teeth filled as soon as they show signs of decay. A set of bad teeth, even one's own, if properly cared for and patched up, are better than artificial ones. Fine salt and weak vinegar water will cleanse yellow teeth. Medicine stains can be removed with acids. In severe cases dip a pointed stick into muratic acid, rub the stick over the tooth, without touching the gum, and immediatey wash the teeth with soda water. This is not dangerous, but it must be used with great care. It whitens the teeth.

THE WALL OF JEALOUSY

BY GENE A. GARNER.

THE first quarrel my wife and I ever had was when she wanted to give a little musicale in our home and did not name my sisters among the young people she was inviting.

"You have forgotten Mary and Anna," I reminded her.

"No," she said, "I have not forgotten them. But we cannot have them at every affair we give."

"Why not?" I asked. "We have had them at everything so far."

"Yes," Helen acknowledged, "I know we have, and we cannot keep that up always. The longer we defer entertaining without their assistance and presence, the harder it will be to begin. We would have to do so sooner or later anyway."

"But they are always helpful," I argued. "You have often said how nice they are about advising you."

"I have not said they were 'nice' about advising me," she corrected. "I have said they often advise me."

"Well," I suggested, after a moment's thought, "suppose we do as you propose and leave the girls out of this affair and ask mother and father instead."

"That would never do," she explained; "for this is a young people's musicale. There are to be no elderly persons present."

I felt very uncomfortable about the matter and could only hope that my family would not hear of the function.

A few days later when I stopped in, as was my frequent custom, to see my mother, on my way home from business, she asked me bluntly how it happened that we had given a young people's party and left my sisters out.

"They were surprised and hurt," she remarked.

I had felt all along that Helen was making a mistake, yet now I found myself championing her cause and speaking from her viewpoint.

"Why, mother," I said, "you see we know a good many people, and I do not think that the girls ought to expect to be invited to every entertainment we give."

"Why not?" she asked, just as I had done in my dispute with my wife.

"Well," I replied lamely, "Helen is a young housekeeper, and naturally she likes to run her own house unassisted—at least, she likes to show that she can do so. And if she has some of my people on hand all the time it looks a bit as if she depended upon them for help and advice, doesn't it?"

"I see," my mother said slowly. "Then Helen resents our desire to help her. The girls and I will try to be more careful in the future. We meant only to be kind."

I decided to talk no more of a painful subject and not mention Helen to my family, nor my family to Helen. I saw that for a while my wife was relieved by this arrangement. And I became uncomfortably aware that my mother and sisters had bored her; that she had social aspirations above theirs, that—as she would have put it—she wanted to live her own life. I also became convinced that she thought I, too, was drifting away from my own people.

I could not stand this and I forced myself to say casually to Helen, one evening, that I had stopped in to see mother, as usual, on my way home from the office. "As usual!" Helen echoed. "You go there just as often as you once did?"

"Certainly," I replied with dignity. "I go to see my mother at least twice a week, as I have always done and always shall do."

"In spite of the fact that she snubs and dislikes your wife?" Helen asked.

"It is not her fault that there is a breach between you and her," I said. "It is not of her making."

"Oh!" she exclaimed. "How can you say such a thing! Just because I showed that I had a mind of my own, and would not be directed and ruled by your mother and sisters, they have let me severely alone. And all this time, when I thought you were on my side, you have been going to see them. You, my husband, love them so much better than you love me that you stand for that kind of thing!"

"Helen!" I chided, "I love nobody better than you!"

"Then stop going to see your people!" she demanded.

I said nothng, but went out of the room and left her alone with her wrath.

Since then I have never again told her when I have been to see my mother or sisters. I know that she knows, and she knows that I know she knows.

Yet the matter is never mentioned by either of us. It stands between us like a stone wall—a wall that can never be removed because it is built of a man's loyalty to his own and of a wife's jealousy of that loyalty.

FROM FASHIONDOM

BY MRS. KINGSLEY.

THE Parisienne are very fond of wearing transparent waterproof coats when motoring on dull days. These coats are charming in a bright shade of sapphire blue; they are also effective in carnation-red, with cuffs and collar of black leather buttons.

Pockets are still ubiquitous. They are introduced at all possible and impossible points of a coat or wrap. Pockets large and pockets small. There are large side pockets, bordered with fur, which are so often seen on tailor-made skirts. These pockets are deep and practical, and since it is the fashion to have one's skirt bunchy at the sides, it is possible to stow away a number of useful things in the side pocket.

The long straight muffler, made of knitted silk or of velvet, is a delightful item of feminine attire. It is immensely becoming and quite inexpensive. They are having these fascinating scarfs made of all sorts of materials, and in the most unexpected colors and combinations of color.

A famous beauty recently appeared in Paris wearing a muffler tie, large flat muff and jaunty toque, all made of checker-board velveteen, black and white. The linings were flamingo-red satin, and there were splendid fringes, black silk, on the tie and muff. At one side of the quaint little toque there was a flamingo-red mount which looked rather like a miniature fan.

The French beret is nothing more or less than the Tam-o'-shanter. It is a large circular piece of velvet gathered into a narrow band which fits the head tightly. At the close of the Biarritz summer season these large berets, in black or dark blue velvet, were immensely popular. The pretty Spaniards wore them with pure white costumes at all hours of the day.

When the Tam-o'-Shanter is correctly worn, slightly on the side of the head, it is very becoming. And it is the easiest thing possible to make. The large circle of velvet must be lined with thick, soft silk to keep it in shape, and the band to which this full crown is attached must fit the head perfectly.

ODDS & ENDS

CUTTING a soft corn requires dexterity, for in formation it is not unlike a tough blister. Unfortunately, while it may be loosened around the edges, which detaches it almost entirely, it is held in the center by a growth that goes into the foot, and to get this out without causing blood to flow and making soreness is almost impossible. Before cutting the foot must be soaked to make the skin soft. Then a flat orangewood stick, sometimes a better implement than a knife, must be used. Trimming must be done as soon as the growth begins to form again.

THE use of a hot-water bag is occasionally unsatisfactory when a wet application is required, and the continued use of wet hot cloths, thus allowng cool air to reach the patient during the change, is not beneficial. Apply a hot wet cloth that is laid in many folds; upon this lay the bag of hot water and it will maintain a regular warmth for two or three hours. Sometmes it is well to wring the cloths from strong salt or mustard water.

EXTREMELY handsome-looking cushions for porch and summer use can be made from monk's cloth, as it is called. It is a fabric that is between common burlap and the more expensive crafts-man's canvas. It is not so harsh in texture as the latter and a little more closely woven than the former. It comes in staple colorings and the usual decoration is a design cut from cretonne that is sewn to the cloth with a couching stitch. A black cord makes a most effective outline. The cloth is fifty inches wide and costs 65 cents a yard.

DAINTY alms bags can be made at little cost by any girl who knows how to crochet. For a fairly good-sized motif in Irish crochet must be purchased and then a paper pattern of the bag cut. Its shape is usually straight across the top and rounded on the bottom. The motif is basted down on the paper in the center and picot stitch is used until the paper is covered. A piece the same size is worked for the back of the bag and may be entirely in picot stitch. The two pieces are sewed together, leaving an opening at the top and all edges are finished with a narrow crochet lace. The bag should be lined with soft silk in a delicate shade and ribbons for drawing up will be run through an inch or so below the top.

EXERCISE that will reduce the hips must be performed regularly every day, night and morning for at least ten minutes, and preferably fifteen. They must also be done so that cords and muscles about the wrist are pulled and stretched; otherwise they will be useless. After all tight garments have been removed one may sit astride a chair, facing the back and holding firmly by the hands. The body is then twisted, first one way and then the other, as far as it can be without moving in the seat at all. Any change in the seat will make the exercise worthless. After that one may lie flat on the back and raise first one foot and then the other as high as can be done, so that the pull is felt from the waist. Another movement is to stand on one foot, and, clasping the other knee, try to lift it to the chest.

FORT WAYNE LOSES HARD FOUGHT GAME

Delphos Team Puts Over the Winning Run in the Twelfth Inning.

In probably the best as well as the most exciting baseball game that has been seen at League park this season, the Fort Wayne City team was defeated in the twelfth inning Sunday by the fast Delphos, O., aggregation. The score was 4 to 2.

The visitors were headed by "Dummy" Kihm, a former leaguer, and at one time a Fort Wayne player. The home team scored twice in the fifth inning and that was all. The scores came after the visitors had put one over. In the ninth Delphos scored again, tieing the score. In the twelfth inning two more scores were registered by the visitors. Fort Wayne was unable to score in its half of the inning.

Both Distel, for the locals, and Dittoe, a southpaw, for the visitors, pitched great ball. The official score was as follows:

Two More Contests.

Two more contests in the northern Indiana series are scheduled for the golf team representing the Country club. On Wednesday of next week the local team will play Logansport on the local links. The final match will be played with Huntington. Fort Wayne has a fair chance for the championship.

Writes Evans Not to Come.

Fred H. McCulloch, chairman of the golf committee at the Country club, has written Chick Evans, the new amateur golf champion of the United States, who was to have visited here this month, not to come. The new links are being put in and the present links are badly cut up. Plans are under way to have Evans visit Fort Wayne next summer.

WESTERN GAS TAKES FIRST OF BIG SERIES

Team Work of Champs Puts Them on Long End of 3 to 2 Score.

The Western Gas team, champions of the Fort Wayne industrial league, defended its title by winning the first of a post-season series from the Hillinger All-Stars Saturday afternoon at League park. The teamwork of the champs put them on the long end of the 3 to 2 score. The twirling of Smith for the Gasmen and Grimes for the All-Stars featured the game, which was close throughout, the winning run being the result of an error.

The second game of the series will be played next Saturday and the chances are that the All-Stars will make it one game apiece. The score in Saturday's game was as follows:

All-Stars	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—2	6	2

SPORT DOPE

Ty Cobb is gaining weight with advancing years. At the close of the season he will have his tonsils removed.

George Sisler has never been fired from a big league game. Neither have the Chinese ball players now touring the United States been ejected for using unbecoming language to the umpires.

Mathematically the Browns still have a chance—showing how figures lie.

With winter coming on, Clark Griffith is about due to claim a pennant and Willie Hoppe to win another cue title.

Ban Johnson is said to have the softest job in baseball, but he hasn't a thing on the umpires who patrol the foul lines in a world series.

One of the most commendable features of Freddie Welsh's championship fights is the fearlessness with which referees defend Freddie Welsh's title.

Some ball players consider it unlucky to be presented with a loving cup. Others say it is more unlucky to be presented with a can.

Reports from Dixie indicate that floods have queered the schedule of the South Atlantic league. This is the same section, we believe, that is called the sunny south.

NERVE MAKES BOB JONES, 14, SENSATION OF GOLF SEASON.

(By Harold Johnson.)

They all look alike to Bobby Jones, aged 14.

Beaten by Bob Gardner, 1915 national amateur golf champion, in the fourth day's play of the recent title tourney at the Merion Cricket club, Philadelphia, 4 and 3, after leading on the morning round, 1 up, this prodigy of the links, a Dixie product, is the most sensational figure now playing the ancient Scottish game.

With his rare nerve and the skill of a veteran, Bobby recalls memories of Francis Ouimet at the time he beat Vardon and Ray, but in addition the southern youth has other unusual qualities.

Jones came north for the first time to compete in the titular event, and, though regarded with keen interest from the start, really established himself as a contender by downing Eben Byers, a former national title holder, and Franklin Dyer, one of the foremost Jersey stars.

The new streak was born in Atlanta, and is the son of one of the most prominent lawers in the south. His grandfather, C. T. Jones, is president of the Georgia Central railroad, and reputed to be the wealthiest man in Georgia. The boy's home is just across the street from the East Lake golf club, the finest course the other side of the Mason and Dixon line.

The elder Jones, an old time football star, is fond of golf and Bobby at the age of 5 was trailing his father over the East Lake links. The youth from the start showed a natural attitude for the game. He was put in charge of Steward Mardon, who developed the boy's game. The latter won the Georgia state title this year. In the finals he ripped off 17 holes in 64 strokes.

In another championship at Birmingham he scored a 70 and 69 in the final round. At Knoxville for still another title, Bobby played the finals in a heavy rainstorm, but still got a 77.

Jones is a husky lad who looks considerably older than 14. His golf is far from being freaky. There are few in the game who can outdrive him. His iron shots are splendid, especially recoveries from trouble. On the green Jones wastes but few puts.

Unlike most golfers, Bobby doesn't get unnerved after making a poor shot. Between strokes he likes to twist a club in his hand like the habit of swinging a cane.

WHEELING TO CONTEST AWARDING OF PENNANT

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 11—The awarding of the pennant to Springfield for winning the last half of the season in the Central league will be contested by the Wheeling club, according to an announcement made here last night. C. S. Shriver, business manager of the local club, said that if Springfield and Dayton, winner for the first half of the season, make an effort to play a post-season series for the championship, application for an injunction to prevent the games will be made. He said that the local club has asked for a meeting of the board of directors of the league on Tuesday, at which time Wheeling's claims will be presented and if necessary an appeal will be made to the national commission.

The protest results from the action of President E. W. Dickerson, who forfeited two games won by Wheeling from South Bend on Aug. 13, because of alleged violation of the rules, causing Wheeling to drop from first to third place.

AITKEN TAKES THREE RACES.

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—John Aitken, piloting a Peugeot, won all three of the events of the harvest auto racing classic Saturday. He drove the last eight miles of the 100 mile event with a broken steering arm. The time was 1:07:05.04, an average of 89.44 miles an hour. In the fifty mile event Hughes was less than the length of a car behind Aitken at the finish. The time was 32:40:61, an average of 91.81 miles an hour. The best time was made in the twenty mile event. The average speed in that was 95.08 miles, with the time 12:37:35.

FLAG IN CENTRAL TO SPRINGFIELD, O.

Now Dayton and Springfield Will Have to Play for Championship.

Springfield, O., Sept. 11.—The Central league baseball season closed Sunday with Dayton winner of the first half of the season and Springfield the last half. Springfield won in the second half by taking a double header from South Bend. President E. W. Dickerson has completed arrangements for a post-season series which will start Wednesday at Springfield, and in alernate cities thereafter. World's series rules will govern. The team winning four games will be champion.

MAY BATTLE HERE FOR STATE 133-LB. TITLE

Arrangements are being made by Geo. Biemer, matchmaker of the Summit City Athletic club, to stage the battle for the lightweight championship of the state in this city. Hal Stewart, of this city, and Milburn Saylor, of Indianapolis, will meet and the date will probably be Friday, Sept. 22.

Stewart has been working at manual labor this summer and as a result is in the best of trim. He and Saylor have met before without settling the dispute, and both are anxious to exchange taps again, which spirit generally leads to a classy show.

FEARED LITTLE MAN WOULD WALLOP HIM

Diminutive Barber Had Threatened to Break His Neighbor's Bones.

Edward Ewald Haak, barber, 35, is a little over four feet tall and weighs 120 pounds. Jacob Reidert, 30, is near six feet and weighs 175 pounds. Haak said he was going to break all of Reidert's bones, one day last week, in the heat of an argument and Riedert hurried to tell the police.

The case in which surety of the peace was asked against Haak in police court, Monday morning, was continued indefinitely. Haak said he did not tell that he would break all of Riedert's bones, but only that he would beat up on him.

Haak stays in the home of Riedert's mother at 615 Wagner street. Several years ago when the woman's husband died Haak feared she would do violence to herself and he took a revolver from her. The revolver was kept in his room. Riedert feared that Haak would use this gun on him, it was shown. The weapon has since been given up by Haak.

Wept When Fined.

Walter Brouwer, 17, son of G. P. Brouwer, grocer at 2519 Lantz avenue, was fined $5 and costs because he allowed his little automobile to stand near the transfer corner Saturday night with no lights. He broke into tears when told that he must obtain $15 with which to pay his fine.

Will Change Methods.

Edward Skelton, 45, will do the arrasting first next time he says since he was fined $10 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge. He struck Ralph Lehrman, 1227 Huron street, Saturday night after Lehrman had bumped into him. Skelton says he was leading a blind man and Lehrman pushed him off the walk. Skelton hit Lehrman.

"I started away and they arrested me. That's what I get. Next time I will hunt up the policeman first," Skelton complained.

Negro Couples Sentenced.

Ernest Merritt and Beatrice Wood, both colored, taken from a house at 127 Eureka street, and Arthur Ross and Arzane Walker, also colored, removed by police from a room at 230 North Calhoun street, were each fined $15 and costs and sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail on a charge of associating. They were arrested early Monday morning. They all pleaded guilty to the associating charge.

Other Police Court Cases.

Three men found in a drunken condition on Sunday were all fined $5 and costs. They were William Frazier of Garrett, George Driftmeyer of Marion and Edward Saylor. Others arrested on drunk charges who were released were Dan O'Connel, John Noonan and Owen Webb.

Lee Walsh and George House, of Toledo, arrested on a loitering charge, were allowed to leave town.

HANDY MAN STOPS TEN FAMILY FIGHTS

Ten family fights were quieted by W. M. Clutter, humane officer, and the handiest man in the county for bringing peace to both man and beast, in the months of July and August. Report of the officer also shows that he warned ten wayward fathers to go home and look after their neglected children.

Clutter gave severe lectures to two wife beaters, he adminstered scathing rebukes to two husbands who neglected their sick wives and he forced ten men to buy fly nets for their horses. Two men were warned for mistreating dogs and two were ordered to take better care of their chickens, the report tells along with a hundred other things by way of making the world better that the humane society carried out.

BROODS OVER WIFE'S DEATH; KILLS HIMSELF

Rochester, Ind., Sept. 11—Brooding over the recent death of his wife, James Davis, an aged and wealthy farmer residing north of this city, committed suicide Saturday with a shotgun. He was the father-in-law of John Wickizer, postmaster of Argos.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 11.—Despondent because his wife had filed suit for divorce, William Quinn Evans, 39 years old, committed suicide at the home of his mother, Mrs. Belle Evans, by swallowing poison. His mother entered his bedroom as he placed a bottle to his lips and, with the remark, "This will end it all," poured the contents down his throat. Miss Daisy Evans, a nurse in the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis, is a surviving sister.

HENRY FAHLSING HURT.

Henry Fahlsing, who is employed as assembler at the General Electric works, was seriously injured Sunday evening two miles out of Lima. While driving his machine it was struck by a passing Ford and the young man was thrown from his seat into the ditch, where he lay unconscious for a while. He was picked up by a passing machine, brought to Fort Wayne and taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where his wounds were dressed.

The executive committee of the Associated Charities met at the German-American National bank Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Woodburn Boy Purchased Ford Auto With Money Secured on Paper.

Harry Neuenschwander, 22, son of Jeff. Neuenschwander, a well-known hardware merchant of Woodburn, who is alleged to have forbed his father's name to a note for $325 with which he could buy a Ford auto, spent Sunday night in the Allen county jail.

Neuenschwander had been making frequent trips between Woodburn and Fort Wayne. The "bright lights" were attractive. The young man finally appeared at the Woodburn state bank with a note bearing his father's signature. The cashier of the bank accepted the note, knowing the boy. The money was obtained and the car purchased.

The parent later declared to the bank that he had not signed the note. The boy was gone. He went to Defiance, O., and later wrote to friends from that point that he was returning, and would collect some money. Instead, it was learned that the boy was coming to Woodburn and not "going out into the world," as he had intimated previously from Defiance, and Sheriff A. C. Gladieux met him at the train, placing him under arrest.

ALL IS READY FOR POLICE BIG PICNIC

Police Lieutenant Harry Grimme, in charge of arrangements, announces that the stage is all set for the annual police picnic to be held Tuesday on the banks of the Maumee river. Fifty officers are expected to attend.

Charles Eisenhut, Elmer Coulter and Emmeett Ellyson, who are assisting in the plans for the affair, have prepared for plenty of eats. There will be music and horseshoes and a day of general good cheer.

Miss Emma Heinzelman went to Chicago Monday, where she will enter into her second course of study in the National Kindergarten college.

Mayor Hosey is Preparing Foreword for Seventh Annual Booklet.

Mayor Hosey is busily engaged in writing the preface for the seventh annual report of the city waterworks and lighting department, which is soon to be presented to the public in booklet form. Copy for the report will go to the press by Wednesday and should be distributed in less than two weeks.

The mayor in his carefully written preface asks the public to study the report with more than passing interest. He calls attention to several of the figures presented. One of the points he emphasizes is the fact that the net earnings of the big plant for 1915 were $92,012.49 after setting aside $27,883.39 for a special fund and meeting all other expenses.

Capacity of the city light plant is told about in one paragraph. There is ample power on hand to operate many more industries and for several years all demands of the city will be cared for without adding to the present power plant equipment. At the heaviest period, which was in the evening, near Christmas, last year, capacity of the plant was not taxed to half of its power.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT.

Will Discuss Proposed Jitney Ordinance and Annexation.

Annexation of four square miles of territory and the framing of a permanent jitney ordinance will be subjects of discussion before the city council, meeting as a committee of the whole, Monday night.

The last taxi code, presented by the Federation of Labor, is expected to be chosen for the city law. It provides for a bond for jitneys of $1,000. City Attorney Colerick will discuss the validity of of the measure before the councilmen.

Report of the annexation committee is expected to be accepted without a dissenting vote. Councilman Smith has not concurred with the other three men on the report, however, as he thinks too much of the rolling mill district is to be taken in.

BIRTH RECORD.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Huth, 711 Fletcher street—a boy.
To Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Karw Fairfield avenue—a girl.
To Mr. and Mrs. Orville Goddard, 1... Green street—a girl.

Building permits were granted to Coleman and Ager for remodeling a residence at 201 East Butler street, and to Michael Vorndran for repairing the dwelling at 2608 Weisser Park place, at cost of $200.

WILL GIVE ALLEY CONTRACT.

The board of works in its meeting Monday afternoon will allow the contract for paving the alley between Calhoun and Harrison streets from Douglas to Brackenridge streets.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson and Fred Long, of Arcola, were entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Jackson, 1228 Delta boulevard, together with Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Kammel and baby Catherine, who had just arrived from a tour of California and Mexico. Other guests were Miss Florence Penningroth, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Jackson, all of this city. After dinner there was visiting and much enjoyment in listening to Mr. Kammel's description of his trip. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left for their home late in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hadley and family came home on Sunday from their summer's outing at Clear lake.

Stotsenburg Defends Financial Record of Indiana Democracy.

Greencastle, Ind., Sept. 11.—Declaring that James P. Goodrich, republican candidate for governor, "has been made the victim of some political acrobat," Attorney General Stotsenburg Saturday delivered here the state administration's answer to republican charges of extravagance. Goodrich's first speech relating to state finances was made here.

Referring to the charge of Goodrich that expenditures during Gov. Marshall's term exceeded those of Hanly's term by $1,254,290.08 per annum, Stotsenburg said this expenditure was necessary "to correct as far as possible the parsimonious policy of the republicans toward the schools and institutions of the state."

Answering the charge that Gov. Ralston's administration has spent annually $3,733,476.40, Stotsenburg said "it was spent to correct evils of which the republican party was guilty." He declared more than $2,000,000 went to the common schools, nearly $1,500,000 to the higher educational institutions, more than $2,000,000 to constructing new institutions, $250,000 to keeping factory and trade schools and $1,000,000 to counties for highways. More than $2,500,000 went to pay republican state debts, he said, and he outlined other large expenditures which he declared ligitimate.

"The democratic party is not ashamed of one of these expenditures," said Stotsenburg, and he added that much of the money was spent by non-partisan boards. "And at the end of the fiscal year there was more than $1,000,000 in the state treasury and all current bills paid," he said.

"Since 1910 the democratic party has been in complete control of the government of the state in all its branches, and it is prepared to answer to the people for its stewardship, Stotsenburg said. "As for myself, I welcome the opportunity this campaign gives my party to make an accounting to the people.

MAKES PLEA BEFORE MINISTERS OF CITY

Field Representative of Jewish Mission Asks for Their Co-Operation.

Mrs. Myra Boyington Grupe, field representative for the Williamsburg mission to the Jews, Brooklyn, N. Y., appeared before the Fort Wayne Ministerial association at its meeting held Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church.

She will be in Fort Wayne several weeks, speaking before young people's societies, church organizations and others interested in bettering the condition of the Jews, a great part of whom reside in New York state. One-tenth of the Jews of the world reside in New York city, the speaker said.

The Williamsburg mission to the Jews carries on its work among 400,000 Jews in Brooklyn. Rev. Leopold Cohn, general superintendent of the mission, was formerly a rabbi. He will come to Fort Wayne later to speak before stated meetings. The Williamsburg mission to the Jews is a missionary society of the state of New York promulgating the gospel among the Jews of Greater New York, Mrs. Grupe says.

Each person making a gift or pledge of $1 for the work will receive the monthly paper, "The Chosen People." It is a Jewish missionary paper.

INTERNED GERMANS COME AS STOWAWAYS

New York, Sept. 11.—Four German sailors from the German steamer Belgrano, tied up in the harbor of Corunna, Spain, since the beginning of the war, arrived here today as stowaways on the Spenish steamer Antonio Lopez from Cadiz and Barcelona. The men carried a letter to the German consul general here and said they had come to the United States in hopes of getting work.

At Gibraltar the steamer was stopped by the British authorities and subjected to a six-hour search, but the stowaways were not discovered. They were sent to Ellis island for further examination.

SPECIAL SUFFRAGE TRAIN FOR HUGHES

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Word was received here today that the women's trans-continental suffrage special train, carrying a score of well known women speakers which is to make a coast to coast tour of the country in the interest of Hughes and Fairbanks, will arrive in Chicago from New York city and leave that night for the west.

T. H. Brown, of Columbus, Ohio, chairman of the department of college leagues, has been appointed to take charge of the organization work among universities and colleges in Ohio and will enter upon his work at once.

A clinic will be conducted by Drs. M. I. Rosenthal and M. R. Lohman at the meeting of the Fort Wayne Medical society Tuesday evening. The clinic will be held at the St. Joseph hospital.

THE DEATHS.

SHAW.

Mrs. Martha Jane Shaw, widow of Charles Shaw, died Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence, 842 Huffman street, at the age of 61 years. Death followed a very brief illness and was due to apoplexy. She was stricken at 6 o'clock and her condition grew critical at once. She was born in Mt. Vernon, O., but had resided in Fort Wayne for the last thirty years. She was a member of the Pythian sisters and was affiliated with the various auxiliary organizations. She was also a member of the Daughters of Workmen. Surviving she leaves the following children: Mrs. W. R. Benedict, of Minneapolis; Mrs. Otto F. Strodel, Benjamin R. and Mrs. Anna Majors, all of Fort Wayne. One brother, Benjamin Fowler, of Toledo, and four grandchildren also survive her. Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Otto F. Strodel, 655 West Third street. Interment at Lindenwood.

SINGLETON.

John P. Singleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Singleton, of 236 Douglas avenue, was found dead on the front porch of the residence early Sunday morning. He was fifty-five years of age. Coroner McArdle was called and found that death was due to heart trouble. The deceased had been ailing for several days but felt well enough Saturday to go up town. In the evening when he returned it is thought that he was stricken with a heart attack. He seated himself on the porch of the family home and when his father came to his side a few hours later he found that his son was dead. The deceased was born and reared in Fort Wayne and was well known here. He was educated in the parochial schools of the Cathedral and learned the machinist's trade at the Pennsylvania. The parents and a sister, Miss Mary Singleton, survive. Funeral services Tuesday morning at 9:15 o'clock at the residence and at 9:45 at the Cathedral. Interment at the Catholic cemetery.

JOHNSON.

The lifeless body of Mrs. Hattie Johnson, aged 55 years, was found Sunday morning at 6:45 o'clock in her bed at the Canon rooming house, 721 Barr street. Coroner J. E. McArdle, who was summoned, found that death was due to heart trouble and that it had occurred several hours before. Mrs. Johnson slept with Mrs. Canon, and when the latter arose earlier in the morning she thought Mrs. Johnson was still asleep. She was horrified to learn later that she had been sleeping with a dead woman by her side. Mrs. Johnson returned to this city from Seattle, Wash., some time ago. The body has been removed to Schone & Ankenbruck parlors where it will be held while an effort is being made to locate relatives.

MAILAND.

Henry Mailand, aged forty-five years, died Saturday evening at the home of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Mailand, of Adams county. Death followed an illness of two years due to cancer. The mother and the following brothers and sisters survive: William, Christian, Louis, Charles, Frederick, and Theodore Mailand and Mrs. Droege and Mrs. Zwick.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock (sun time) at the residence and at 2 o'clock at St. John's Lutheran church at Bingen, Rev. Bishoff officiating.

DINKO.

Toma Dinko, a laborer employed at the Pennsylvania shops, died Saturday evening at Hope hospital following an illness of three weeks. He was forty-five years of age. He had resided at 549 Hugh street and is survived by the widow and three children. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon.

STARK.

Mrs. Joseph Stark, aged twenty-three years of age, formerly Miss Chloe C. Campbell, died Saturday at 5:30 o'clock. She was born in Adams county but had resided here for several years. She is survived by the husband, the parents and two children, Glen and Esther Geraldine.

William C. Akers, aged thirty-one years, died Sunday at the I. S. F. M. Y., where he had been an inmate. The body was sent to Beick Creek for burial.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Van Sweringen—The funeral services of Budd E. Van Sweringen will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of his parents, 208 Washington boulevard west, Rev. C. Claud Travis and Rev. Hartman officiating. Interment at Lindenwood. The pall bearers will be George Van Sweringen, Frank Van Sweringen, Dr. Garrett Van Sweringen, Howard Van Sweringen, Charles Fellows and W. R. Hillary.

Congressman Will Not Make Speaking Tour But One of Visitation.

Cyrus Cline, Twelfth district congressman, will make a tour of the district, starting Tuesday. It will not be a speaking tour, but the congressman will stop in many of the principal cities and call among party workers and organizers. His complete schedule has not been announced.

Martin H. Lueke states that he has absolute assurance from Frank P. Butler, chairman of the state democratic speakers' bureau, and Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the national democratic speakers' bureau that Thomas R. Marshall, vice president, will speak in Fort Wayne on the night of November 4. Mr. Marshall will not make any other speeches in the district during the campaign, however. Absolute certainty of the vice president coming is contained in telegrams received by Mr. Lueke.

Arrangements are being made for large delegations from the Twelfth district to attend the Marshall notification ceremonies which will be held in Indianapolis, Thursday. Two special cars will convey democrats from Columbia City, and a delegation is going from Noble county. A committee consisting of Stephen Callahan, Albert Black and others is making arrangements for the trip from Fort Wayne of party workers and a special rate of $3.40 has been obtained over the traction line.

SHOOTING IN STRIKE CLASH AT YORKTOWN

Battle is Precipitated on Labor War at Skillen Glass Factory.

Yorktown, Ind., Sept. 11.—Strikers and strike-breakers at the Goodin-Skillen glass factory here clashed today. Paul Estes, 26, a striker, was shot in the abdomen.

Walter Said, a strike-breaker, was detained after the shooting of Paul Estes, charged with assault and battery and carrying concealed weagons. Estes' condition is said to be serious. His brother, Robert Estes, lost the end of one finger when he was shot. Many bullets were exchanged in the clash.

A number of affadivits have been filed against persons on both sides of the controversy. The strikers say they simply asked the men entering the factory not to work there. The strike-breakers say they did not draw their weapons until they had been attacked. The strike began last Thursday when demands of the employes of the glass factory for increased wages were denied.

ATTORNEY'S REPLIES ANGER JUDGE LANDIS

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11.—James Ward, formerly attorney for Edward W. Morrison, who has come into possession f $2,000,000 of the aged man's fortune, has been paid $51,000 to date for fighting a $90,000 judgment obtained against Morrison, was the testimony of Attorney Houlihan, representing the receiver in Judge Landis' court today, when the investigation into Morrison's tangled financial affars was resumed. Judge Landis also questioned Ward further as to his accounts with Morrison. Ward's answers were so long and apparently evasive that the judge became angered.

"Look here," the court commanded. "I don't purpose fussing with you. I am tired of your endless explanations. Answer the questions as they are asked."

FORD DECLINES TO RETRACT.

Answer in Libel Suit Says He Had Reason to Believe 'Em True.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Henry Ford through counsel filed in the District of Columbia supreme court today his answer to the $100,000 libel suit brought against him by the Navy League of the United States on account of newspaper advertisement impugning the motives of the league and its officers in their preparedness propaganda. Mr. Ford does not retract the statements complained of, but declares he had reason to believe they were true and that they had been published broadcast throughout the country and made often in congress without bringing a denial from the league so far as he knew.

MARRIED AT HILLSDALE.

Hillsdale, Mich., Sept. 11.—Weitz Siezling, a brewer, and Mrs. Ella Nelson, both of Fort Wayne, were married by Justice C. M. Weaver at the court house last week.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

TO GIVE DELEGATES A LUNCHEON

General Electric Invites Visitors to Feast in New Building Wednesday.

The local General Electric company officials will be hosts at a luncheon to be given the delegates to the Indiana Electric Light association's convention next Wednesday, beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The arrangements, which are in the hands of Salesmanager A. A. Serva, are now under way. The luncheon will be served in the second story of the new building on the north side of Wall street, which is being decorated by men from the Wolf & Dessauer store. E. F. Keller, of the Country club, will be the caterer and it is expected there will be upwards of 150 covers. After the luncheon the delegates will be escorted through the big works on Broadway by General Manager F. S. Hunting, Factory Manager J. J. Wood, Factory Superintendent E. A. Barnes and Salesmanager A. A. Serva. The convention of the Indiana Electric Light association is held annually and its membership is composed of the owners and managers of the electric lighting plants of the state. The meeting, which is to be held in Fort Wayne this year, commences tomorrow morning and continues until Thursday night.

MACHINISTS AT PLAY.

Dynamo Assemblers Had Picnic on Busse Farm, Sunday.

Upwards of thirty men in the dynamo assembling room of the General Electric works, William H. Schultz, foreman, enjoyed an outing on the Busse farm, five and a half miles out on the Leesburg road, yesterday. They went to the grove on one of the company's big electric trucks and the trip to and from the grounds was one of the enjoyable features of the day. Arrangements were effected with Mrs. Busse for a dinner, in which chicken, fresh meats and hams figured conspicuously because of their excellence and abundance. Dinner was served on tables erected in the grove. Among the sports were a ball game between a picked club from among the shopmen, with W. A. Rufner captain, and the Hadley team, August Bussee, captain. Nobody knows which club made the most scores, the count being so large that the fellow keeping it became tired and quit. Kenneth Wells and Harry Cashdollar won in pitching horse shoes; Charles Hoskin and W. A. Rufner were the champion euchre players; William Lacey won the 100-yard dash, time, 11 seconds, and William Schultz and August Kayser were a tie in the twenty-five-yard dash. Only one accident occurred to mar the pleasure of the day, and it was not serious. While making a run for the ball in the ball game, Frank Starke tripped up in the weeds, rolled into a ditch and sprained one of his wrists and cut and bruised his face.

Saturday's Outing Was Best the Boys Ever Had.

"The best time we ever had," is the way a number of the volunteer fire company of the General Electric works, expressed his opinion of the all day outing on the Turflinger farm of the firemen Saturday. The men went to the grove in automobiles and commenced activities as soon as they arrived there. The athletic program included a ball game between teams composed of No. 3 hood and ladder company, Cash Lutz, captain, and hose company, No. 1, with Jim Sivits, captain. Chief William Wurtle was umpire and his decisions were said to be perfect. At least there was no objection to any of them. The score was 27 to 24 in favor of the No. 3 boys. In the horse shoe contests William Weik and Edward Holmes were the winners, while William Bracht, chief engineer of the plant, defeated G. W. Obenchain, foreman of the small motor assembling room, in a 100 yard foot race. Luncheon was served between the events in addition to the two square meals set before the boys at noon and in the evening. Honor guests at the picnic were Factory Superintendent E. A. Barnes, Dr. Fred J. Schulz and Employment Agent W. F. Melching.

LEAVES THE NICKEL PLATE.

Night Ticket Agent Sullivan Goes to South Bend.

POLITICAL NOTES.

J. Lloyd Armstrong, socialist candidate for congress, delivered an address Saturday night on the court house lawn at Auburn before about 400 people. He outlined the policies of the party and announced what the socialists would do if in power. He discussed the farm loan bank question and preparedness was necessary, not for defense, but for profit.

The First Ward Young Men's Democratic League Glee club sang several selections at the meeting of Eel River and Perry township democrats Saturday night. The musical organization scored quite a hit, especially in the song, "Oh, G' wan Tom Marshall, You're Going Back to Washington."

Clarence M. Taylor, socialist student and lecturer, has gone to Cleveland, O., where he will spend the week following a lecture given in this city Saturday night. It is announced that the Young People's Socialist league meets each Thursday evening, having for its object the promotion and study of socialist principles.

IN THE CHURCHES

FIVE CHILDREN OF C. T. DAVID BAPTIZED

Greek Orthodox Priest of Grand Rapids Conducts Services Here.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the five children of Cusma T. David, 928 Barr street, were baptized by Father Phillip Abossley, of St. George's Greek Orthodox church, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who has been in Fort Wayne for the past two weeks. The services were held at Mr. David's residence and nearly 150 Syrians of Fort Wayne were in attendance.

The children who were baptized were Marguerite, aged 8 years; Esther, 6; Hazel, 4; Amelia, 3, and Alexandria, 1 year. The boy's godfather and godmother were N. Zitton, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Sallem Ghrin, of South Bend.

Father Abossley said mass at the David residence, Sunday morning, and also a week ago Sunday. He will remain in Fort Wayne the entire week as there are four or five more children who will be baptized.

The venerable priest, who has been in the United States for the past nine years, is highly educated and has spent his entire life as a devout worker in the church.

Although there was a rumor several months ago that the Syrians were to establish a church and congregation in Fort Wayne, nothing has been done up to the present time. It has been found that there are not enough Syrians in the city to support a church.

LODGE NOTES

Officers will be elected and much other business of importance will be transacted this evening at the meeting of Fort Wayne council, No. 451, Knights of Columbus. Much interest is being manifested in the report to be made by the building committee. The committee, it is reported, will recommend the erection of a building to be used exclusively for lodge purposes. One member, however, will advocate a commercial building. The first pedro party of the year will be given Wednesday. The bowling league will be organized at a meeting a week from tonight. The second reading of the report of the religious prejudice commission, which is of national importance, is scheduled. A reception will be given on September 27. Officers elected tonight will be installed on October 2.

The Tom W. Allen shows will open tonight for a six days' fall festival under the auspices of Fort Wayne herd, No. 1, Benevolent Order of Buffaloes.

Officers will be elected this evening at a meeting of Anthony Wayne Court of Honor, No. 948. The meeting will be held in Dehm's hall.

The degree and the fancy drill teams, as well as several members of local lodge of Royal Neighbors of America, will go to New Haven, Tuesday evening to institute a new Royal Neighbor lodge there.

James Robinson, former congressman from this district, will speak Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of Phoenix lodge, No. 101, Knights of Pythias. The rank of page will be conferred.

The Past Chiefs' association of the Pythian Sisters will hold a meeting September 19, at the home of Mrs. Smith, 1650 Wells street. Mrs. Bertha Krick, of Monroeville, will be the hostess.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 11.—Reading was the only striking exception to the rising tendency on the resumption of trading today, other leaders and speculative favorites mounting above last week's final quotations. Reading's reversal of 2½ points was soon largely recovered, while coppers, independent steels, equipments and the paper issues registered gains extending from fractions to three points. United States Steel opened with 10,000 shares up to 103½, or within a fraction of its maximum attained last Saturday. Shipping shares were represented by Marine preferred and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, the latter at a new record.

Apart from enormous trading which exceeded 700,000 shares, the feature of the forenoon was the absolute neglect and relative heaviness of rails. Reading was the only issue of that group to show any prominence, even under pressure, other investment issues being engulfed in the bewildering movement of speculation in other parts of the list. Minor stocks of the non-dividend class participated in the rise but steel, which repeated its record price of 103⅞, and Marine preferred, which broke all records at 125⅞, were the conspicuous features. Metals, Mexicans and some equipments and munitions were two to three points higher. Bonds were irregular.

OLD STAVE FACTORY DESTROYED BY FIRE

Land Mark, Gutted by Flames, Once an Industrial Center of City.

Clanging fire bells, which broke the stillness Sunday evening at 9:15 o'clock, told that the old one-story brick structure at the corner of Fairfield avenue and Greeley street, once a part of the bustling stave industry of the city and where many men were employed, was wrapped in flames. When firemen arrived the blaze was well under way and the roof and most of the framework of inside the structure was destroyed.

Charles Baker, a painter, who had occupied the building as a bunk house, had just gone to bed when he looked from the window and saw the crimson glow of the burning roof. Hastily pulling on his trousers he ran from the place and had the fire call sent in from a neighboring house. He lost all his personal effects. The fire is supposed to have started in the roof. William Maxwell, owner of the building, is in California.

tions newly won by the French on the Somme front. The war office says they were repulsed each time with heavy losses.

The official report says the Germans employed burning liquid in making their attacks. The fighting occurred south of the Somme, from Berny to the region south of Chaulnes.

The Italian government has decided to adopt a blacklist system in principle, according to a Rome dispatch to the Matin. The dispatch says that the lists already drawn up by France and England will be used with whatever other additional names the Italian government may decide upon.

NOW RUSHED TO SALONIKI.

Russian Troops Nearly All Moved From French Front, Says Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via Sayville.)—The Overseas news agency says it is reported from Swiss headquarters that with the exception of one division, all the Russian troops which were sent to the French front have been transferred to Saloniki.

The Budapest Az Est says the Bulgarians, who are invading eastern Rumania, have now taken possession of Virtually all the Dobrudja territory, which Bulgaria was compelled to surrender to Rumania at the time of the second Balkan war. All Bulgaria is celebrating the victories gained over the Russians and Rumanians.

Archbishop Dalbor, of the arch-diocese of Gnesen-Posen, has instructed the clergy to invest as much as possible of the funds of their churches in the new German war loan, the Overseas news agency says. The municipality of Wiesbaden has subscribed three million marks to the loan.

ATTACKS BEATEN OFF.

London, Sept. 11.—Two efforts were made yesterday by the Germans to capture Ginchy, on the Somme front, from the British, but it is announced officially that attacks were beaten off.

A Reuter's Athens dispatch says that Premier Zaimis had another lengthy conference with King Constantine on Sunday afternoon, after which the cabinet met. In regard to the shots fired in the neighborhood of the French legation, the dispatch says, that the allies' demands have apparently been fully accepted, although nothing has been officially announced. The closing of the clubs of the Reservists' league, a step demanded by the entente, was begun Sunday evening.

VIRTUALLY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Athens, Sept. 11.—Athens is virtually under martial law. Patrols of infantry and cavalry parade the streets and the entente legations are under strong guard. Fifteen hundred marines have been added to the garrison here on account of the uncertainty in regard to the attitude of the troops. The excitement caused by army disaffections at Saloniki, however, is dying out.

King Constantine has accepted the demand of the allies that the reservists' league of which he is honorary president, be dissolved.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER SUNK.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Norwegian steamer Linborg, bound from London for Rotterdam, has been sunk by a submarine, according to the Allegeme Handlesblatt. The crew of this submarine stripped the steamer of all copper objects before blowing her up. The crew of the Linberg had been landed.

DROPPING PROCLAMATIONS.

Havre, Sept. 11.—An official statement issued by the Belgian war office says that a Belgian aviator flew over Brussels on Wednesday night and dropped copies of a proclamation. Another aviator performed a similar mission over Antwerp on Thursday.

RUSSIANS BEAT TURKS.

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—A victory for the Russians over Turkish troops in Persia, is reported in today's war office statement. In the region of Sakkiz, the town of Bana has been occupied by Russians, following a battle in which the Turks were defeated.

TEUTONS BALK RUSSIANS.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—Russian attempts to capture the town of Halicz on the Dniester in Galicia, regarded as the key to the defenses of Lemberg, from the northeast have been frustrated by the Teutonic forces, according to today's official war office announcement.

Troops under General von Bothmer brought the Russian efforts to naught, the statement declares.

Hax to the Canadian northwest by 200 miles.

The bridge stands on the site of the structure which collapsed on August 29, 1907, with a loss of seventy lives.

The central span which fell today weighs more than 5,000 tons and was sixty feet long.

The span had been constructed on pontoons near the bridge site and was towed into position immediately under the gap left in the anchor arms of the structure. Chains with links thirty inches in diameter, together with girders were then attached to the span and 8,000 ton hydraulic jacks commenced the stupendous task of lifting the span into place.

This work could be accomplished only a few feet an hour and as the distance from the river level to the floor of the bridge is 150 feet and the engineers had not counted on completing the operation until the end of this week or later. The bridge was to have been ready for train service next spring, marking the important milestone in Canada's engineering railway history.

The collapse occurred when the span was about fifteen feet in the air. Early indications were that the loss of life would be heavy for there were ninety men on the structure when it fell. Some of these have been rescued.

Boats from among the hundreds of craft on which spectators had gathered were rushed to the spot where the span disappeared. The fallen structure sank 200 feet to the bottom of the river and engineers who witnessed the collapse expressed doubts as to whether it would ever be brought up again.

Estimated Dead at Twenty-five.

The St. Lawrence Bridge company at noon estimated the number of dead at twenty-five.

Four men have been rescued. The St. Lawrence River Bridge company, which was constructing the bridge, announced that it would take a roll call of its employes in an effort to obtain the loss of life.

The juggling of 5,000 tons of steel under unprecedented circumstances in the dominion attracted to the scene today several thousand spectators including members of the Canadian cabinet and newspaper men on vessels furnished by the Canadian government, members of the cabinet, witnessed the collapse from the deck of government vessels. While American tourists crowded hundreds of other boats of all classes. Members of the Australian parliament, returning home after visiting in Europe, also were at the scene and river traffic for ocean going steamships had been temporarily suspended. The project interrupted today originated in 1853 when, at the request of the Quebec city council a New York engineer submitted plans and estimates. Courage and capital were lacking, however, and it was not until 1882, that the scheme was given consideration.

Georgia, Louisiana and South Carolina will hold state primaries tomorrow to select nominees whose later election is assured, with few exceptions, by lack of second party opposition. In Georgia a governor, twelve representatives and all state officials are to be nominated. Gov. Nat E. Harris is opposed for renomination by Hugh M. Dorsey, of Atlanta; Dr. L. G. Hardeman, of Commerce, and Joseph E. Pottle, of Milledgeville.

In Louisiana congressional nominations are to be made and contests have developed only in the Sixth and Seventh districts. In the election democrats will have opposition in one district, the third, where Representative W. P. Martin, progressive, is a candidate for re-election. In South Carolina, secondary primaries are necessary because no candidate for the gubernatorial nomination got a majority of votes cast in the first primary held two weeks ago. Gov. Richard I. Manning and former Governor Cole L. Blease will contest again. For the same reason, Representative Wyatt Aikin and F. H. Dominick are opponents in the Third congressional district and two candidates for railroad commissioner are contesting.

Christian County.

The affiant, Sallie Eldora Brown, states that she is seventeen years of age, and that she has been a continuous resident of Christian county, Kentucky, living near Crofton, during the whole of her life. She states that James Herbert Tweddell is 18 years of age and a resident of Christian county, Kentucky.

The affiant, James Herbert Tweddell, states that on St. Valentine's eve, 1916, he called at the home of Sallie Eldora Brown, in Christian county, Kentucky, and that she offered herself to him in marriage and that he accepted her.

In witness whereof the affiants have hereunto subscribed their names.

SALLIE ELDORA BROWN,
JAS. HERBERT TWEDDELL.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this the 15th day of February, 1916, by Sallie Eldora Brown and James Herbert Tweddell. L. J. HARRIS,

County Clerk Christian Co.

Would You Be Leap Year Bride for These Gifts?

These are some of the inducements that led Sallie Brown to propose to the man of her choice and marry him:

License.	Bouquet.
Ceremony.	Side of meat.
Mule.	Auto ride.
Jersey bull.	Ton of ice.
Tombstone.	Supper.
Wedding ring.	Box of Cigars.
Case of pop.	Cake.

Hopkinsville has to have its idols. All Kentucky towns but Hopkinsville especially, since its blood beats most warmly, its eyes have the superb darkness of southern enthusiasm and the cockles of its heart heat up at the mere mention of native heroism.

Hopkinsville, Ky., has certainly had its heroes; now it has its heroine. For half a century it has hallowed the neighboring birthplace of Jefferson Davis, leader of the lost cause. It shouts that Riccardo Martin is a greater tenor than Caruso any night in the year, for Riccardo was born within its environs. It declares that Supreme Court Justice McReynolds is the wisest judge since the days of Solomon, for McReynolds as babe and boy came into Hopkinsville from the outlying farm to do his trading and to do his loafing. It stoutly maintains that old Irv Cobb is a more fluent master of the English language than William of Avon himself for old Irv Cobb hails originally from near by.

TOWN HAS LADY HERO NOW.

But Jeff Davis and Ricky Martin and Judge Mac and old Irv Cobb have been shaded. Their day is done. Hopkinsville has a lady hero now, and true southern gallantry and the traditional chivalry of the Kentucky colonel will not permit Sallie Eldora Brown Tweddell to be surpassed in local idolatry by any sophisticated child of renown.

Sallie Eldora Brown Tweddell is the leap year girl who won the most remarkable list of prizes in reward for a marriage proposal that any undaunted female of the species ever gathered unto herself.

The tale as it happened is this: It seems that upon the 1st day of January, 1916, Hopkinsville, in contemporaneous originality with all small towns throughout the U. S. A., awoke to the fact that it was leap year. Hopkinsville was more chivalrous than any of the other towns, however, and it decided to make quite a thing of leap year.

Richard Leavell, dealer in mules and horses and proprietor of the choicest hostelry for the entertainment of equines in that part of Kentucky, was talking one day to his lawyer, William Oglesby Soyars, whose eloquence and passion are only realized in the presence of "twelve men good and true."

OFFERS MULE AS PRIZE.

Richard Leavell said to William Oglesby Soyars: "I'll give a prize of the finest mule in my stables to the first girl who proposes to a man and marries him."

Whereupon William Oglesby Soyars knit his brows, slanted back his slouch hat, ran his fingers through his coal black hair and countered with "And I'll give a prize to the same lady, by gad, sir, a prize of my future services in any divorce proceedings that she may care to undertake in the course of her married life."

The ball which the two had rolled out kept on rolling. Every other merchant in town offered a complimentary prize to this intrepid young lady, whoever she might be. L. J. Harris, the marriage license clerk, volunteered to marry the young lady and her captive for nothing. Judge Knight shook his gray hair with profound knight-errantry and said as how he'd perform the ceremony for nothing at all. The Daily Kentucky New Era dangled a year's subscription before the eyes of the unmated girls of the vicinity. McLaid & Armstrong, the marble workers, planted a shaft of pleasing whiteness before their lively little shop and announced that their choicest tombstone would go to the conqueress. The Hopkinsville Bottling Works succumbed to the intoxication of the moment and in considerable hysteria cried out that they would present the winning damsel with no less than two dozen bottles of soda pop upon her happy wedding day. The Anderson-Fowler Company, whose place of business stood upon the corner in universal company with all of its class, held up twelve bottles of Castoria as the supreme inducement. Blakely, Bass & Barnett smiled their most gracious smile and promised a wedding ring to her. Jarred Renshaw in excitement pledged a setting of Rhode Island Red eggs. The prizes mounted in number and importance and all the countryside clamored with the tumult engendered.

YOUTHS DRESSED FOR THEM.

For a month and a half nothing happened. Rumor linked the names of young women and young men recklessly. It was said of every unmatched female that she had her eyes upon the wealth of reward. Every single youth in the town wore his best clothes desperately. The poolrooms were empty. Widowers and confirmed bachelors came down from their turreted isolation and beamed upon the unwedded ladies with an ardor that had slipped into Lethe these forty years a-gone.

On the 15th day of February the suspense was broken. It is a day Hopkinsville will never forget. It is the day that Sallie Eldora Brown wrote her name alongside of Jeff Davis and Riccardo Martin and Judge McReynolds and old Irv Cobb. Hopkinsville is sorry now that Kentucky had chosen her two representatives for the Hall of Fame in the Capitol at Washington. One of those statues should have been that of Sallie Eldora Brown, and it should have reproduced her as she looked that day she gathered the ante in. A marble Sallie holding in her left hand a crumpled marriage license and a basket carrying a setting of Rhode Island eggs and two dozen bottles of soda pop, and in her right a hitching rein to the nether end of which clung a mule, bearing across its bridle headpiece the simple inscription "First prize."

The 15th of February, 1916, was indeed a historic day. For at high noon Sallie Eldora Brown appeared in the doorway of County Clerk L. J. Harris' office leading a resigned-looking young man and announced that she desired permission to be wed, and following that to claim the rewards that her daring had won.

THRONG IN WEDDING MARCH.

County clerk Harris' feet came down off the railing with a joyous thump, and he sent the good word echoing up and down the streets. While he frantically made out the license the happy couple were escorted by the cheering throng to the office of Attorney Ira D. Smith, where the affidavits of the legitimacy of their claims were signed. It is rumored that Attorney William Oglesby Soyars refused to make out the affidavits on the ground that his offer was for the more dismal eventualities of the future which he hoped to heaven would never be occasioned.

The terms whereby the mule might be won were that the ceremony should be performed in the front doorway of the Leavell establishment for the succoring of permanent and transient mules. So to that shaving-carpeted bridal suite the town adjourned chanting riotously the well-known composition of Mr. Lohengrin which is designed to enliven similar occasions wherever held.

JUDGE JUST IN TIME.

So there in the doorway of the livery stable Sallie Eldora Brown took unto herself the fruits of her endeavor and persistence. Judge Knight came running just in time to pronounce them man and wife. The judge had been engrossed in a somnolent and apathetic trial of a murderer, but had adjourned court immediately upon hearing that the giant dam of suspense had burst and led his forces to the scene of action. The jurymen came in a body, the bailiffs and lawyers attended, and prominent in the foreground, quite the happiest man in the crowd, was the prisoner who, according to the sheriff, might have been guilty of murdering his son-in-law, but was still going to have his rights if he (the sheriff) knew anything about justice.

In the shadow of the livery stable, with hay drooping from above in lieu of orange blossoms and with sawdust for a bridal carpet, Miss Sallie stood her young man up beside her and married him, employing Judge Knight in the capacity of pastor.

MAUD IN THE BACKGROUND.

W. R. Bowles, the leading photographer, set up his tripod in an advantageous spot and took numerous snapshots with the true air of a metropolitan newspaper camera man.

The Daily Kentucky New Era printed that night among other graphic paragraphs this bit: "The girl is quite pretty and looks as if she would make a fine manager, and Mr. Tweddell is a good-looking young fellow.

"The couple stood in the main entrance of the stable and in the background was Maud the mule.

"Mr. and Mrs. Tweddell will return home this evening carrying the presents with them."

Says the Hopkinsville Kentuckian of similar date: "The bride is a pretty girl, below medium size, with big blue eyes and a wealth of brown hair." (Ah, thou southern reporter with honey and myrrh inherent upon thy tongue.) "She wore a picture hat and gamely stood the ordeal of being looked at by a big crowd of strangers. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brown.

"The groom is a slender young fellow, with dark hair and eyes. He is an orphan and gave his occupation as a farmer.

COULDN'T CARRY THEM ALL.

In the dusk of that southern evening the happy pair departed for home in the buckboard in which they had entered town, bearing only a small part of their prizes. The vehicle was not equal to the whole of them. Maud, the chief trophy, ambled contentedly behind, still wearing the emblazoned bridle. Main street was alive, "and," remarks the New Era, "they were cheered by a large number of people who were out at the time and saw them."

Emotion seized J. C. Diuguid, a prominent but hitherto silent citizen of the city, and he threw economy to the winds and loudly offered the pair a ride around town in his automobile if they would come around some time when he wasn't busy. J. H. Cate, the popular grocer, grew correspondingly prodigal with the excitement of the occasion and volunteered to add a fourth of a barrel of his best grade of flour if they would come back after it. And it was in that hour of departure that W. L. Gore, the stock breeder, grew envious of Richard Leavell and Richard Leavell's mule and cried aloud his willingness to surrender his prize Jersey bull calf to the victorious Sallie Tweddell.

Hopkinsville is still flushed with the elation of that day. W. R. Bowles is making a life-size enlargement of the photograph he made of the happy pair and the mule. The merchants of the town are bravely living up to their contracts made in the abandonment of the moment, and William Oglesby Soyars is grimly smiling for he achieved the glory of offering his services for the divorce court and he feels entirely safe. He gave his finest manners and he thinks he will save his meat, too, for he looked upon Sallie Eldora Brown and upon James Herbert Tweddell in that blissful hour and he knows in his heart of hearts that his talent will never be summoned to the bar of justice to argue for the marital demise of the pretty leap year livery stable bride.

A Hard Time.

Little Percival's eyes were full of tears. Miss Miggs, a kind soul, attracted by the sound of Percival's sorrow, approached him, saying:

"Come, come, my little man! Why are you crying?"

"Mother smacked me!"

"Why, you're not a naughty little boy, are you?"

"No, I only made some dents in the front doorsteps."

"That doesn't sound a very serious matter. Did you make the dents with your little spade?"

"N-n-no! With father's watch!"

Not Much Chance of Lower Figures on Grain This Entire Winter.

Millers and dealers in grain stated Monday at the opening of the markets for the week that the wheat market was unsettled. However, they state on account of the lack of supply the prices will remain around the $1.45 mark the entire winter. Local dealers offered $1.43 and $1.45 a bushel for wheat Monday morning.

One miller stated that there is just enough wheat in the country to go around handily and that is why the prices will remain high. Buying and selling in the wheat market is very slow as speculators think it unwise on account of the fluctuation of the market. Other grain prices also remain high and the market is unsteady.

Potatoes opened the week strong and will continue to rise in price. A man who has been visiting in Michigan stated that the crop there is also a failure. One man, he said, had fourteen acres and he will not get back the seed he planted.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Wheat prices developed considerabl estrength today owing to the absence of selling pressure. The surrender of the Rumanian fortress of Silistria appears to have a tendency to make the bears cautious. Opening prices, which ranged from ½c decline to a rise of ⅞c, were followed by a substantial general upturn but most of the grains failed to hold.

Corn weakened as a result of assertions that the Illinois crop had of late made a wonderful improvement. After opening ¼c to ⅝c lower, the market underwent a decided sag.

Oats sympathized with wheat strength.

TAKING A TITHE BUYS BABY BONDS

In ancient times, men were supposed to give one-tenth of what they earned to the church. The one-tenth was known as the tithe. Today there is a certain local business man who follows a similar plan to accumulate a savings account. With these savings he purchases Baby Bonds, which come in $10.00 denominations, bear six per cent interest, and are secured by first mortgages on local real estate. He never receives a check for his services but what he immediately deducts one-tenth for Baby Bonds, and when he has accumulated enough of these Baby Bonds he expects to exchange them for one Big Bond, which comes in $500.00 denominations with same rate of interest and the same security. For details regarding either of these bonds see the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building.—Advertisement.

DEDICATORY SERVICES AT TRINITY LUTHERAN

Three Services Including Baptism of a Child Mark Event.

The new church edifice of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, which was erected at St. Mary's avenue and Huffman street, was dedicated Sunday with three impressive services, including the baptism of a little child. The event was largely attended by Lutherans not only from Fort Wayne, but from surrounding congregations. Services and meetings in celebration of the dedication will continue this week until Wednesday evening.

A short service was conducted Sunday morning in the old school hall where services were formerly held. Headed by the building committee, the members of the church council, the pastor and visiting pastors the entire congregation marched to the new building.

Following the ceremony of opening the doors the first service of the dedicatory exercises begun with a song by the entire congregation. Rev. J. W. Miller, of St. Paul's Lutheran church, delivered the sermon and Prof. J. H. Beyer, of Milwaukee, father-in-law of Rev. G. W. F. Doege, pastor of the church, presided at the organ. The choir, under the direction of Prof A. C. Katt, rendered several selections.

Rev. Doege then baptized his seventh child, the only one which has been born in Fort Wayne. He named the child Thelma Elenora Clara and it bears the distinction of being the first child baptized in the new church. Six hundred visitors and members were accommodated at noon in the large dining room of the church.

Rev. J. Wefel, of Cleveland, was the principal speaker at the afternoon services beginning at 3 o'clock. Prof. M. Pohlman presided at the organ and Prof. A. C. Kall directed the choir which was composed of Concordia and Trinity men's choirs. Supper was served at the church.

At the evening services, the new church was filled to overflowing and all heard with interest the sermon delivered by Rev. C. Gausewitz, of Milwaukee, president of the synodical conference.

Services will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week. Prof. L. Wessel, of Springfield, Ill., will deliver the sermon Monday evening and Prof. G. Weller, of St. Paul's church, will have charge of the musical program.

Tuesday evening, Rev. Phillip Wambsganss, of Emmaus Lutheran church, will preach and Prof. Herman Hahn, of the same congregation, will have charge of the music.

The sermon on Wednesday evening will be delivered by Rev. G. Bliesernicht, of Toledo, and Prof. Bennehoff will be the organist. The choir of Emmanuel Lutheran church will render a musical program.

UNIONS PLAN DELAY TO AVOID A RADICAL STEP

All Get Appeal for Sympathetic Strike to Aid New York Carmen.

New York, Sept. 11.—All members of trade unions in New York, Yonkers, Mt. Vernon and New Rochelle found themselves between the Interborough Rapid Transit company and its employes. The various individual labor organizations in these cities served by the Interborough and its subsidiary companies, received the appeal drafted by the central labor bodies last night requesting a sympathetic strike of all organized wage earners in their jurisdiction in support of the contention of the street railway men for the right to organize.

Since the response to their appeal must be decided by vote of members, several days must elapse before its effect will be known. A central labor committee has been organized, however, and daily meetings will be held to direct a sympathetic general strike in case it is called. Opinions were expressed today that most of the unions appealed to would defer definite action in the hope that such a radical step might be avoided. Labor leaders declared, however, that strikers might be called without delay in trades directly effecting the operation of street cars, such as the Longshoremen, who handle coal barges, and the engineers who work in the power houses.

While the elevated and subway lines continued running today without apparent interruption, the strike on the surface lines has spread rapidly. Union officials assert that 11,000 men are on strike. Not a car wheel turned all day Sunday in Yonkers, Mt. Vernon and New Rochelle, and every surface car stopped running last night in Manhattan and the Bronx also, after these two boroughs had received an extremely limited service during the day. The seriousness of the situation has caused citizens to turn for relief to the municipal government. It is expected that the public service commission, which has been investigating the strike, will make a report some time today, placing responsibility for the situation and throwing its official influence into the balance to aid the side whose contention is upheld.

NOTED COLORED MAN TO SPEAK.

WANTS TO CHANGE ITS NAME.

Reformed Clark Street, in Chicago, Would Become Broadway.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Clark street, having reformed since the days when it was the haunt of confidence men and gamblers, wants its name changed, following the example of the Bowery in New York, and enough signatures were secured to a petition today to insure consideration of a proposal to rechristen it Broadway. Business men on the street say out of town customers are frightened away by stories told of Clark street in the last decade and say that, though conditions have changed, the name still is a handicap.

HOVERING NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Daniel Powerierza, aged 14 years, who was injured last Thursday evening when he was knocked from a motorcycle at Warsaw and DeWald streets, is hovering at death's door at St. Joseph's hospital, according to attendants. He is not expected to live through the day. He spent a very restless night Sunday and Monday he was delirious. It is said that the accident was unavoidable.

CONDITION MUCH BETTER.

The condition of Wilbur G. Carpenter, the well known attorney who underwent an operation at St. Joseph's hospital Saturday evening, is much better today. He was rushed to the institution when he was suddenly stricken with appendicitis. His condition was serious Sunday but much improvement was shown Monday. He rested well Sunday night.

EASY JOB FOR ROBBERS BECAUSE STORK HOVERS

Chicago Man Submits to $810 Holdup to Spare His Wife.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11.—The stork was hovering over the home of W. H. Clucas, treasurer of a boilermakers' union, so when two well-dressed robbers held him up in front of his house, 340 North Mason avenue, he let them escape with $810 of the union funds without making an outcry or resisting them.

Thoughtful of his wife's safety, Clucas quietly submitted to a search by the robbers and later watched the highwaymen run around the corner and jump into an automobile that awaited them. Then, without entering the house, he walked to the Austin station and told the police what had happened. Both robbers were young and well dressed and wore gray "Johnny Jones" hats.

At a meeting of the union in Garfield hall, at Madison street and Crawford avenue, Saturday night $400 and checks, money orders and drafts aggregating $410 had been turned over to Clucas as treasurer. He believes the robbers had knowledge the funds were in his possession.

Last night, still waiting the important event, Mrs. Clucas was without knowledge of the midnight holdup.

FIFTEEN CHINESE KILLED.

Yaqui Indians Make Raid on Barbara, Sonora, Mexico.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 11.—Yaquis raided Santa Barbara, Sonora, twenty miles southeast of here yesterday, killing fifteen Chinamen, according to reports received today at the commandancia in Nogales, Sonora.

Fifty-five Indians made up the band which recently moved rapidly north from the Hermosillo district, burning, killing and looting. Many ranchers made their way into the city while Carranza troops from the garrison across the border pursued the outlaws.

WOMAN IS GRANTED PAROLE.

Ralston Extends Clemency to Jessie Easley, of Terre Haute.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—A parole was granted today by Gov. Ralston to Jessie Easley, sentenced from Terre Haute, to serve 180 days in the woman's prison and to pay a fine of $50 when she was found guilty of larceny. The woman's son is said to have arranged to take her to Illinois.

BRITISH CENSORSHIP BLAMED.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via Sayville.)—"A veteran of the American civil war who resides in Starmstadt has not received his pension for months owing to the British censorship," says the Overseas News agency. "The letters from the state department sent with checks also have not arrived."

SERBS HAVE GUNS BUT THEY LACK MEDICINES

Aid Asked for Little Nation in Its Fight on Disease.

New York, Sept. 11.—The Serbian army, driven from its own country in the retreat last year when the little nation was all but annihilated, is in greater misfortune now, at the start of the big Balkan offensive, than ever before, according to word sent to Serbian relief headquarters here by B. D'Ange d'Astre, a Frenchwoman, who is a nurse in a hospital at Saloniki, Greece, where the army is located.

"The army is without hospitals, ambulances and transports," says the noted Frenchwoman in an appeal for aid. And in their great desire to return to frontiers of their native land, the medical chiefs of the army—the last hope of the nation—are wondering how they will take care of the wounded and sick.

"I am a nurse in the greatest hospital in the intrenched camp, with 1,500 beds. We are laboring, day and night. The heat is overwhelming, and dread diseases are flourishing in it.

"The congestion is great and the poor Serbian soldiers are scattered around haphazard. One must see this to grasp the full horror of it.

"As usual everything has been thought of, guns, equipment, munitions—everything except the medical service!

"Even at this moment the Serbians are racked with disease! What will it be when they go into battle?

"All our gold is changed into shells and guns!

"We are in midsummer now, but the third winter approaches, bringing still greater suffering.

"Americans will excuse this appeal for aid, I am sure, for everything is permitted in wartime, and America is a great reservoir of incomparable generosity."

Winifred V. Kaylor has filed suit for a divorce from Melvin H. Kaylor. They were married Sept. 7, 1915, and separated June 30, 1916. The complaint alleges the defendant was convicted Sept. 9, 1916, of a felony and sentenced to two to fourteen years in the state reformatory. Failure to provide is an allegation. In addition to a divorce the plaintiff asks the restoration of her maiden name of Winifred V. Hatfield.

Will is Filed.

The will of Julian Martin, of Monroeville, has been filed for probate. One year after the death of the maker $400 is to be given each to Joseph E., Julian L., and Loura Martin, and the balance is to go to the widow. The will is dated Aug. 19, 1916.

Suit for Divorce.

Mary Pollas has started suit for a divorce from Nick Pollas. They were married May 24 last and separated Sept. 7. Cruelty is alleged and that the defendant made remarks reflecting on her character. Ryan, Ryan & Aldrich are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Notes of the Courts.

In the case of R. L. Romy vs. Commodore and Anna Hickman to quiet title, a judgment was warded the plaintiff.

To Let Contract.

The county commissioners will Tuesday receive bids on the contract to install a water system at the county farm. The system will connect three buildings with a well, according to the plans of the commissioners.

Elizabeth Cook has been awarded a divorce from Fred Cook on her cross complaint and the restoration of her maiden name of Neuhaus.

In the suit of Mary B. Moser against Thomas T. DeKay, to quiet title, judgment has been granted for plaintiff.

Meeting Monday Afternoon Will Decide Future of Police Case.

An appeal may be taken in the case of Emery Jamison, of Winchester, against Chief of Police Charles Lenz and other police officers and the Rurode Dry Goods company, in which Jamison asked $10,000 damages and was granted $400 by a jury in Wells county court Saturday.

All defendants in the case will meet in the office of City Attorney Guy Colerick Monday afternoon and determine whether or not to carry the case to the higher court. It is the general opinion that the case will be carried up.

It required eleven hours for the jury to return a small finding for Jamison. Citizens of Bluffton who heard the trial proceedings were surprised that any award against the Fort Wayne police was allowed.

WARM GREETING FOR HUGHES AT SYRACUSE

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Charles E. Hughes, homeward bound, spent the last day but one of his present campaign trip in Syracuse. A voiceferous crowd welcomed him with cheers at the station. The streets were dressed in the national colors in his honor and for the opening of the state fair.

The day's program was crowded. First came a review by the nominee of a long parade of automobiles, then luncheon at the fair grounds and his return to the hotel, where he held a two hour public reception. A brief rest followed, then a dinner to which 250 persons were invited, given in his honor, by the allied club of Syracuse. Mr. Hughes was to speak at this dinner and to leave at 11:35 for Plattsburg, where he will speak tomorrow night at the military training camp.
